THAT RETURNING BOARD.

It will be well remembered that the infamous Louisiana Returning Board were indicted in the courts for their nefarious conduct in relation to the return of votes in that State, by which Hayes was counted in. They engaged prominent and able lawyers in New Orleans to defend them at the trial, and it was stipulated beforehand that the attorneys should receive $5,000 for their services. The defense was undertaken with the full understanding that that amount should be paid as attorney's fees, and the lawyers took the case in hand and defended the Board, and by super-human exertions succeeded in obtaining an acquittal, not doubting that they would be promptly paid for their services.

Three of the Returning Board (all white) were rewarded for their zeal and rascality by fat appointments in the different United States offices in New Orleans, where they still remain, while the fourth, Casanave, a colored man, has been left out in the cold, and is the only one connected with the frauds which placed Mr. Hayes in the chair of the executive, who has not been, in some way or other, rewarded by the administration. Of course it was to be expected that those members of the Board who had been rewarded for their services would respond promptly to the call of their lawyers for their pay, but those pure-minded Republican patriots did no such thing but rather gave the attorneys the idea that they might "whistle for their pay."

When the amount from those who ought to pay it, and knowing that no member of the Board, save Casanave, had any property which could be reached by process of law, they brought suit against the latter and attached his property for the amount of the debt. In his dilemma, Casanave went to Washington to see if those who had been the beneficiaries of the rascality would not contribute to relieve him from the loss of his property. For some days he was led upon promises and soft words, but there was no money forthcoming further than the small amount of $500, which was contributed and forwarded to stave off proceedings for a few days. On the 12th inst., Casanave received a dispatch from his brother, whom he had left to attend to his interests in New Orleans stating that the sale of property, which was a lively sale, was advertised for the 15th inst. Upon the receipt of this he immediately called upon Judge Shellabarger, the legal adviser of the administration, and showed him the document. The Judge took the matter in hand, and in the course of an hour or two Mr. Hayes sent in $1,000 in national bank notes by his son, Webb C. Hayes. After a short time, however, young Hayes returned and demanded the return of the money, saying that his father had been informed by a detective that it was a blackmailing matter, and that Casanave was in collusion with the attorneys at New Orleans. The money was not surrendered and after awhile Sherman sent $250 more, and this making up $1,750, in all, the lawyers agreed to wait for the balance until the 1st of January next on condition that Casanave would come under obligations not to dispose of the property before that time.

By this means poor Casanave is freed from trouble for awhile, but whether those who have come to his relief now will be willing to do so again is an uncertain matter. It seems that while Mr. Hayes rewarded all the other scoundrels in the fraud with a chance to fleece the public purse, he has endeavored to entirely ignore the services of the latter, but as a last resort, to keep him from betraying secrets which it would not be pleasant to have developed, has drawn upon his own private purse to the amount of $1,000 to get rid of his importunities. Verily, the laborer is worthy of his hire.

plete, the legislation remains unfinished; and if the legislation be unfinished, the bill is not finally passed so as to be a law.

The bill not having been passed into a law, neither the Speakers, nor the Court, nor any other person or power can make a law after the adjournment of the Assembly. These are the clear and forcible principles which we presume the Court recognized when forming its judgment on the case presented for its consideration.

This decision is a complete vindication of the conduct of the Speakers in withholding their signatures when the fact was made known to them that the bill remained unsigned after the Legislature had adjourned.

Had they, subsequent to the adjournment of the Assembly, gone on and set their names to the unpassed bill, it would not have helped matters; the bill would still have been in its old category of an incomplete legislative enactment.

So the speakers did right in not affixing their names to a piece of paper where their signatures were not by law required to be.

This case involved very grave questions, and we are glad they have been settled as above indicated. It would have been a very dangerous exercise of power to confer by inference upon two men the right to sign laws for the government of a great State.

And we are glad to know that the precedent is now firmly set, that in case of any accident by which a bill fails to become a law, the only way to rectify the mistake is by calling the Legislature together and having all the acts of legislation properly performed in due place and in due order.

This will certainly be done in any case justifying the expense and inconvenience of re-assembling the members from their distant homes, but when the matters involved are of minor importance, not affecting the concerns of the whole people, the bill will be allowed to lie dead and inoperative just as other bills which for some cause or other fail to be ratified into laws.

In the case before us of the School Bill, while the proposed act was thought by some to be superior in many of its provisions to the old law, yet others have considered its promised benefits of doubtful advantage and have regarded the old law as the better of the two. So, without caring which of the disputants have the best of the argument, it sufficiently appears that no great harm will be done by letting the matter rest where it is.

And in this connection we take great pleasure in saying that as far as our own information goes the cause of education has of late received a great impulse in North Carolina. So much so that with the efficient services of the present Superintendent and the important aid of the school committees throughout the entire State our public schools will probably attain a higher state of usefulness during the next year than they have ever reached at any period of our history.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, Aug 26

Senator Wade Hampton has just exercised his constitutional right of free speech by declaring for Senator Bayard as candidate for the Presidency. Senator Voorhees believes in Hendricks, but has great expectations of a ticket made up of Hancock and David Davis. Mr. Tilden has new admirers in various sections, and Senator Thurman seems to lose no friends. All these gentlemen are worthy of any honor the country can bestow, but we ought, it seems to me, to get the important State elections out of the way before fighting next year's battle.

Abnatis is in spiritual communication with the radical press, and is furnishing reports of the Maine campaign. Senator Blaine is the medium through whom the illustrious deceased communicates with the newspapers, so far as Washington is concerned. The Republican the other day published a letter from Augusta, in which statements of Republican gains were given. None of the gains were in or near Augusta, but in remote sections. It happens, however, that reliable Democrats and Greenbackers when writing from the counties in which Abnatis knows of Radical gains, report gains the other way. These writers, however, say that Blaine is before election to flood their part of the State with money, as he is already doing with documents and speakers. It is understood here that the Senator is making the most energetic and unscrupulous campaign ever known in the State.

In boring an artesian well on high ground here a few days since, gravel, shell and petrified leaves were found at the depth of ninety-three feet. This, it is said, indicates that the original bed of what is now called the Potomac river ran along at this point. The depth at which the deposits were reached is many feet below the present river level.

Wicked for Clergymen.

'I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article is made of valuable remedies known to all that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them.'

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Known to the World—No More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves, and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only true way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, &c., and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without medicine permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicine made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful Bitters or Blood Cleanser, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and I was able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in a medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood, Impudence, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not for the reason that I was not a man of small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in so rapid a manner as has our success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Early one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown. They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, and help to break up the regular course of the nervous system. They permeate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue from the head to the feet, cleansing and strengthening the fountain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and nourishment.

No matter what regular medicine you are using, what the disease or ailment is, use Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable, use the Bitters at once. It may save your life. Thousands of persons in all parts of the country are already using Root Bitters. They have saved many lives of consumptives, who had given up their friends and physicians to die, and have permanently cured many old chronic cases of Catarrh, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and skin Diseases, where all other treatments had failed. Are you troubled with sick headache, costiveness, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, or broken down in constitution? You will be cured if you take Root Bitters. Have you humors and pimples on your face or skin? Nothing will give you such good health, strength, and beauty as Root Bitters.

I know that jealous physicians will cry humber because our cures are so many of their patients, but I care not. It is now my desire and determination to place my Root Bitters as fast as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, or six bottles $5.00. For certificates of wonderful cures, see my large circular around each bottle of medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

Ask your Druggist or merchant for FRAZIER'S HOP BITTERS, the great blood Cleanser, and take no substitute. I recommend because he makes a large profit.
