The Old Harlequin Actor.
If the party of the second part in an agreement which was entered into the other day, and whereof ye local was a witness, carries out the spirit of a contract made between the party of the first and the party of the second part, before mentioned, there will be a hanging in Wilmington shortly. For the reason, that Stephen White, the decrepit old Englishman, who was five and twenty years an actor and ten years a harlequin, who will be 75 years old next February, and who speaks nothing but poetry, is still in the city and has failed to carry out his part of the contract by which he was released from custody by the Mayor, which, as was stated at the time, was upon the condition that he put this city behind him before 12 o'clock of the day upon which he was discharged from arrest, or failing to do that he would be imprisoned for thirty days, whereupon the defendant at the time, the aforesaid Stephen White, told the mayor that he might hang him if he remained in the city for a longer period than the time above mentioned. And singular as it may appear the twice before mentioned Stephen White is still in this city for we both saw him and heard him this morning, entertaining a party of excursionists by striking a stage attitude, and then quoting lines of Shakespeare with much earnestness but with small powers of elocution, for he is a toothless old man, and as may be well supposed does not articulate the best in the world. But still we hope the Mayor will not hang him nor imprison him either, for the old war-lager has furnished us with an item on three different occasions when locals were very dull, and on this account we will have to interpose and crave for the poor old fellow the clemency of the authorities.

The Cattle Ordinance.
By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that this (Oct. 31st) is the last day upon which any kind of neat cattle will be permitted to run at large, within the city limits, until the first of May, 1880.

Spring Garden peanuts.
This fertile region of Rocky Point, in Pender county, is famous for large yields and a fine quality of peanuts. That excellent farmer, Mr. W. G. Chadwick, who is farming upon the fine lands of that celebrated farmer of that locality, Joel Hines, Esq., has sent us a specimen of his peanut crop of this year. The bunch or hill which he has sent us, and now hanging up in our office, contains, by actual count, four hundred and fifteen (415) well matured and good size peanuts, without any pops, or faulty peas. He informs us that this hill will measure over one quart and that this is the average yield to the bill of the peanut crop generally this year of Spring Garden. There are no better farming lands in the State than those of Spring Garden and Rocky Point. The farmers of Pender county are now busy at work in gathering their fine crops of peanuts, corn, cowpeas, rice, cotton and sweet potatoes. We learn that some of them will, in addition to these crops, enter next year upon the culture of tobacco.

Littell's Living Age.
The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending October 25th and November 1st respectively, contain the following articles: Dieppe, Church Quarterly; The Supreme God in the Indo-European Mythology; A New Picture of the Czar; The Problem of the Great Pyramid, Contemporary; Among the Druses in Syria, Blackwood; A Tragic Hyl of Modern Life, Madam Bonaparte; Egliston and Brignal; New Zealand Affairs; Is Wealth a Help to Popularity? Spectator; Tails, Nature; with an installment of Miss Keary's "Doubting Heart," the conclusion of "Letters of a German Gentlewoman of the XVth Century," and "Godfrey's White Queen," and the usual amount of Poetry.

The opening chapters of Mrs. Oliphant's new story, "He who will rot when he may," printed from advance sheets, appear in the number for November 1st.

Correction of War Records.
The "Three Years in Battle and Three Years in Prison," now being published by Capt. Shotwell, in the Farmer & Mechanic, is decidedly the best history of the war that has yet found its way into print. Capt. Shotwell contributes a chapter every week, and so thorough is his delineations, so compact the narration of facts, and so careful is he as to statistics, that his sketch is worthy of an exalted place in the history of the war, which we hope it may receive. Capt. Shotwell should, and probably will, publish it in book-form. If he should, we guarantee him in advance a handsome subscription in this "City by the Sea."

We have some personal knowledge of the events which he narrates; in the main they are very correct. It is only occasionally that there is a mistake, although so far as our observation has extended, those mistakes are immaterial. We only desire to correct one.

In speaking of the occupation of the forts, Capt. Shotwell says in his last issue:

Fort Macon, at Beaufort, was occupied on Monday by volunteers from Newbern and Goldsboro; Fort Johnson and Caswell, by four Wilmington companies, under Captains Stevenson, DeRosset, Meares and Volter; Col. J. L. Cantwell commanding.

The correction we wish to make is as follows:

Fort Johnson and Caswell were occupied by four Wilmington companies as follows: Wilmington Light Infantry, commanded by Capt. Wm. L. DeRosset; German Volunteers, commanded by Capt. O. Cornehlson; Wilmington Rifle Guards, commanded by Capt. O. P. Meares, and the Cape Fear Light Artillery, commanded by Capt. John J. Hedrick.

These corrections are slight ones, but we consider them necessary to a full and perfect history of the war.

Prof. Agostini proposes to give a rendition of "Aladdin," by the pupils of his dancing school in Charlotte, in a short time. The citizens of Charlotte have a treat in store for themselves.

The New Postal Card.
The postal card agent has received forty steel plates engraved with the design for the proposed two cent international card adopted by the postal union. It can be sent to all countries represented in the union, including about all of Europe, China, Japan, Brazil, etc. The design necessarily contains more printing than the present card and has a border something like the old one. At the top are the words: "Universal Postal Union," a little curved, and repeated in French in smaller type beneath. Then come the words in bold type: "United States of America," also repeated in French and then the line, in English only: "Write only the address on this side." The stamp is a well designed head of Liberty, surrounded by an elliptical border, with a figure '2' on each side and the words: "U. S. Postal Card" around it. The cards will begin to be issued early next month.

How to Split a Sheet of Paper into Three Parts.

We have often read that a sheet of paper can be split into three parts. Thus it is said that a piece of newspaper can be divided into three leaves—one consisting of the surface on which an engraving or cut is printed, one with the letter press, and a perfectly blank sheet between them. To those who are incredulous we commend the following experiment—which we have not tried:

Get a piece of plate-glass and place it on a sheet of paper, which must be thoroughly soaked. With care and a little dexterity the sheet can be split by the top surface being removed. But the best plan is to paste a piece of cloth or strong paper to each side of the sheet to be split. When dry, violently and without hesitation pull the pieces assunder, when a part of the sheet will be found to have adhered to one and a part to the other. Soften the paste in water and the pieces can be easily removed from the cloth. This process is generally demonstrated as a matter of curiosity, yet it can be demonstrated, and it can be utilized in many ways. If we want to paste in a scrap-book newspaper articles printed on both sides of the paper, and possess but one copy, it is very convenient to know how to detach one side from the other. Some time ago the information how to split paper in this manner was advertised to be sold for a considerable sum.

Personal.
Dr. M. J. DeRosset, son of Dr. A. J. Dr. Rosset, of this city, and very recently a practicing physician in Wilmington, is to remove to San Antonio, Texas. He is now and has been for about two years past a resident physician in New York City, where his extraordinary abilities as a specialist in eye and ear diseases has not only secured for him an excellent remunerative practice, but a reputation in his profession which is acknowledged and accepted by leading physicians in that city. Unfortunately, his health has become impaired during his residence there, and he has been compelled to remove to another and a softer climate. He goes to San Antonio under guaranties which will secure him a successful and profitable practice.

Dr. DeRosset is a native of this city and one whose whole soul is in his profession. When in preparation for the practice of medicine, he studied both in this city and in Europe. He is accounted one of the most thorough physicians and surgeons of the age, and is sure to make his mark wherever he goes, among strangers or friends.

Dr. DeRosset is one of the editors of the North Carolina Medical Journal, published in this city, and we trust that his removal will not interfere with his editorial labors on that publication.
