Magistrate's Court.

Willis Drake, the irrepressible shoemaker from Paddy's Hollow, was arraigned before a Magistrate this morning upon a peace warrant sworn out by the gentle and affectionate partner of his bosom, who declared in the affidavit that her lord and master had threatened her and she was therefore afraid of him. The defen_ dant was committed in default of a $50 the number of days, and divide by bond for his appearance at the next term | eighteen. of the Criminal Court.

Down the River.

The arrangements for the excursion tomorrow down the river to Smithville and the Forts on the steam yacht Passport have been completed and the manager informs us that the prospects are good for a fine attendance. There are many who will be glad to escape from the noise and confusion incident to the execution, sure as it is to draw largely from the country, and the Forts. and this will be an excellent opportunity to get away from it all. NEW YORK CITY, June 16, 1879. H. H. WARREN & Co.-GENTLEMEN-I hereby certify that my wife has been using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Oure for Bright's Disease, and she is now entirely recovered When all physicians' remedies failed, she was induced to try your remedy, and received beneficial results from the first bottle. After taking four bottles she was entirely cured.

Yours truly ROBERT B. FITZGERALD.

Sensible Canadian.

Mr. Gadbois, of Brockville, Canada, after being cured of a prostrating malarial disease contracted in Texas, by means of Warner's Safe Pills and Safe Bitters. writes to us: 'I shall never travel in that climate without your Safe Pills and Safe Bitters as a part of my outfit,"

The Dress Bail To-Nignt. The grand Dress Ball, given complimentary to the members of the L'Arioso and Lotus Clubs, promises to be the grandest affair ever given in this city. The venerable Commodore Myers and his able coadjutors have done nobly, and everything will move on as smoothly as could be desired Germania Hall has been most beautifully decorated under the supervision of one who has proven himself admirably qualified to beautify and decorate. We wish the 'Old Boyt" as much pleasure as they anticipate.

The Battle of New Orleans. To-day, (January 8th) is the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, which occurred this day s'xty five years ago January 8th, 1815, and was the last battle between this country and Great Britain. The battle was fought, indeed, after the ratification of the treaty of peace between the two countries, but, in those days, when there were no rapid means of conveying information, the news had not reached this country and the two opposing forces, the British under Sir Edward Packenham, and the American under General Andrew Jackson, fought in entire ignorance of the uselessness of further bloodshed. The result was fearfully disastrous to the British forces.

I he Condemned Man.

With to-morrow's sun will dawn the last day on earth for Allan Mathis, the condemned murderer who now awaits the execution of the law. As has been so often stated the execution will be strictly private so that people may as well stay at home and not besiege the jail as they will not be able to see anything at all of the execution.

The wretched man has been prepared for his doom. He has made a full confession of the deed. This confession was made to his spiritual advisor, Rev. C. O. Brady, of St. Mark's Episcopal church, and at his express desire will not be published until after his death. It will be found in the report of the execution as published in the REVIEW to-morrow after-

City Court. Edward Connor, colored, was arraigned for assault and battery inthat he threw a rock at Mills Donaldson, another colored boy. The Mayor fined the defendant $1 Mills Donaldson, who was a principal witness in the foregoing case, was next arraigned and convicted of the same charge preferred against the above named defendant, this last named defendant being convicted on his own testimony. The Mayor pronounced the same judgment as in the previous case, viz: $1 fine, which was paid in each case, and the little culprits allowed to depart.

A colored woman, arraigned for being drunk and disorderly, was released in consideration of its being the first offence. A long, awkward, gawkey, idiotic sort of youth was the next case on the docket. The charge preferred was disorderly conduct. The Mayor issued a sharp reprimand and then ordered his discharge.

Jack Smith, colored, charged with the larceny of a whiskey still, was the last case on the docket, but the case was continued until 3 o'clock this afternoon owing to the fact that the defendant was then in the custody of another officer to be tried before a magistrate.

"Vital Statistics of Wilmington."

We published in yesterday's Review f the purpose of correcting an erroneous impression which had gone abroad from this city by the incorrect published statement of a "party" (who did not get the efficial report in his statement), the total number of deaths within the city of Wilmington for the year 1879, according to the official yearly report of Dr. J. C. Walker, the Superintendent of Health for the total number given above, which nun street, between Second and Third. swelled the amount to 370 and made the death rate not quite 22 per thousand of the population, according to the Meares census of 17,000 souls The difference between the statement published in the REVIEW and the erroneous publication referred to above is 125 deaths or a little over 331 per cent. of the total mortality. These figures, we are assured by the highest authority upon the sub ject, is the correct statement of the mortality occurring in this ci y during the year 1879, with the single exception, that the death of the lamented Dr. King, who had changed his residence to New York and died in that city, was included in the deaths which occurred in Winnington, when in fact the remains were brought taffer and Jno L Dudley, matalled the

Now, to prove that the Superintendent of Health's report is the only accurate record from which to compile an article or statement of the kind, we will simply remark that of the 105 orders given Col. Jno. D. Taylor, Clerk the Auditing Committee of the Board of County Commissioners, for coffins, a majority, or a large proper, tion of the deaths which we find recorded in Col. Taylor's books have already been reported once to the Superintendent of Health by the physician in attendance when he makes his regular monthly re port to that official, consequently, it is not necessary to go to the Clerk of the Counby Auditing Committee, at all, for any information upon the subject. For no body can be buried without a certificate from some physician as to the cause of the decease. And then again we are credoly informed that many of those bodies which were furnished coffins by the county were not interred in the pauper burying ground, but were buried in Pine Forest and perhaps other cemeteries, so that, if we take Col. Taylor's list of coffins furnished by the county as the record for the number of interments in the Pauper's lot, as we believe the compiler of the incorrect published statement already referred to has done, we run the risk of counting the same interment twice when the number of interments in Pine Forest and other cemeteries is taken from the books of the secretaries of those Companies. Let us be more explicit. Suppose 10 of the 105 paupers who were buried in coffins furnished by the county were interred in Plue Forest Cemetery. Did not the compiler of this incorrect statement published last Friday and Saturday in this city, count the same ten twice? Clearly he did. But is the Secretary who furnishes the number of interments in company's lots responsible the error made by the piler of this incorrect report of the number of deaths in this city, published by the Star last Friday and again alluded to in an editorial in the same paper of last Saturday's date? By no means. And because, in the interest of our community, we correct the erroneous published statement and quote the only official authority there is upon this subject to substantiate our repor does it necessarily imply that we think the Secretaries of the different companies and Col. Taylor are incompetent persons for the duties that have been assigned them and which they are engaged in performing? We think not. We do not 'intimate' any doubt as to the 'reliability' of the Star's published report. But we do

But one word more. In the above estimates we have not deducted the interments of persons who came to their deaths by violence, which will amount to quite a respectable number and which should by no means be charged against the should properly be done, and we do not plainly and most emphatically assert that it is in incorrect, and we assert further that the same interments were counted twice, in some instances, in that report.

Now whose incompetency was that?

believe that the mortality will reach more than 20 to the thousand, instead of 29, which is very nearly 331 per cent less than published in the Star.

Fair and Festival. We are requested to New Hanover. This number we stated to state that these who may be inclined to be $62 and some possible eight or ten assist them by making onations of small paupers which were not included in the articles will please sail the solh yearly report. Warrock. Frank Lésile's Sunday Magazine for February Is one of the most attractive numbers that has yet been issued of this entertaining and edifying sublication, and well sustains its high reputation. The 128 pages are filled with delightful literature and are bright with some 100 beautiful engravings. The articles are on a variety of subjects, to suit all tastes, and will interest educated and cultivated minds as well as the most ordinary reader. Our space will permit a reference only to a few of the most noteworthy. 'The Case of the Rev William Tennent,' by Alfreton Hervey; 'Salt and Salt mines,' by Godfrey A Hudson; St Augustine, the Apostle of the English,' by Herbert Lee, and 'The Persecutions of the Huguenots,' by Alfred H Guernsey, are exceedingly interesting as is likewise the article on Magdalen Herbert, the mother of George Herbert, the 'Poet of the Temple.' The first of a series of papers, entitled 'The Children of the Bible, gives promise of becoming an unusually attractive feature. Mrs Augusta B Garrett has an admirable article. entitled 'Benedic Anima Mea,' a voluntary on sacred music. The department of fiction'is crowded with good things, and there are poems by Mrs Carrie L Pest, George Herbert, Rev E H Bickersteth, AustinGr ffin etc,etc Youthful readers will be delighted with the stories, 'Little Hinges,' 'The Lucky Prince, Wee-Wee,' etc; the former is the commencement of a new serial. There is a very abundant miscellany of the most entertaining and instructive character. 'Single copies are only 25 cents and the annual subscription $3. postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place.
