WILMINGTON, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1879.

[ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.]

VIEWS AND NEWS.

During the last month six new national banks have been established—three in the West and three in New England and New York. The amount of new national bank circulation which will be issued within a month will amount to about $2,000,000.

With all the peaches that have been thrown on the Baltimore market in the past forty days, it is stated that packers have not canned enough to meet the demand upon them, one house reported being now 250,000 cans short of filling orders on hand.

Mr. Christian K. Ross, father of the ill-fated Charlie, paid a visit to Superintendent Walling, of New York, on Tuesday. Mr. R.'s faith in his son's existence is unshaken, although the only glimmer in the mystery of this boy's disappearance was the shooting of his supposed abductors at Bay Ridge, December 14, 1874.

Elisha Grimes said in a prayer meeting at Little York, Ind., that he was wholly prepared to die. George Jones called him out of doors a few minutes afterward, and killed him with a knife. It is conjectured that Jones thought Grimes, professing readiness, might as well die at once, for no other motive has been discovered.

Brigham Young mixed the Mormon Church property with his own in a way that in law, left it all at his death as one estate. The executors, who are Mormon dignitaries, undertook to separate the two equitably, but the heirs, consisting of the original and only lawful Mrs. Young and her children, have had a receiver appointed, and it looks as though they would finally get the entire amount.

According to a prominent religious journal in Boston there is a very bad state of morals among the young men and women and girls in many reputable families in that city. This religious newspaper tells its readers that the Boston chief of police declares there are hundreds of girls belonging to respectable Boston families who have adopted ways of which they would blush to have their relatives know.

The Princess of Wales is described as never more radiant than of late, 'not even on the morning, sixteen years ago, when in that jaunty hat and mauve poplin dress she stepped ashore at Gravesend, and afterward rode through London, taking triumphant possession of all our hearts.' On a recent occasion she 'looked almost as young and quite as charming in a costume of black and white striped silk, and it was easy to see how proud she is of her boys.'

Without ever making a bet, and in days when the value of stakes was insignificant as compared with the mighty aggregate of Lord Falmouth's winnings during the last three years, Admiral Harcourt retired from the turf with a clear gain of $125,000. The blood of his old Tomboy mare may still be traced in the last volume of the stud book, and it flowed in the veins of Summerside, with whom the late Lord Londesborough won the Oaks in 1859.

Doctors Commons, in London, can console itself for the loss of the Emperor Napoleon's will by the possession of that of another hero, Wellington. The Iron Duke's schedule of his last wishes is filed with the wills of Sir Anthony Vendycke, Inigo Jones, Sir Isaac Newton, Samuel Johnson, Charles Dickens and William Shakespeare the last consisting of three folio sheets, with the poet's signature to each sheet, and comprising the much discussed bequest of 'the second best bed' to his wife.

Lord Beaconsfield never passes a favor unnoticed, never forgets a friend, and considers no man his enemy, save Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Lowe. He knows that majorities are made up of units, and that a unit abstracted from the opposition benches counts two in a division. Thus when in the House of Commons it was his watchful eye observes wavering on the part of an individual opposite, he somehow or other, before twenty-four hours passes, manages to come in personal contact with the waverer. The roughest member knows the sound of the friendly voice and the touch of the soft white hand. There is a good deal of human nature in the House of Commons, and human nature prefers Disraeli's manners to Gladstone's.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all the cosmetics of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.

MRS. KATE CHASE SPRAGUE.

This noted personage, whose name has been widely bruited throughout the country in connection with a shameful scandal, has arrived at her home (Edgewood) in Washington, D. C., accompanied by her three daughters. As a matter of course an interview with her was sought for the benefit of the newspapers and the public, and in responding to the enquiries of a reporter upon the staff of the Washington Post, she discussed her present unenviable situation and future prospects and intentions with much freedom. She speaks very frankly, but with bitterness, of the past, as her reply to the reporter's interrogatory: "And here your intent to keep your children?" will show:

"Yes I have but little doubt they will be safe here. My attendants are devoted and will not let harm come to me. Here I can be quiet and wait for my wrongs to be righted. I have been maligned and ground down until I have felt that I was a target at which every body could fire, and yet without means or method of redress. But I am willing to wait, because I know that everything must come right in time, and in the best way. The bitterest part of my recent troubles has been that I should be thought a silly, vain woman. Why, I have been trained to look upon dignity and brains as of the highest importance, and I have a high regard for the conventionalities, although I believe have not that reputation. To be so misrepresented so misunderstood, has given me my greatest pain. I have been charged with all sorts of misdoings, of which I am totally innocent. For instance, I am credited with being at the Capitol nearly every day of the last session. I do not believe that, in the six years since my father died, I have been in the Senate or House that number of times. I became interested in the army debate, and went to hear both sides of the question. Yet the day Mr. Conkling spoke, although there were thousands present, Gail H. Milton and myself were selected to be made special mention of. Every act of mine that could be used against me has been enlarged upon by my enemies."

That there is a large share of magnanimity in her composition is manifest in her appreciation of those who have sympathized with her in her sorrows and troubles, and she takes no pains to conceal her gratitude to the chivalry of the South for the delicacy with which they have treated her name in this matter, as the following will illustrate:

"Sympathy, I suppose, has not been wanting." "On the contrary, the kind feelings manifested by my friends have touched me deeply. Especially has this kindness been exhibited in the South. The papers there, with a chivalry that is natural, have with one accord taken my part because I was a woman and defenseless. This I particularly appreciate because I have no right to expect anything of the kind from the South. Some of these days the chivalry of the North will grant me the same fairness, and I hope to know that it is not unmerited."

We hope for the honor of fair womanhood, and for the credit of her innocent children, that the calumnies which have been set afloat regarding Mrs. Sprague are really without foundation and that she may be guiltless of the charge with which she has been accused, but there are two persons connected with the deplorable drama for whom we can entertain no feelings but those of unmitigated contempt. For the man, Conkling, who could allow himself in the slightest degree to compromise the fair fame of a wife and a mother, and persist in his course of conduct after he had been warned as to the result, there is no exorcism too deep, no denunciation too severe. And for the man, Sprague, her lawful husband, to keep her in his house at Canonchet under complete espionage, even to the perusal of all her correspondence, is a meanness of disposition, a contemptibility of spirit such as we trust no person in the South, claiming the attributes of a true manhood, could, be capable of descending to. She has our sincerest sympathy, but utter contempt are words altogether too feeble to express the sentiments we entertain towards the prominent male figures in this scandalous picture.

MASSACHUSETTS POLITICS.

The political cauldron in Massachusetts is bubbling and foaming with the intense heat of partisan fires. There were four conventions held in the State for the nomination of candidates for State officers, including that of Governor, and Ben. Butler was the choice for that position in three out of the four. In the Republican convention there was a squabble to see whether the candidature should be given to Pierce, the present incumbent or to Long, a new candidate, but an old aspirant, for the position, which resulted in the selection of the latter. This nomination was assiduously assailed by the "blue blooded" aristocracy of Boston, and creates much dissatisfaction among a large portion of the bankers and capitalists of State street in that city.

General Butler is the candidate of the Greenback-Labor party, the "Butler Democrats" and the "Independents," the latter being mainly composed of seceding and dissatisfied Republicans.

The entire registered voting population of the State aggregates very nearly 880,000, yet there is so much apathy manifested in political affairs by a large portion of her people, that only about two-thirds of the entire vote is polled, and not even that proportion except in times of the greatest enthusiasm. In 1878 only 250,000 votes were cast, and of these 110,000 were polled for Butler. In that campaign it will be remembered that he made the fight almost single handed and against the most formidable odds, yet he needed to draw but about 15,000 votes from the opposition to have gained his election. He is very confident of success in this campaign, calculating, with a good show of reason, that he shall poll the full strength of each of the tickets of which he is a regular nominee, and that he shall also draw quite heavily from the disaffected in the Republican ranks.

The campaign promises to be a lively one and will be of some interest to the South as mere lookers on, but not caring which side whips.

AN OLD FAMILY.

The correspondent of the New York Herald, with General Grant, intersperses his account of the ex-President's interview with the Emperor of Japan, by some family reminiscences, as follows:

The circumstance that an ex-President of the United States should converse with the chief of a friendly nation, is not in itself an important work. But when you consider the position of the Emperor among his subjects the traditions of his house and his throne, you will see the value of this meeting and the revolution it makes in the history of Japan. The imperial family is, in descent, the most ancient in the world. It goes back in direct line to 660 years before Christ. For more than twenty five centuries this line has continued unbroken, and the present sovereign is the 123d of his line. The position of Mikado has always been unique in Japan. For centuries the emperors lived in seclusion at Kyoto. The Mikado was a holy being. No one was allowed to look upon his face. He had no family name, because his dynasty being unending he needed none. During his life he was revered as a god. When he died he was translated into the celestial presence. Within ten years it was not proper that even his sacred name should be spoken. That is now permitted, but even now you cannot buy a photograph of the Mikado. It is not proper that his subjects should look upon his face. When he first received a foreign ambassador (in 1858) his Prime Minister knelt at his side while his nobles sat around on mats where they could not see him.

HOW IT SHOULD READ.

The Detroit Free Press has very cleverly amended Seneca Blaine's telegram to Senator Allison on the night of the Maine election. It says that Blaine's dispatch should read as follows:

"In a State which gave at the Presidential election of 1868 a majority of 28,000 in a total vote of 112,000—a majority equivalent to 250,000 in New York, which in a total vote of 90,000, gave a Republican majority of 32,000—equivalent to over 230,000 in Ohio, which in 1876, in a total vote of 116,000, gave a Republican majority of 16,000—equivalent to 110,000 in Pennsylvania, the Republicans this year lack about 2,500 of receiving a majority of the popular vote. It is a terrible disappointment to me and I fear that my Presidential prospects will be greatly impaired, owing to the inability of the Republicans, after an unparalleled expenditure of money, to secure an absolute majority of the popular vote in Maine."

A Sure Cure for Piles.

A SURE CURE for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Indian remedy), called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years' standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electricity do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else.

"I consulted physicians in Philadelphia, Louisville, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and this city, and spent hundreds of dollars, and found no relief until I obtained a box of Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment some four months ago, and it has cured me completely." JOSEPH M. HYDES, Cleveland, O.

"Has done me more good than all the medicine I ever tried, and I have spent more than $100 with doctors, besides medicines I am sure cost me more than $40."

DAVID SPARKLING, Ingraham, Ill. "Have suffered twenty years with itching and ulcerated piles, having used every remedy that came to my notice without benefit until I used Indian Ointment and received immediate relief." JAMES CARROLL, (an old miser) Tecoma, Nev.

No Pile Remedy ever gained such rapid favor and extensive sale. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists. For sale by J. C. Munds and T. S. Burbank. Each 20 cent box.

Fever and Ague is most common in the spring, but most prevalent in the fall and winter. It is strictly a malarious disease, and so sure will the individual who adopts this precaution be exempted from its pains and penalties. Add to this its value as a stomachic and anti-bilious agent, and who will venture to gainsay its claims to the first place among family medicines.

YELLOW FEVER—BLACK VOMIT.

It is too soon to forget the ravages of this terrible disease, which will no doubt return in a more malignant and virulent form in the fall months of 1879. MERRILL'S HEPATINE, a Remedy discovered in Southern Nubia and used with such wonderful results in South America where the most aggravated cases of fever are found, cause from one to two ounces of bile to be filtered or strained from the blood each time it passes through the Liver, and being as effective as the most active cold and cholera remedies on the Liver and stomach the HEPATINE not only prevents to a certainty any kind of Fever and Black Vomit, but also cures Head-ache, Constipation of the Bowels, Dyspepsia and all Malarial diseases.

No one need fear Yellow Fever who will expect the Malarial Poison, and excess of bile from the blood by using MERRILL'S HEPATINE, which is sold by all Druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 bottles, or will be sent by express by the Proprietors. A. F. MERRILL & CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr Pemberton's Stillingia or Queen's Delight.

The reports of wonderful cures of Rheumatism, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Syphilis, Cancer, Ulcers and Sores, that come from all parts of the country, are not only remarkable but so miraculous as to be doubted were it not for the abundance of proof.

Remarkable Cure of Scrofula, &c.

CASE OF COL. J. C. BRANSON. KINGSTON, Ga., Sept. 15, 1871. Gents—For sixteen years I have been a sufferer from scrofula in its most distressing form. I have been obliged to my room and bed for fifteen years with scrofula ulcers. The most approved remedies for such cases had been used, and without any decided benefit. Thus prostrated, I was abandoned by my wife, Dr. J. C. Branson, of Floyd county, Ga., to commence the use of your Compound Extract of Stillingia. Language is insufficient to describe the relief obtained from the use of the Stillingia as it is to convey an adequate idea of the intensity of my suffering before using your medicine; sufficient to say, I abandoned all other remedies and continued the use of your Extract of Stillingia, until I can say truly, "I am cured of all pain," of all disease, without anything to obstruct the active pursuit of my profession. More than eight months have elapsed since this remarkable cure, without any return of the disease.

A MIRACLE.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 16, 1870. Gents—My daughter was taken on the 25th day of June, 1863, with what was supposed to be Acute Rheumatism, and was treated for the same with no success. In March, following, pieces of bone began to work out of the right arm, and continued to appear till all the bone from the elbow to the shoulder joint came out. Many pieces of bone came out of the right foot and leg. The case was then pronounced one of White Swelling. After having been confined about six years to her bed and the case considered hopeless, I was induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Stillingia, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued the use of it until the present.

My daughter was confined to her bed about six years before she sat up or even walked over without her p. She now sits up all day, and sews most of her time—has walked across a room. Her general health is now good, and I believe she will, as her limbs gain strength, walk well. I attribute her recovery, with the blessing of God, to the use of your invaluable medicine. With gratitude I am, yours truly, W. B. BLANTON. WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1870.

Gents—The above certificate of Mr. W. B. Blanton we know and certify to as being true. The thing is so well known by the most respected citizens will certify to it. As much reference can be given as may be required. Yours truly, CRAWFORD & WALKER, Druggists, HON. H. D. WILLIAMS, DR. PEMBERTON'S Stillingia is prepared by A. F. Merrill & Co., Phila., Pa. Sold by all Druggists in $1.00 bottles, or sent by express. Agents wanted to canvass everywhere. Send for Book—"Curious Story"—free to all. Medicines sent to poor people payable in instalments. may 28

LIFE IN A BOTTLE.

The Most Valuable Medical Discovery Ever Known to the World—More Use for Quinine, Calomel or Mineral Poisons—Life for the Blood, Strength for the Nerves and Health for All.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC.

Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution we can drive away all baneful disease and bring the afflicted with weakness of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, broken down in constitution, and after trying the best physicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicine advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself and my family, made from roots and herbs. I have discovered a wonderful bitter of Quinine, Life in a Bottle, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most active cold and exposure, and having gained over thirty pounds in weight. Finding confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine, I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused by humors or scrofula in the blood, Impure Blood, Torpid Liver, &c. &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide, and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the Root Bitters in large quantities, and I now do so all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting braver every day. Since I have been in the business, I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever discovered so good in so short a time and with so small success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I have convinced the world that I have taken the life out of all other medicines in use. My hundreds retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, and of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medical preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and were calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous system. They penetrate every part of the body, and cure all cases of Catarrh of the bladder, rheumatism, and skin diseases, where all other treatments had failed. Any one troubled with sick headache, constipation, dizziness, weakness, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, and broken down in constitution, you will be cured if you take Root Bitters. Have you humors and pimples on your face or skin? Nothing will give you such good health, strength, and beauty as Root Bitters.

I know that jealous physicians will cry humbug because my discovery cures so many of their patients, but I care not for many my desire and determination is to give my Root Bitters as far as possible within the reach of all those suffering throughout the world. Sold by wholesale and retail druggists and country merchants, or sent by express on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, six bottles $5.00. For certificates of cures and other testimonials, read each bottle of the medicine. Read and judge for yourself.

Ask your druggist or merchant for FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTERS, the great Blood Cleanser, and take no substitute. My recommendation because he makes a large profit.
