New Things for Easter.
With the approach of Spring human nature looks forward to new scenes and pleasures and in order to satisfy the joyous anticipations, of the ladies of this community, Mr. Julius Hahn has visited the Northern markets and made selections of Spring goods in all varieties and shades from unbroken stocks. Being among the first of Southern merchants to visit the marts of purchase, he has been able to select the prettiest and most fashionable of dress goods, and has also a full line of fringes, trimmings and buttons. He says he can match any piece of goods in this city in shade and quality in fringes, trimmings and buttons. He is now receiving his stock, which was purchased during the last ten days, and will open his store to the public on Monday next. He has rented and entirely refitted the handsome store in the Carr building on Market street. In opening his new store he has bought everything new for it—from a paper of pins to the most elegant silks. He will have no old stock, and proposes to offer to the citizens of this city and surrounding country a most complete stock of purely dress and fancy goods. He will strive to make his establishment second to none in North Carolina and will offer goods at such prices as will astonish the natives.

City Court.

The Mayor held an unusually large levee this morning, the Court room being quite crowded, but mostly with citizens of African descent, which is usual on such occasions whenever any case of importance is to be tried, and no matter the time of day, nor the length of time consumed to have ample leisure to enable him to endure the tediousness of the case.

Charles Legeier, charged with disorderly conduct, was the first case called and was disposed of by the defendant paying the costs.

A party for committing a nuisance in the public streets was fined $5 and costs. The third and last case on docket was the one which excited most interest, and when the name of George Wright, alias George Myers was called, a small man with black skin, kinky hair and with no shoes on his feet, came out of the prisoner's dock and appeared at the bar of the Court, the crowd at this time gathering closer to the railing, and all eyes were turned to see the man who was arraigned upon the serious charge of house breaking, which is classed in the Criminal Code of this State, where the house broken into is a dwelling, as was the case in this instance, as burglary, with the penalty in case of conviction of punishment by death.

Mr. Solicitor Moore, as is customary with that gentleman in matters of this kind, was on hand to examine witnesses for the State.

Mr. D. C. Davis, who resides on Third, between Bladen and Harnett streets, and the party whose house was robbed, was the first witness called to the stand, and he testified in substance that early yesterday morning, just before day, he was awakened by his wife, who aroused him and told him that some one was in the house. Leaping up at once he bolted into the outer room, where the burglar was rifling the pockets of his clothes, but the noise of his coming disturbed the thief who darted out of the door closely pursued by Mr. Davis; reaching the yard Mr. Davis saw the thief dodging in some shrubbery, but before he could reach him the villain made good his escape from the premises, leaving a pair of pan's which he had taken, in the corner of the fence. The alarm was given by Mr. Davis, who was joined by his brother-in-law, Mr. Turley, and they both continued the chase after the robber in their night clothes, running him through an alley near by, when several policemen, just off duty who were wending their way homeward, heard the alarm and joined the chase. The thief disappeared by jumping fences, first one way and then another, until he was headed off by Officer J. L. Williams and Mr. Eugene C. Allen, who caught him in Love's Alley.

Mr. Davis stated further that the thief had taken from his breeches pocket a bag containing coin, mostly silver to the amount of $11 32, besides a gutta percha match box, and a little leather case; that in the bag mentioned was seven half dollars and one silver dollar, besides other small coin, including a good many silver three cent pieces. The witness stated also that his vest had been rifled and among other things of an old copper coin of the date of 1790 or 1791. The bag taken therefrom was found in possession of the prisoner when he was caught and was produced and opened by the Solicitor and the contents emptied upon a table, including seven silver half dollars and one silver dollar and also numerous three cent pieces, all as described by the witness before the contents of the bag were shown in Court; a gutta percha match box and a small leather case were also produced, which Mr. Davis identified as his property. The witness was then asked if the prisoner at the bar was the man whom he gave chase to on his premises yesterday morning and he said that he was.

Officer J. L. Williams and Mr. Eugene C. Allen both testified that the prisoner at the bar was the man they arrested in Love's alley yesterday morning about five minutes past 6 o'clock. Officer Williams also testified that they took from his person when he was searched at the Guard House a bag containing silver coin, a gutta percha match box, a little leather case and an old copper coin which was not in the bag with the other money; also one shoe, which was stuck in the prisoner's left coat pocket. Other witnesses were called but the evidence offered was of minor importance compared with the testimony of Mr. Davis, officer Williams and Mr. Allen. Harriett Hubbard, a light colored woman, was examined as a witness, and testified in effect that the defendant married her daughter, and that he and his wife occupy the same building with herself, though their rooms are divided off from each other. Witness being asked what time the defendant left home yesterday morning, said she got up before day and looked out, when she heard George, the defendant, up in his room talking with his wife, saying that he was going after some wood. Also heard his wife say to him, 'Ma has some wood and she will let you have some,' adding 'don't you go out of this house to-day, for if you do you will repent it the longest day you live;' could not identify the shoe, though George had new shoes at home which he had worn just like that.

Officer Kendrick, who served the warrant on defendant, testified that when he asked the prisoner what his name was he replied that he registered and voted as George Myers. When asked if he didn't register and vote as George Wright also he replied in the affirmative. The defendant, who had no counsel, was always asked by the Mayor before the witness quitted the stand if he wished to ask any questions. Sometimes he availed himself and at other times he did not, but in every instance whenever he spoke he tried to make a statement to clear himself though he acknowledged being on Mr. Davis' premises, but said he went in to fasten the gate, and that in jumping the fence he lost his shoes (this was the way he happened to be barefooted) and on the fence he found the one shoe then in Court with the bag and money in it. The prisoner was frequently warned by the Solicitor that it would be best not to make a statement as it might be used against him at the trial, but through ignorance we suppose, whenever he went to ask questions of a witness the prisoner invariably said something which would incriminate himself.

After the examination of all the witnesses His Honor ordered the defendant to be committed into the custody of the Sheriff without bail for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court. This finished the docket and the Court adjourned.

We neglected to say in the proper place that Mr. Davis stated, while on the witness stand, that the entrance to his dwelling on the night or morning of the burglary was made by a bolt on a lattice door being forced back with some sharp instrument, leaving the print of the instrument on the door. A screwdriver which was found on the person of George Wright, alias George Myers, was then produced in Court and Mr. Davis testified that in all probability that was the very tool used as he described.

Early Vegetables.
For some time past some of our citizens have been eating lettuce and radishes, but to-day tomatoes and watermelons were offered for sale in this market. Kale, onions, etc., have been in market for some time past, and in a few days new Irish potatoes and green peas will be in market. Can Charleston, Newbern or Norfolk beat us in early vegetables?
