would think unless he sauntered through the back streets.

The Charlotte Observer says: It is said that the company of amateurs who recently presented the operetta, "Little Red Riding Hood," in Wilmington, might be it deemed to come to Charlotte. There were over a hundred in the company, and the Wilmington papers report that it was the biggest thing of the season in that city.

all that is claimed for them, and, in fact, the most reliable they can find. For sale

Sale of Engine Horses.

The engine horses advertised in yesterday's Review for sale by Messrs. Cronly & Morris, were disposed of this morning at 12 o'clock, in front of the Market, for the whole sum of $95.50; one horse brought $79 and the other $14.50. The crowd in attendance was large but the horses had seen their best days in the service of the city and the "Little Giant" Steam Engine Fire Company. Hence the low price obtained for them.

Generous Little Children.

And now come the little children with their contributions to the suffering poor in famine-stricken Ireland. The tributaries offered by innocent children for the blessings bestowed upon this highly favored and prosperous country is touching indeed, and will be read no doubt by some of older growth with moistening eyes and a sort of inexpressible, softening kind of feeling somewhere within the breast.

The amount subscribed is $5, but the act is worth more than the money, and may be the cause, who knows? of twenty times the amount subscribed from another source. We give below the list as it has been handed to us. The children are some of the scholars in Miss Mary P.
Rothwell's school in this city:

Grateful for the blessings of Providence in our highly-favored country, we gladly contribute the enclosed amount for the relief of our fellow creatures in Ireland who are suffering the horrors of famine.

Supreme Court

The following cases from the Fourth District were called and disposed of in the Supreme Court on Tuesday: Wm. Griffin et al. vs Josephine Griffin, from Robeson; two cases; set for hearing at the end of the district for absence of counsel.

Duncan McFayden et al. vs. J. T.
Council et al., from Bladen; left open for report and order.

A. A. McLean et al. vs. John Patterson et al., from Columbus; set for hearing at the end of the district for want of counsel.

State vs Peter Leitch, from Robeson; set for hearing at the end of the district for want of Judge's statement.

David Murphy vs. Aaron McNeil, from Cumberland; argued by McRae and Broad-foot for the plaintiff, and Guthrie & Carr for the defendant.

Alrich Adrian vs. A. R. Carver et al., from Cumberland; argued by Hinds dale & Devereux for the plaintiff, and McRae & Broadfoot and B. Fuller for the defendants.

Sick Headache.

This complaint is the result of acting too much and exerting too little. Nine times out of ten the cause is, in fact, that the stomach was not able to digest the food last introduced into it, either from its having been unsuitable or in excess of quantity. A diet of bread and butter with ripe fruits or berries, with moderate, continuous exercise in the open air, sufficient to keep up a gentle perspiration, would cure almost every case in a short time. Two teaspoonfuls of powdered charcoal in half a glass of water, and drank, generally gives instant relief. We are inclined to think that the above remedies may do in some, but not in all cases. A sovereign remedy for this disease is not easily found. A correspondent contributes the following on this subject: Sick headache is periodical, and is the signal of distress which the stomach puts up to inform us that there is an alkaline condition of its fluids; that it needs a natural acid to restore the battery to its normal working condition. When the first symptoms of a headache appear, take a teaspoonful of lemon juice fit in minutes before each meal, and the same dose at bedtime; follow this up until all symptoms are passed, taking no other remedies, and you will soon be able to go free from your unwelcome nuisance. Many will object to this because the remedy is too simple, but I have made many cures this way.

Plenty of Water.

When the steamer North State left Fayetteville, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the river had risen between twelve and fourteen feet and was still slowly rising. This makes happy times for the navigators of the Cape Fear, and we may expect soon to see the tidally booms coming down with lots of timber and naval stores.

Heavy Weather.

Captain Doane, of the steamer Regulator, which arrived at her wharf in this city today from New York, reports that he had very heavy weather on the passage and that after he had sighted Hatteras light it was twenty-four hours before he got round the Cape on account of the severity of the gale. The Regulator suffered no damage, however, having rode through the storm excellently well.

New Building.

We were shown yesterday by Mr.
James F. Post, architect, a plan drawn by himself of a handsome new front which Messrs. Sol Bear & Bros. propose placing in the old State Bank building, but more latterly known as the First National Bank building, corner of Front and Princess streets. The building, when completed according to the plan which we have seen, will be an ornament to the street upon which it stands.

The South Atlantic.

The January number of this excellent magazine is at hand, although a little late in the season. It presents a choice table of contents. The leading article, the first paper in the magazine, is a very carefully considered and a very well-written article by Mr. Cicero W. Harris on two prominent questions of the day. Mr. Harris would do well, we think, to continue the subject. Prof. Von Jasmund, of this city, has a continuation of his article on great French statesman, Thiers, and Mr.
Appleton Oaksmith presents us with a beautiful poem, "Dust to Dust." There are several other admirable articles in this number which we would notice more in detail but that space forbids. The South Atlantic is published in this city by Mrs.
Cicero W. Harris at $3 a year.

Tried by Jury Before a Magistrate.

A retail liquor dealer on North Water street was arraigned before a Magistrate yesterday and tried by a jury for neglecting to give in the total amount of purchases as required by law on the 1st of January, 1880. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the court sentenced the defendant to pay a fine of $50 and the costs in the case. From this decision the defendant took an appeal to the Criminal Court and furnished bond in the sum of $100 for his appearance at that time.

The same party was arraigned to-day before the same Magistrate for refusing to exhibit his books to the Register of Deeds after having been notified to do so by the proper authority in writing. This, like the preceding case, was tried by a jury and a verdict of guilty rendered.
The sentence of the court in this case was a fine of $25 and costs. Counsel for defense then asked until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to decide whether he would take an appeal to the Criminal Court or not, which request was granted and defendant recognized in the sum of $50 to appear at that hour.

The Lecture Last Night.

The attendance at the Opera House last night to listen to the gifted Carolinian, Col. D. K. MacRae, in his lecture upon the subject of Poetry, was even larger than the last audience which greeted the same speaker some two weeks since.
The lecture last evening disclosed more profundity of thought, besides greater labor and research than the preceding one, while the eloquent lecturer's manner and recital seems to improve, like wine, with age. We do not mean to attempt a criticism or review of the masterly production, for nothing short of vanity, we think would prompt any one who has not the scholarly attainments, and few of those we know who have them, of the distinguished speaker, to undertake the task. Some there are who have heard Col. MacRae a whole series of lectures who pronounce the effort last night superior, in their judgment to any he has yet made in the field of lectures, with the exception, perhaps, of his gorgeous lecture upon "Genius and Talent." But be that as it may all who attended last night were highly delighted as well as gratified and, like Oliver Twist, still cry for more.

CAPCINE
POROUS PLASTER

A WORD TO THOSE WHO USE POROUS PLASTERS. It is a well known fact that BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS ARE SUPERIOR TO ALL OTHERS.
The great demand for them has caused a number of unscrupulous persons and self-willed impostors to assume similar sounding names. As the market is flooded with inferior plasters of this kind at any price it is important for the consumer to know which is the best. It is well known that some of the cheap plasters have been examined and found to contain injurious ingredients which make them dangerous to use, causing paralysis and other diseases. CAUTION—See that the word CAPCINE on each plaster is correctly spelled. Price 25 CENTS.
