TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1878.

[ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.]

VEIEWS AND REVIEWS.

Prof. Church, of West Point Academy, says that candidates for that institution are not nearly so well fitted as they were a quarter of a century ago.

Propagating sponges by cutting the live ones into small pieces, attaching them to lumps of rock and sinking them to proper depths in suitable places is proposed by a Prof. Schmidt. He thinks in three years they will be marketable and yield a handsome profit.

A 94 1/2 carat diamond, found recently at Meker's Bush, in the South African diamond fields, was sold on the spot for $35,000. The same "digger" in whose lot this rare find unearthed about the same time a fine stone of 22 carats, and another of 10 1/2 carats, besides several smaller gems.

It appears that 500 laurel wreaths and several thousand violet bouquets for the Prince Imperial's funeral were manufactured at Munich, neither Paris nor London artificial flower makers being able to undertake the work in the time allowed, 4,000 persons are employed in that industry by 37 factories in Munich.

The friends of Gen. Hancock propose to establish a Hancock headquarters at Washington when Congress meets and to begin the work of actively pushing him for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. They expect much assistance from the South and parts of the West.

The Florida canal project has been given up. The projectors wanted a special session of the State Legislature to give them an act of incorporation, but they refused to advance $15,000, as the Governor requested, to pay the expense of the session, and the Governor pronounced the bill which they had prepared wholly inadmissible.

Notwithstanding the desperate condition of the Turkish finances there was set apart, out of a recent loan, £65,000 for new decorations for the imperial yacht, and £20,000 for two new aquariums for one of the Sultan's pleasure grounds. At the same time all the officers of the army have been thirty-seven months without pay and are suffering greatly.

A Tennessee dandy preacher held forth recently as follows: "You girls call your sweethearts 'darlings,' and you men call yours 'daisies,' and you girls are afraid to come up here for fear some other girl will get off with your 'darlings,' and you men for fear some other fellow will get away with your 'daisies,' and I said he, 'between this 'daring' and 'daisy' business lots of you 'niggers' are going straight to hell.'"

The Mexican volcano of Orizaba, 17,300 feet above the sea level, has been ascended by M. Athalza, a resident of Puebla. Thirteen persons accompanied him, one of whom died at the top from rarefaction of the air, and another a few days afterwards from erysipelas caused by the reflection of the sun on the snow. 7,000 steps had to be cut in the snow to gain the summit, and the expedition occupied four days, one of which was a blank owing to rain and snow. Baron Muller, in 1859, first made the ascent, and he has had very few successors.

The Rev. Albert Whiting, an American missionary in China, died of famine fever while ministering to the starving natives. The Governor of the province offered to defray the expense of sending the body home, and, when it was explained to him that Americans did not share in the Chinese horror of being buried in a foreign country, he gave a plot of ground in which to make a grave, and deputed twelve Chinamen to worship the dead clergyman's spirit.

On the day Cardinal Manning assisted at the baptism in London of the Duke of Norfolk's son and heir, he celebrated mass and breakfast at early morn in Liverpool, reached Norfolk House, St. James' Square, by 2 o'clock, paid a visit to the Archbishop's residence at 4 P. M., caught the Liverpool express by 3 P. M. and addressed a large meeting of Roman Catholics on temperance in St. George's Hall at 10 the same evening. This is ecclesiastical activity for one over seventy.

At the carnival in San Francisco in honor of General and Mrs. Grant, on Thursday evening, Mrs. Grant was presented with a bouquet composed of the flowers indigenous to the various countries she had passed through in her tour round the world. The flowers were placed in regular order, starting from Philadelphia and ending with San Francisco. The bouquet-holder, five inches long, was of pure California gold, and inlaid with quartz and a collection of other metals found on the Pacific coast.

NOT SO, QUITE, IF YOU PLEASE.

The Wilmington Review favors the nomination of Samuel J. Tilden for President. "On the contrary quite the reverse," as Sam Weller would say, is, we beg to inform our respected cotemporary, the position of the Review. This we thought we made quite plain in our issue of Thursday last, but the omission of an adverb by the typo made the first sentence of our editorial read "we are one of those who desire to see Samuel J. Tilden receive the nomination for President at the hands of the Democratic Convention." We suppose our cotemporary must have read only so far and no farther, for had he read the entire editorial, he would have discovered that there was evidently a word omitted in the first line which should have been made to read thus: "We are not one of those who favor Samuel J. Tilden, &c. This we took the trouble to explain in an editorial paragraph in our very next issue which we are sorry our cotemporary failed to notice."

THE INDIAN TROUBLE.

It would seem that the outbreak among the Indians is more general and of much greater magnitude than was at first anticipated. There is now no doubt, as we learn from the latest reports, that nearly the entire Ute tribe is in arms against the government, nor that their principal chief, Ouray, who evidently desires to continue in friendly relations with the whites, is utterly powerless to subdue the warlike spirit of the tribe. It is also a fact that the Utes have been joined by other tribes, and that their ranks have been materially swelled by reinforcements from the Arapahoes and Uintah Utes. All these tribes feel that they have suffered grievous wrong from the whites, and, seeing no probability that those wrongs will ever be redressed, their savage natures see no other method than by retaliatory outrage to inflict as much punishment as possible in avenging their wrongs.

No people on the face of the earth have been treated with more perfidious cruelty than have the Indians. From the time the Puritans found the corn, after they had landed on the coast of Massachusetts and then thanked God for His bounty (but for which they never cleared to pay the Indians, to whom the corn belonged), until the present, they have been victims of white cupidity, cruelty and oppression. Like dew before the sun, they have been driven from the mountains, water courses and hunting grounds of the east towards the setting sun, until the reflex tide of civilization from the Pacific coast has met them, and they are now hemmed in between two continually encroaching foes, to neither of which can they look with any hope or expectation of mercy or justice.

In this deplorable situation they have appealed to the government for relief, which has in every instance resulted in greater and more cruel wrongs than they were compelled to endure before asking governmental protection. They have had foisted upon them, in the shape of Indian agents, a set of the most heartless, merciless, mercenary scamps, cut-throats and thieves that ever managed to keep clear of the penitentiary or the hangman's rope. Not an Indian nor a tribe of Indians, have ever received a dollar's worth of benefit from any appropriation made by the United States in their behalf, for it has all been swallowed up by the rapacious sharks, appointed by the government as agents to look after their interest and welfare. The outrageous frauds perpetrated by these official villains are a shame and a stigma upon the country. The Indians would have been infinitely better off had they been left entirely free from official interference, bad as would have been their situation.

Troubles will continually arise on the frontier so long as the Indians are compelled to endure such wrongs; and their avenging blows will fall wherever and whenever the opportunity presents itself. We have no right to expect anything else. Their cause is all sufficient, and when opportunity offers, they will not hesitate to strike with all the force at their command, and with all the ferocity of their natures.

NOT TOO SOON.

We have a report that the city of Chicago has organized a branch of the "Society for the Suppression of Vice." We have no knowledge of the plan of labor proposed by this "branch," and from all we have been able to learn of the moral atmosphere of that city, we would be at a loss to know in which particular department of vice it should commence operations. If the "branch" is not more than mortally efficient there is a life-long job before it. If it is not already very well informed as to the various stages, degrees and kinds of vice existing in the world, and should pursue its arduous undertaking with energy it will be astonished at the multifarious sorts, styles and kinds of general wickedness and moral cussedness which will be developed in that city on the lake.

There is not a doubt that Chicago is the wickedest place, in proportion to its size and population, in the United States, and although we are told that, "While the lamp holds out to burn, The vilest sinner may return," we consider it the most hopeless field for successful reformatory enterprise on this continent. It is barely possible that it is susceptible of purification, but by what process is a problem yet to be solved. Certainly fire had no good effect, but, on the contrary, since passing through that ordeal, it has seemed to flourish and develop in every form and feature of crime.

We shall look with intense anxiety to the labors of this "branch" of the parent society, and shall hope for blessed results. We admire the courage of the organization but fear the task is entirely too formidable. Some benefit might result from its labors, were they confined to the suburbs, but we sadly fear that in case they should be carried at once into the densely populated heart of the city, instead of accomplishing any manifest good, the organization itself would yield to the alluring temptations which will meet its every step, and be swallowed up in the vortex of vice which it contemplates to suppress. It is a hazardous undertaking, and the "branch" has our most cordial good wishes for its success—and profound sympathy for the probable result.

Nothing now remains to be done to Cologne Cathedral but to place the massive stone caps of the great towers and to tie the huge crosses that surmount the whole. But this is all very difficult and dangerous work, and, though the scaffolding has now been carried to the top of the towers, it is still possible that the prediction against the completion of this magnificent edifice may be fulfilled.

The late novelist, Charles Lever, being once in London with his daughter, absent from his Consulate at Trieste without leave, was invited to dinner by Lord Lytton. "Ah, Lever," said his brother novelist, as he came in, "glad you are come. You will meet your chief, Clarendon (then Foreign Minister)." "I fear I must retire, my nose is bleeding," he replied making for the door, which at that instant opened, Lord Clarendon being announced. After shaking hands with the host, his lordship espied Lever. "Ah, Lever, didn't know you were in England; didn't even know you had asked for leave." "Nose, my lord," answered the witty novelist. "I thought it would be more respectful to your lordship to come and ask for it in person."

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best medicines.—Exchange. See another column.

Remarkable Cure of Scrofula.

CASE OF COL. J. C. BRANSON, KINGSTON, GA., Sept. 15, 1877

Gentle:—For sixteen years I have been a great sufferer from Scrofula in its most distressing forms. I have been cured by a room and bed for fifteen years with several long and tedious courses of the most eminent physicians consulted, without any decided benefit. This prostrated, distressed, and desponding, I was advised by Dr. J. C. Branson, of Floyd county, Ga., to commence the use of your Compound Extract Stillinger. I began the use of it at once, and in a few days I felt as if it was to convey an adequate idea of the tenacity of my suffering before using your medicine; sufficient to say, I abandoned all other remedies and continued the use of your Extract of Stillinger, until I can say truly, I am cured of all pain, of all disease, with nothing to obstruct the active pursuit of my profession. More than eight months have elapsed since this remarkable cure, without any return of the disease.

For the truth of the above statement, I refer to any gentleman in Bartow county, Ga., and to the members of the bar of Chatham County, Ga., who are acquainted with me, and ever remain, with the deepest gratitude, Your obedient servant, J. C. BRANSON, Atty. at Law.

A MIRACLE.

WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1878.

Gentle:—My daughter was taken on the 15th day of June, 1863, with what was supposed to be Acute Rheumatism, and was treated for the same with no success. In March, following, pieces of bone began to work out of the right arm, and continued to appear till all the bones from the elbow to the shoulder had come out. Many pieces of bone came out of the right foot and leg. The case was then treated by the best medical skill, but she having been confined about six years to her bed, and the case considered hopeless, I was induced to try Dr. Pemberton's Compound Extract of Stillinger, and was so well satisfied with its effects that I have continued the use of it until the present.

My daughter was confined to her bed about six years before she set up, or even turned over without her pain. She now sits up all day and sews most of her time. Her general health is now good, and I believe she will, as her friends say, strength, walk well. I attribute her recovery to the blessing of God, to the use of your invaluable medicine. With gratitude, I am, yours truly, W. B. BLANTON.

WEST POINT, GA., Sept. 16, 1878.

Gentle:—The above certificate of Mr. W. B. Blanton we know and certify to as being true. The thing is so; hundreds of the most respected citizens will testify to it. As usual, reference can be given as may be required. Yours truly, CRAWFORD & WALKER, DRUGGISTS, HON. H. D. WILLIAMS.

DR. Pemberton's Stillinger is prepared by A. F. Merrell & Co., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by all Druggists in $1.00 bottles, sent by express. Agents wanted to carry it every where.
