WILMINGTON, N. C.
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1879.
[ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.]

VEWS AND REVIEWS.

A Denison (Tex.) girl's foot was badly wounded, resulting in lockjaw. A physician was called, and terror at the sight of the edged instruments produced a reaction and the girl was well before anything could be done for her.

Score another for the cutty-pipe! Mrs. Margaret Duncan, the oldest woman in Scotland, who died at Cupar Angus on Tuesday at the age of 106, having been born in 1773, was a great smoker, and until recently, when she became blind, was in possession of all her faculties. She leaves an orphan only sixty years of age.

During General Grant's visit to Tokio, Japan, he and Mrs. Grant each planted a sapling near the Toshogu Temple. A gravestone to commemorate the event has been placed in front of each tree, one bearing the inscription, "Grant's Hinoki" and on the other "Mrs. Grant's Giyokuran."

The unveiling of the two funeral monuments in the cemeteries of Montparnasse and Pere la Chaise, to the memory of the French soldiers killed during the Franco-German war, will take place in November next. The monument of Montparnasse encloses the bones of 500 soldiers and that of Pere la Chaise those of 2,500 soldiers.

Trouble is already being arranged for Mayor-elect Killoch, of San Francisco. Previous to the election he publicly promised that he would fill the office to which he had been nominated for a less sum than the legal salary. This is said, by good authority, to amount to bribery under the Constitution of California, and a case will be made up on it with a view to getting a decision from the Supreme Court.

Three Italian bicyclists have just performed the journey from Milan to Lyons in five days by Genoa and the Cornice. The distance exceeds slightly 880 kilometers or 550 miles English measurement. They therefore traveled at the rate of 110 miles each day, and kept up this extraordinary speed for five successive days, traversing the rutty unpaved roads and the worse-paved streets of villages and towns. Yet they won no belt.

Very little was heard of the loss sustained by the Russians in their campaign in Armenia during the Russo-Turkish war. The correspondents were mostly in the Balkan peninsula, but a recent report from the Russian staff shows that the force engaged lost 30 per cent of its officers and 23 per cent of its men, in all a total of 2,139 officers and 70,378 men, about equally divided between killed or wounded and missing.

False hair is being largely used in Paris for the adornment of children belonging to high life. The soft, flaxen locks that are seen floating in the wind on the beaches of Trouville and Dieppe are, it appears, in many cases false. The Parisian asserts that a chroniquer, for whom the grand monde has no secrets, says that some ladies already dye their children's hair and darken their eyebrows, and complains that in high life mothers have a tendency to regard their children as mere talking dolls.

At the McHenry House, Meadville, Pa., there is a parrot which is a source of great annoyance to train men. When it sees a freight train coming it will yell at the top of its voice, "Switch off! switch off!" The enunciation is so distinct that it not unfrequently happens the train will be switched to avoid a supposed danger. The same bird, when it sees a passenger train, will yell, "All aboard!" and thereby cause a scamper among the passengers, who, after sitting in the cars for ten or fifteen minutes, will discover they have been sold.

Leadville, Col., is having a relapse. The feverish excitement which marked its early history is dying out. Cash-producing properties have advanced in value, but prospects have declined enormously and most of them are unsaleable at any price. Holes which could have been sold last spring for thousands of dollars can now be secured in exchange for a railway ticket to St. Louis. Even the paying mines fall far short of expectations. Real estate is dull and empty houses are plenty. The town started off with such a rush that a reaction was inevitable.

San Francisco people always drive every stranger out on the Cliff House road, give him a breakfast at the hotel and show him the sea lions sporting on Sea Rock. They have one big seal that is known as Ben Butler on account of his striking likeness to the Essex statesman. When Grant saw Seal Rock and Ben the other day and observed that the waters of the Pacific rolled between him and the rock he remarked that Ben was evidently superintending the Dutch Gap Canal.

We beg to explain. We wrote it yesterday. "We are not of those who desire Tilden." There was a word on the proof which was not in the copy and this was marked out but it appeared yesterday that "we are of those." Of course the intelligent reader saw the error on reading the article. All others are invited to the funeral, from Seventeenth street, to-night at 12 o'clock, sharp, with side-arms and three rounds of very blank cartridge.

SEVEN BALES OF COTTON FROM FOUR ARCES.

An Edgefield correspondent of the Charleston News & Courier writes that paper that O. E. Cheatham, Esq., clerk of the court for that county, has a four acre patch planted in cotton, from which he has already picked, ginned and packed five bales, averaging 448 pounds. Mr. Cheatham believes, and other good planters agree with him, that he will yet get two more bales. Three bales of this cotton, on account of the fine quality, brought a cent above the market price.

A COUNTER EXODUS.

A Washington dispatch says: "South Carolina farmers can make more in a year in cash or its equivalent, and are in every way better off than the same class in any other part of the country. By way of news, a counter exodus has been started. Arrangements are about completed by the Mississippi and Louisiana planters for importing colored labor from Missouri and the border States. Several railroad companies are about to issue tickets over their roads at excursion rates for this purpose."

TOO TRUE.

How soon one becomes hardened or accustomed to suffering! Poor Memphis, and the adjoining country, is still in agony from the plague, and yesterday the donation fund to the Howards' aggregated the small sum of $87.

One year ago and subscriptions were being taken up at the Churches, on the streets corners and in the bar rooms, everywhere throughout this broad land. To-day hardly an effort is being made for the relief of the poor sufferers. People are tired of giving; they can't afford it. If it is really so much of a tax upon their resources. First, the Beaufort disaster, then the Hood fund and so on ad infinitum. But travelling theatricals draw good houses and cigars and tobacco are constantly consumed. Wine, whiskey and lager beer continues to be drunk, silk dresses of costly material expensively made up are worn and costly hats with fine plumes and feathers are still seen in the churches. But then, well but then, what? Why, we suppose it is the way of the world. Alas! that it is so.

OUR STANDING ARMY.

It is asserted by all the stalwart organs, that "we have no standing army, or none to speak of," and they claim that what little we have is an absolute necessity, to repel any invasion with which the country might be threatened.

The army, whether large or small, costs the taxpayers of the country the snug little sum of $20,000,000 per annum, and while this enormous sum is annually appropriated for the maintenance of the military, the propriety of keeping so large a force, at such an expense, will be gravely questioned by those who have the good and prosperity of the country at heart. The total number of officers in the United States military service, as given in the report of the General of the Army, is 2,153, and the total number of enlisted men is 23,255, making an aggregate of 25,407. Now does any sane man for a moment suppose that this large force, necessitating such a vast drain upon the taxpayers for its support, is necessary in such a time of profound peace? Does any one suppose that it might not be reduced to 10,000 enlisted men, with the proper quota of officers, without any risk or hindrance to the peace and prosperity and stability of the government? We have not a doubt that the number we have named would be amply sufficient for every actual need.

It is a case in which the demand is entirely inadequate to the supply, and we hope that the patriotic press of the country will continue to hold the outrageous wrong up to the gaze of the people, and that our legislators will continue to labor in the cause, until this enormous and uncalled for expenditure is materially reduced.

The idea that such a force is rendered necessary by a possibility of an invasion by a foreign foe, is too absurd for criticism. Every one knows that, should such an unlooked for and improbable event occur, it would not be the soldiers of the regular army who would be called upon to repel the invaders. Every one knows that, the moment a foreign foe should menace our shores, the volunteer army of the United States would be called upon to give him a warm reception. No one presumes that the army is too large or even large enough to compete with any considerable foe, nor will it be expected to do so. But it is perfectly evident that, in these "piping times of peace," there is no earthly necessity or use for one-half the number now on the muster rolls.

A curious instance of partial loss of memory is mentioned in the French papers. A painter, who was visiting a friend at Sceaux, was standing on a balcony on the second floor, when he overbalanced himself and fell on the ground below. Every one rushed down stairs, expecting to find him dead, but he quickly picked himself up, and seemed unharmed. When, however, he turned to address his friends, he could not remember their names. He had forgotten his own, and, to his utter astonishment, he also found that he could not recall a single substantive. He can pronounce one after the other the letters of which the names of his wife and daughter are composed, but he is unable to unite them into one word.

MOONSHINE.

"Bless me, Emmy, you don't look as well as usual—indeed, I do not think I ever saw you looking as old as you look to-day." "My dear, I never was as old as I am to-day."

Too much refinement is bad. Call a San Francisco man a square, and he likes it; but a Boston man of culture, who called a Friscoan quadrilateral, promptly got filled with buck-hot.—Boston Post.

It being claimed by one of the sterner sex that man was made first and lord of creation, the question was asked by an indignant beauty how long he remained lord of creation. "Till he got a wife," was the reply.

And now the returned city people write to their country cousins with whom they have been staying, that they arrived safely, but found the city infested with small-pox, which is likely to last all winter.—Boston Post.

It is related of a certain clergyman, who was noted for his long sermons, with many divisions, that one day, when he was advancing among the teens, he reached at length a kind of resting place in his discourse when, pausing to take breath and asking the question, "And what shall I say more?" a voice from the congregation earnestly responded, "Say 'amen!'"

In an English court, in the course of an argument, a barrister remarked: "What does Kitty say?" "Who's Kitty?" said the magistrate: "your wife?" "Sir, I mean Kitty, the celebrated lawyer." "Oh," said the magistrate, "I suspect you mean Mr. Chitty, the author of the great work on pleading." "I do sir; but Chitty is an Italian name, and ought to be pronounced Kitty."

Hale's Weekly.

ON TUESDAY, the 7th day of October, 1879, and in the City of Raleigh, the undersigned will commence the publication of HALE'S WEEKLY, a North Carolina Democratic Newspaper. These four words convey all the columns of Prospect could tell: the good of the State; the success of the Party which is the life of the State and the country; the publication of all the news; these the objects proposed. That he can do the last and contribute to the first and second, the subscriber does not feel a doubt. The People have set their feet of approval upon his past and he does not count the future. HALE'S WEEKLY will be printed from new and beautiful type and on fair white paper. The price will be $1 per annum. No name will go upon its mail books without payment and no paper will be sent a far expiration of the time paid for. P. M. HALE, Raleigh, Sept 15, 1879. sept 16-1f

Female School.

MISSES BURE & JAMES, Principals,
MRS. M. S. CUSHING, Instructress in Vocal and Instrumental Music.

THE FIFTEENTH ANNUAL SESSION of this School will commence on Monday, Oct. 28, 1879, and close during the last week in June 1880. The course of instruction is solid and thorough, and the utmost care will be taken, as heretofore, to avoid everything pertaining to a superficial education. Young children are carefully and judiciously trained, by means of object lessons and Kindergarten occupation, in conjunction with the best text book instruction. Free hand drawing taught without extra charge. For further particulars see circulars at the different Book Stores in the city, or enquire of Principals. A limited number of pupils can be accommodated with board.

A MIRACLE.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 16, 1879.
Gents—My daughter was taken on the day of June, 1863, with what was supposed to be Acute Rheumatism, and was treated the same with no success. In March, 1864, pieces of bone began to work out of her arm, and continued to appear till the bone from the elbow to the wrist came out. Many pieces of bone came out the right foot and leg. The case was pronounced one of White Swelling. She having been confined about six years in bed, and the case considered hopeless, I induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Silligiea, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued its use of it until the present. The case was six years before she sat up or even got over without help. She now sits up all day and sews most of her time—has walked to her room. Her general health is now good and I believe she will, as her strength, weak well. I attribute her recovery to the blessing of God, to the goodness of a noble medicine. With grateful thanks, I am, yours truly, W. B. BLANTON.

WEST POINT, Ga., Sept. 16, 1879.
Gents—The above certificate of Mr. Blanton, we know and certify to be true. The thing is so hundreds of other respected citizens will certify to it. A reference can be given as may be required. Yours truly,

YELLOW FEVER—BLACK VOMIT

It is the most fatal of the various forms of febrile disease, which is not only a fall ailment, but also a very fatal one. MERRILL'S PREPARATION, a remedy discovered in Southern Africa and used with such wonderful results in South America, where it has been used for many years, is the most efficacious remedy for the Yellow Fever and Black Vomiting, but also cures Cholera, Constipation of the bowels, Dyspepsia, and all Malarial diseases. No one need fear Yellow Fever who expel the Malarial Poison and excess of bile from the blood by using MERRILL'S PREPARATION, which is sold by all Druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 bottles, or will be sent by express by the Proprietors. ## Remarkable Cure of Scrofula

CASE OF COL. J. C. BRANSON
KINOSTON, Ga., Sept. 15, 1879.
Gents—For sixteen years I have been a great sufferer from Scrofula in its most distressing form. I have been to the best of our room and bed for fifteen years with various ulcers. The most approved medicines for such cases had been used, and most eminent physicians consulted, without any decided benefit. I was, however, induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Silligiea, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued its use of it until the present. The case was six years before she sat up or even got over without help. She now sits up all day and sews most of her time—has walked to her room. Her general health is now good and I believe she will, as her strength, weak well. I attribute her recovery to the blessing of God, to the goodness of a noble medicine.
