Property at Point Caswell.

By reference to our advertising col nmns it will be seen that valuable property at Point Caswe I is offered for sale lease or rent. The store is admirably suited for a general country business and is so planned that a family can use a por-Lock out for Buttalo Bilt's street parade | tion of it as a residence. Those wishing a place of the kind would do well to com municate with Dr. Hawes.

Cities and Churches.

We publish elsewhere an article clipped from an exchange relative to "Cities and Churches" in which it is claimed that Brooklyn is no longer entitled to be called "The City of Churches," inasmuch as, while she has but one Church to every 1,721 inhabitants, Washington City has one for every 932, and is therefore entitled to the distinction. This we are prepared to dispute. There are in Wilmington, as near as we can ascertain now, 26 Churches, while the population, according to the Meares census, is 17,000. This would give one Church for every 650 inhabitants, and therefore, so as far as heard from, Wilmington, and not Washington, is entitled to the name.

Accident on the C. C. R. W.

An accident occurred last night on the C. C. R. W , by which five freight cars were wrecked but in which there was, fortunately, no loss of lifa. While crossing the low trestle a few miles this side of Abbottsburg some of the freight cars on the up-train jumped the track and thus broke through the trestle. No one was injured and the detention will be slight. Capt. V. Q. Johnson, the Superintendent of the Road, was on the train which came down last night from Charlotte and preparations were at once made by which a transfer was effected. The damages can hardly be very extensive as Capt Johnson estimates that the repairs will all be made and trains running as usual, within two days. In the meantime a transfer of passengers will effected at that point and the mail and passenger trains will arrive and depart on the regular schedule time.

History of the War.

e are glad to learn, as we do from a private source, that Captain R. A. Shotwell, who has been engaged for some menths past in writing an interesting historical sketch of the events just prior to and during the war, together with an autobiography of a very thrilling nature during the same period, thinks of extendsevere storms in places for the next three ing his narrative into the days of 'reconstruction. We trust that such may be the case, and, as has already been remarked in these columns, we hope the whole production, when finished, will be published in phamphlet form. In the mean time we advise all those who desire to read times and events in narrative form, to subscribe to Captain Shotwell's paper, the Farmer and Merhanic, published weekly in Raleigh. Subscription price only $2 a year or $1 15 for six months.

It is a happy idea and one which bids tain to be very successful. The rooms are very handsomely furnished and the gentlemen of the Club are unsparing in their efforts t . promote the pleasure of their guests,

Fire at the Sound.

We regret to learn that the barn and pea house of Mr. D. M. Fennell, of Middle Sound, was discovered to be on fire at about 1 o'clock this morning, and were totally consumed. Our informant could give us none of the particulars, which we much regret as we also do the loss which Mr. Fennell has sustained. It is probable that his entire crop of corn and peas, both of which had been housed, were burned with the buildings. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. We earn that there was an insurance of about $500 on the property, but in what com pany we are not informed We shall give full particulars as soon as they can be definitely ascertained.

Reform in Temperance and Profanity. A meeting will be held at the City Cour' room this evening for the purpose of forming an organization, the object of which shall be to induce people to try to abstain from the use of intoxicating beverages and profane language. Papers will be open for those who may desire to become members and workers in this laudable effort to suppress two of the prevailing sins in our midst, and it is hoped the meeting may be tully attended and a thorough interest awakened in the cause. After organization the members will be known to each other by a white badge attached to the lappel or in the button hole of the coat. It is proposed to have no regular place of meeting hereafter and thus avoid the expense usually attending such efforts. Those who become members will not be required to take positive pledge to abstain from these evils but will pledge themselves to try to abstain from both.

How to Sweep a Room.

To sweep and dust a room properly is an art, and, like all fine arts, has a right method. Well done, it renovates the entire room, and the occupant takes possession, feeling that 'all things have become new.' It is not merely a performance to be done by the hands, but a work into which taste and judgment, in other words, brains, must enter. Are there closets opening into the room to beswept? Arrange the shelves, drawers or clothing preparatory to sweeping day, then let this be the first to be swept. Cover the bed with solid sheets; an interesting history of those stirring as also all heavy articles that cannot be removed; first, however, having carefully dusted and brushed them. Remove all the furniture that can easily be set in the hall or adjoining room, having first dusted it; then taking a step-ladder, begin to sweep or brush, or wipe the cornices and picture cords and pictures. Draw the shades to the top of the window, or if there are inside b'inds, dust them carefully. Open the windows. All the dust This morning about two o'clock the left in the room now is in the carpet or. fire alarm was sounded, caused by the air, and the current of the windows will Now begin to sweep, not toward a door corner, but from the outer edges of the room toward the centre, where the dust will taken up with a small brush and dust pan Go over the room once more this time with a dampened broom; that removes the last bit or dust and rives the carpet a new, bright appearance. Reout the details Some will aweep the dust into the hall or from one room to another, and then wonder why their house is so and pictures and thus leave a seed of is as the finishing touches to a picture.
