

The Daily Review

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1880.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

VIEWS AND REVIEWS.

Up to 1841 the London theatres were closed for dramatic performances on Wednesdays and Fridays in Lent. They are closed now only on Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

Mr. Judah P. Benjamin, the new counsel for the 'claimant,' has expressed himself as confident of proving the innocence of his client, and the truth of certain new evidence recently discovered.

The present equipment of the Cincinnati Southern Road is 40 locomotives, 22 passenger coaches, 2 smoking cars, 10 baggage cars, 25 caboose cars, 500 box cars, 200 stock cars, 200 coal cars and 200 flat cars.

At the Shrove Tuesday celebration, in the Dublin Mansion House, the Lady Mayoresse tossed a pancake before the company. She failed in her first attempt and, according to a time-honored custom, forfeited a sovereign to the head cook.

The Italian Government, alarmed at the increase in the emigration from the Peninsula to an average of fully 130,000 persons annually, has issued a special circular to the prefects, recommending 'stronger measures' to stop the stream than hitherto adopted.

Some sanitary reforms are really being effected in Memphis. All the rotten wood pavement which is believed to hold the germs of yellow fever, is being replaced by stone; a new system of sewerage will be completed, before hot weather, and the Health Board possesses greater power, than heretofore.

The famous museum of Boulgoin, which so many interesting remains of ancient Egypt are preserved, is threatened with destruction. The Nile has already begun to undermine its walls, although a few years ago an attempt was made to divert the current by surrounding the building with a solid stone embankment.

To convince his Mohammedan neighbors of his friendly feeling, the Czar has granted them permission to erect a mosque at St. Petersburg. It will be situated in the central part of the city, near the Newski Perspective in Tolerance street, where there are already a number of edifices belonging to religions tolerated nowhere else in the empire.

Religious benevolence in Brooklyn takes the shape of a moral coffee house for the sailors of the navy yard. Meals, lodgings, innocent games and edifying religious exercises will be among the attractions. It is a fact not generally known that Brooklyn, with its miles of water front, its docks, navy yard and immense shipping business has not one house for the accommodation of sailors on temperance principles.

The Voltairre asserts that Don Francis of Assisi, ex-King of Spain, could not be induced to go to Madrid on the occasion of Alphonso's marriage with Mercedes, the daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, except by the payment of a large sum of money by the latter. It now transpires that it cost a still larger sum to keep him away from Madrid on the occasion of the second marriage of his son.

The Westminster Review reckons the public debts of the world at the present time at $24,000,000,000. The railway indebtedness has been estimated at $6,000,000,000, and municipal debts at $5,000,000,000, thus bringing the public indebtedness of the world up to the vast sum of $35,000,000,000. It is not expected that this will ever be paid, but it constitutes an annual lien on the industry of the world of $1,700,000,000.

The French dressmakers in London have come out in a strong protest against the Irish poplin introduced by the Duchess of Marlborough at the Irish court, and partially introduced at the Queen's drawingroom by the advocacy of a benevolent Marchioness. The great objection to Irish poplin, as alleged by the Mme. Mantalini, resides in the narrow width of the stuff. It is soft and lustrous beyond all comparison with the poplin of Lyons make. 'It is exquisite in tone and color,' says Mme. Mantalini, 'but cuts to waste from its narrowness; and English milliners are not like the French—they do not love extravagance in dress.' The Lyons manufacturers have been enabled to make their dull, lustreless article almost double the width of the Irish poplin.

Maine News.

Hop Bitters, which are advertised in our columns, are a sure cure for ague, biliousness and kidney complaints. Those who use them say they cannot be too highly recommended. Those afflicted should give them a fair trial, and will become thereby enthusiastic in the praise of their curative qualities.—Portland Ad.

The Petersburg Index-Appeal expresses itself as heartily glad of the repeal of the Moffett register law. It says that the trouble consisted, not in a lack of enforcement but in the law itself. The expense of the register proved too great for the amounts which could be realized from it.

That was a very good thing gotten off by the Charleston News and Courier in its Thursday's issue. In speaking of the "Game of Fifteen," otherwise known as the "Gem Puzzle" and the "Boss Puzzle," it asserts that Mr. Hayes is one of the few men in the country who do not like it. As 8 and 7 make 15 he (Mr. Hayes) regards the puzzle as a new and torturing device of the ubiquitous and indefatigable Tilden.

Judge Fowle, in reply to a letter of inquiry, has expressed himself as in favor of the sale of the Western North Carolina R. R. He thinks that the completion of the road to Paint Rock is assured in any event, but that there is a fear that the Bucktown line will be abandoned unless a sale of the road is made, and he is therefore in favor of selling the road upon the best terms the Legislature can obtain, but urges that in doing so special care should be taken that the guarantees are sufficient to compel the completion of the Ducktown line.

This is all well enough as far as it goes, but where are the guarantees? They are certainly not visible in the bill drawn by Mr. Best and his associates and so heartily approved by the Governor and his Council.

THE LAND OF STEADY HABITS

It happens, occasionally, that the New York Sun can withhold its comments upon the terrible wickedness of the South and leave us awhile in peace, while it turns its attention to other localities. It is barely possible that its animadversions upon this noted section of the country may be suppressed altogether for awhile, as a continuance in such a course of abuse as has been frequent with that journal might jeopardize the chance of Mr. Tilden for the Presidential nomination. It is now very evident that the Sun is working in his interest, (a fact which we have spoken of on previous occasions,) and, consequently, it could not indulge in any language that would have a tendency to thwart his ambitious prospects. The Sun is very well aware that the South is almost solid against Mr. Tilden, and it will have to labor zealously to overcome the dislike to its own mutterings, before it can hope to be of any assistance to Mr. Tilden's aspirations. To accomplish this the most effectually, it has very wisely ceased its abuse of the South and sought a new field nearer home for its censure.

It would not be the Sun unless it was abusing somebody or something. Connecticut has recently claimed its especial attention, and a recent issue pays its respects to that State in the following characteristic language: It is understood that the Rev. Herbert H. Hayden will suspend his course of lectures on "Circumstantial Evidence" long enough to stand a second trial for the murder of Mary E. Stannard. Years ago Connecticut used to take pride in the name of the "Land of Steady Habits." It boasted of its magnificent common school fund, which enabled all its sons and daughters to learn to read, write, cipher, and commit the Westminster Catechism to memory. The Congregational clergy were called "the standing or e. r." and were supported mainly by taxation. All the people went to meeting twice every Sunday; and it was reported by scoffers that on their return from Divine service the deacons were accustomed to whip their cider barrels for working during their absence. Connecticut is losing caste. One clergyman is about to be tried the second time for poisoning and cutting the throat of his mistress. One clergyman's wife is under indictment for blowing out the brains of her husband. One aristocratic church member has recently escaped by the skin of his teeth an indictment for poisoning his wife. Two zealous members of another church were for a long time convicted and sentenced for embroiling their dwellings with elegant furniture stolen from the houses of their neighbors. It is a about a year since a man and woman of good repute, who were especially active at church fairs and Sunday school celebrations, were sent to the State prison for life, the former for poisoning his wife, the latter for poisoning her husband. The double crime was committed in order that the guilty pair might continue their unlawful intimacy undisturbed by the gossip of spies and suits for divorce. Indeed, so prevalent has the poisoning mania become in Connecticut that the learned Professors at Yale College have to spend much of their time in analyzing the stomachs of citizens of that State who have been put to death by their fellow citizens. Alas! for the Land of Steady Habits.

If the Sun is anxious and determined to expose the wickedness of the country, we are confident that there are other States in the North to which it might turn its attention without fear that the territory would soon be exhausted, or all the sin exposed. There is a fruitful field in that section, and the Sun can well afford to 'give us a rest,' while for a season it shines upon those benighted and sinful localities.

True success results from true merit. Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is placed before the public, relying solely on its own merits. Its success is already indisputable.

HOONSHINE

The baggage-master of the Central Pacific Railroad says that he recently saw a Chinese cigar manufacturer pasting labels on his boxes on which was printed, "The Chinese Must Go." Asking the Chinaman what he did that for, the reply was, "Send let man be read that, buy the box, smoke my cigar."

Too bad! The New Yorker—Well, I declare! Here I've been and give six guineas for a new dress to keep up the respectability of the 'ouse, and here's mis-us, in a dowdy thirty-shill-'n' ulster's comin' from that there 'Ladies' Co-operative Economical Millinery Association'!—London Punch

I am past 60 years old, and every now and then I meet a relic who knew me forty-five years ago, and remembers some devilry I was guilty of then. Ain't it strange how tenacious the memory is of these things, and how weak it is of anything good a fellow may have accidentally done?—Josh Billings.

It is stated that a man of German descent, living in Lancaster, Pa., can drink eighty glasses of beer in one day. But can he pay for 'em? When a man can achieve such a bibulous feat, the probabilities are that he hasn't enough money to buy a loaf of bread to keep his children from starving.—Norristown Herald.

Accommodating Lady Visitor—"Can you tell me whether there is a circulating library in the town?" Native—"First turning on the left, miss; our new stores, miss; I be him-plugging theer; circulation' library, pork butchers, hironmongers, chemists, lunkit matronomical hegemony, and undertakers; we ud be mo't 'appy ter git yer a usband, or bury yer, miss, most 'appy." [Exit L. V., rapidly.] London Fun.
