Fort Fisher Light.

The steamer Alanthus is at Fort Fisher taking away the lights and appointments of the Fort Fisher Light House, which was condemned by the government and closed on the 1st of the month. She is repainting and replacing the bouys on the river. The bouys which had dragged from their proper stations, have been securely anchored and now mark the channels correctly.

Georgia Enterprise.

We invite the attention of our readers to the communication published below relative to the herculean efforts being made by our sister State of Georgia to encourage and foster an enterprise by which the population, wealth and influence of that State may be materially increased, and her principal seaport, Savannah, occupy a competitive position with Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. We will simply state that the writer is a gentleman who has the interest of North Carolina deeply at heart, and has had a large experience in railroad enterprises, and whose opinions in such matters are worthy of profound consideration. With these prefatory remarks we give his communication, which is follows:
EDITOR REVIEW:

You have no doubt heard of the great contract concluded recently by and between the Central Railroad Company with its branches and leased lines and the Chattanooga, Nashville and St. Louis and Western and Atlantic railroads and the Ocean Steamship line from Savannah to New York.

This opens a great Western and Southern line of travel, with freight time fixed at four days and passenger time at thirty six hours, the distance being a trifle less than 900 miles. The business being to compete with the great Northern lines for New York and Western business; and within one year a European Steamship line, or lines, will be connecting Savannah and the South Atlantic with the European markets. This has mainly been brought about by Georgia enterprise and Georgia capital. Ex-Governor Joseph E. Brown, Col. Cole, of Nashville, and Col. Wadley, of the Georgia Central railroad, are the characters most prominently connected with the movement.

I was invited to the conference held in this city, (Savannah) to give them some information as to the future of Savannah's facilities for large Steamship navigation.
That being satisfactory, there seemed to be no difficulty in arranging a contract, guaranteeing the Central railroad stockholders six (6) per cent. on their stock for seven years, and seven (7) per cent. thereafter, to the termination of their charter, taking charge also of their debt, both principal and interest.

Your readers are aware (as you have announced it before) the great steamship line now owned by the Central railroad, which is making semi-weekly trips between Savannah and New York, consists of four of the finest vessels, of 2,250 tons each, that enters the harbor of the latter city. To these are to be added two others of a much larger tonnage, which will carry freight only, and will have a carrying capacity of 6,000 bales each. One of these is already in process of construction, and the other will be completed in season for the next cotton crop. This season this company has chartered as many as six large ocean steamers to carry freight from Savannah to New York, in addition to their own four. That is business!

That you may have some idea of the foreign business of Savannah, I will mention that I have counted as many as sixteen English steamers, of the largest tonnage, with a carrying capacity of from 5,- 000 to 7,000 bales of compressed cotton, loading at the wharves at one time.

This movement, while not in the direct interest of Wilmington, will ultimately be of much service to her in bringing Western business, by this great through line, under one management to a point or points so near your doors that you have but to step out to receive it. These points are Atlanta and Augusta, by your Carolina Central and W. C. and A. lines.
Why don't you look to your steamship lines?

But I have talked this long enough.
We did get up one ship, after much labor, and the enterprise was strangled. Let others work now. A steamship line to the West Indies, touching at this port would not be an unprofitable project in the near future.

I have occupied a few spare moments to-night in writing this synopsis of the news that is of the most interest to you and my other friends in Wilmington. If you cannot awaken them, don't let them sleep too soundly, when the South puts forth her strength in the great race for Western business.

Pocket Knives, Table Cutlery, Silver Plated Forks and Spoons; largest variety and lowest prices at JACOBI'S.

The New Light House.

The Bald Head Light House, which was re-established on the first instant, has proven itself to be of very great advantage to the pilots and vessels coming in and going out of port. The range lights on the beach are likewise appreciated by seafaring men, and are valuable assistants to pilots in bringing vessels in through the Seward channel.

Attention Ladies.

Some things entirely new in hair goods have very recently made their appearance in New York, and the Miss Karrer & Mc-Gowan have just received a fine selection of them. New patterns for embroidery have also been received, and the ladies are prepared to execute work at moderate prices and with dispatch. Read their advertisement in another column.

Charity Ball.

The Charity Ball, under the auspices of the Hebrew citizens of this city, last night was a success in every respect. The attendance was large and the receipts were gratifying to those who had the matter in charge. As was to have been expected a pleasant evening was spent, and those in attendance were well pleased with the Charity ball of 1880.

St. Valentine's Day D. terlorating.

St. Valentine's Day is not quite a month hence. In olden times it was the day when the birds began to mate, and the sentimental youth not many years ago used to take the opportunity which the day afforded of sending missives of love in rhyme to the fair maid of their choice.— But in these degenerate days anonymous couplets vent their spleen upon those whom they dislike of either sex by sending caricatures, accompanied frequently by sentiments and expressions neither polite nor chaste, which it would be well for the Post Office Department to prevent being transported through the mails.

The Festival.

We are glad to know that the festival last evening given, for the benefit of St John's Episcopal Church, under the auspices of a committee of the ladies of the parish, was well patronized and that they realized far more than they anticipated. The good things offered for sale were readily bought, and at an early hour of the evening they had sold out everything prepared for the occasion.
Had they but known that their efforts would have been so tangibly appreciated, greater quantities of eat-ables would have been prepared, and no doubt their cash receipts would have been doubled. As it was, the festival netted them a little over one hundred dollars.
They did nobly, worked hard, and today have the satisfaction of work well done and handsomely appreciated.

Rip Van Winkle.

Mr. Joseph Jefferson and his excellent troupe will appear in this city to-morrow night in his famous play of Rip Van Winkle. It has been many years since Mr. Jefferson favored the theatre-going public in this city with a performance, and as a mark of appreciation of his ability, the public will greet him in a manner which will no doubt be very gratifying. No man on the American Continent has the reputation of Joe Jefferson in his special character. He is the acknowledged Rip Van Winkle of the country, and every one who witnesses his rendition of his favorite character will undoubtedly be pleased. The members of this company are said to be well up in their parts and are different from the "sawdust" actors who usually follow a "Star" around the country in the vain hope of receiving praise on account of the leading actor. The lady who personates Gretchen is said to be a very fine actress, and is fully imbued with the Jeffersonian conception of the play of Rip Van Winkle.

The Lecture Next Friday.

Col. Duncan K. MacRae has signified his willingness to the Wilmington Library Association to deliver a lecture under the auspices of that Association, on Friday evening next, the 23rd inst., upon the subject of poetry; a fine theme and one that will be handled, no doubt, in a masterly manner. It will be observed that the time selected is Friday evening, and this will afford a fine opportunity for young masters and misses, who are engaged other evenings during the week in solving problems of prose, to attend, for there will be no recitations on the following day, Saturday. Those of older growth, who are fond of intellectual entertainments, will, of course, go any how.

Dr. J. E. Wiggins tested his ice machine this morning in the presence of many gentlemen, who were very much pleased with the result of his test. Ice was made in a very short time after the machinery was put to work.

More Subscriptions.

Major Young succeeded yesterday in swelling the amount of subscriptions to the canal enterprise to the amount of $3,- 000, and has as much more promised.
Keep the ball in motion. By the way, is the Chamber of Commerce moving in the matter? If not, when does that body propose to take the initial step?

When you are depressed by the gaunt, sickly feeling of a disordered system, which needs to be cleansed and stimulated into healthy action, take a dose or two of AYER'S PILLS and see how quick you Stoves at almost any price by going the
