

The Daily Review

JOSEPH T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

MONDAY, MARCH 15, 1880.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT WILMINGTON, N. C., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

WILL ACCEPT AND WILL NOT ACCEPT.

It having been stated in the Washington Post, as the result of the interview of a correspondent of that paper in Utica, N. Y., that Gov. Seymour would run for President as the nominee of the Democratic party, provided the nomination was forced upon him, the New York World, of Saturday's date, publishes a denial of the fact. Immediately upon the appearance of the above statement the World telegraphed to Utica whether there was any foundation for such a statement and received in reply the following:

Utica, March 12. To the Editor of The World. As requested by you, I have called upon Governor Seymour and asked him if it is true that he has any person in any interview said that his name might go before the next National Democratic Convention as a Presidential candidate. He states in reply that he has no recollection whatever of any conversation on the subject with any one in which he could have conveyed any such impression or idea. He has never in any way expressed or entertained the idea of allowing his name to be presented to the people as a candidate for the Presidency again, nor will he allow it to be used under any circumstances whatever.

As will be seen these statements are directly in conflict with each other but it should be borne in mind that not one word has yet appeared over Gov. Seymour's signature. This will leave the matter, of course, just where it was before, with the chances that the World is right. We would like to see Herratio Seymour the nominee of the Democrat party as we believe that his nomination would be a guarantee of the success of the ticket. There is but little, if any, doubt of his ability to carry his own State and that, too, by a tremendous majority. New Yorkers claim that he would get at least 75,000 majority there and it is almost equally sure that Connecticut and New Jersey would go with New York.

These are, of course, pleasant anticipations to indulge but they are based upon one contingency and that is, Gen. Seymour's willingness to accept the nomination. There is no doubt, we think, that this nomination would be tendered were he only to express his willingness to accept it. But, time is passing and we think that some steps should be taken, and at once, to solve this question for ever and ever. The best way would be for a committee of influential Democrats, say members of Congress, to visit Mr. Seymour at his home in Utica and at once urge upon him an expression to the people of the country over his own signature. If he consents, so much the better for the party, but if he declines, then it will be well for us all to know it so that we may waste no more ammunition by firing in the air, but at once concentrate all of our efforts towards the nomination of the next most available man.

THE CALLED SESSION.

The Legislature meets in called session today for the purpose of considering Mr. Best's proposition for the sale of the Western N. C. R. R. The result of their deliberations cannot, of course, be predicted with any degree of certainty, but we are inclined to the belief that the road will be sold although it will not be on the terms contained in the Best bill. Our opinion is that very little of that instrument, besides the title, will be left of it eventually.

The bills which Col. Dortch will introduce, and which we published on Saturday last, will, we trust, meet with a careful consideration. We can understand, we think, Col. Dortch's motives in preparing those bills. If the first can be passed in lieu of the sale bill, all well and good; if it cannot, then the second is to be brought forward and its passage urged. Acting upon this hypothesis we have no hesitation in saying that we cordially endorse the propositions. If one road is to be sold then sell all, apply the proceeds to the relief of the State in her indebtedness and take such vexed questions out of politics forever. We do not believe that the Western N. C. R. R. will be saved to the State. It must be sold or a fearful disruption in the party will be the result. The West is clamorous for the sale, almost to a man, and they will carry the day; if they do not the East will be charged with having opposed the interests of the West and then, farewell to the hopes of a Democratic success next Fall.

These facts, we are forced to believe, have been foreseen and carefully considered by Gov. Jarvis and his associates and with a fearful deliberation they have placed the Democratic party in this State in the most embarrassing position it has occupied since 1870.

The road must be sold—it is necessary for the vitality of the party that it should go—and there is no concealing or denying this fact. The only thing that now remains to do, so far as the sale of the road is concerned, is to get the best price, the best terms and the best guarantees possible. When the Western North Carolina question has been disposed of, let the Legislature turn their attention to Col. Dortch's other bill, and after that let them go home.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 12, 1880

No appropriation bills have been reported this week, but several are ready. They will be sent in rapidly and in such form, probably, that little debate can be had on them. The number of Federal election supervisors and Special Deputy Marshals will be reduced, but no effort made to withhold their pay.

The radials are so desperately anxious for political capital that I think they would move amendments to the Ten Commandments if offered by a Democrat in the House or Senate. One of the ablest of them, Senator Carpenter, the other day said Grant's nomination might be necessary because Gen. Schofield, Terry, and Getty had declared that General Fitz John Porter was an innocent man. The subtle intellect of the Senator detected treason in this, and raised the bloody shirt and the third term. In the House 'disloyalty' is charged against Democrats who favor a bill to enforce the Civil Service reform ideas of Mr. Hayes. There has never been any such thing for gory debate than that which now troubles the Radicals. It is aggravated by an intense desire of the respective friends of Grant and Blaine to draw first blood. Grant's friends got ahead on the Fitz John Porter case, already mentioned, but it is a negro should happen to die in the South under suspicious circumstances I shudder to think how the Senate Chamber would echo to Blaine's tremendous eloquence. Grant has more and able supporters in the Senate than Blaine has, but J. B. is a devilish sly—and has more resources than all the Cookings, Carpenters and Gomers in Christendom.

The Indian question presents itself. At this particular time in crisis Congress centers upon those Indians who are known as the Indian Territory, and an attempt is being made to devise a scheme by which that immense tract may be made useful to all citizens. That it must in time lose its distinctive character, as Utah must, is not doubted by anybody. But Congressmen naturally hesitate, however great the necessity, to adopt measures which may have to some the appearance of interference with existing rights. The sooner provision is made for the inevitable the better for all concerned. Better for the Indian, because if gradual and peaceful and legal preparation is made for the coming change the rights of property of the Indians in the Territory remain and will receive the protection of law. Better for the whites because it is better, always has been and always will be better, for the stronger, in their dealing with the weaker to be governed by recognized law than by mere force.

Apothecary.—You want this prescription filled, sir; I understand. Patrick—Divil a bit of it, sur! It's the bottle I wud have filled.

In the international canal card game DeLesseps holds spads, backed by France's diamonds and other wealth, while America holds in clubs.

English girls never wear short dresses to let pretty feet be exposed to view. Perhaps, though, if wearing short dresses would accomplish that result they'd do it.

An Illinois justice, who was called upon to marry a couple, ran off with the girl and wedded her himself, leaving the lover in his office to look over law books and spit on the stove.

'Civilization,' says Mr DeLesseps, 'goes on two legs. One leg is man, the other woman.' This is very neat. But when the man steps around the corner to chew a clove with a neighbor, civilization may be said to limp.

'My son is a good boy and would succeed in life, but he won't make an endeavor, said a fond parent to his neighbor. 'What, no endeavor?' 'Well, hardly endeavor.' Their pistols were discharged at each other simultaneously, with fatal effect.

Dr. Mott's Endorsement of Speer's Port Grape Wine.

The following, from the celebrated Dr Mott of New York, speaks wonders for Mr. Speer's efforts to raise the Oporto Grape in New Jersey:

62 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, April 11, 1878. MR. ALFRED SPEER.—Dear Sir: The visit which I made last year to your Vineyards, wine-presses and vaults at Passaic, N. J., satisfied me thoroughly that the wines manufactured by you are pure and unadulterated, and the very best that can be offered to the public for medicinal uses. Acting upon my favorable impressions at the time, I have since recommended the Port Wine more particularly in my practice, and am satisfied, with marked benefit, to my patients. There can be no better proof to the doubting mind, as to the Wine being made of the finest Oporto Grape, than a visit to the acres of land covered with the vine bearing the luxuriant fruit. Wishing you success in your praiseworthy enterprise, remain respectfully yours, ALEX. B. MOTT, M. D., Prof. of Surgery, Bellevue Hosp. Med'l College, &c., &c. For sale by J. C.
