The Festival.

The Mite Society of St. James' Church will hold their Festival to-morrow evening at the City Hall. Ladies who have kindly promised contributions are requested to send them in on Thursday morning. The admission to the Festival will be free and the members of the Society will be pleased to welcome all of their friends and acquaintances.

Local Traditions.

We referred, in Monday's issue, to the fact that Col. Jas. G. Burr would read a paper at Society Hall this evening before the Historical and Scientific Society. We have since learned that Col. Burr has selected as his subject 'Local Traditions of Wilmington' and that the public are invited. No one among us is better able to handle such a subject and those who wish an hour of pleasant entertainment will attend.

Death of Mr. Batley.

Mr. John O. Bailey, an old and highly esteemed resident of this city, a member of the firm of Hart, Bailey & Co., died at his residence in this city at half past 1 o'clock this morning of paralysis, in the 62d year of his age. Mr. Bailey had been sick for some eighteen months past and latterly had been considered as beyond recovery and therefore his death was not unexpected. He was a native of Sweden, but for more than a quarter of a century past had resided in Wilmington. He was a member of Cape Fear Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., and his remains will be accompanied to the grave to-morrow afternoon by the members of that order in this city.

Opera House.

The entertainment given at the Opera House last evening, for the benefit of St. John's Church, was exceedingly pleasant and gave such general satisfaction that we doubt not that a repetition will be asked for. A large audience was in attendance, and their approbation was demonstrated by the frequent and prolonged encores. The tableaux were well conceived and most admirably put upon the stage. The reading of Shamus O'Brien, by Mr. Berry Gleaves, was fine and was well received. Mrs. Kahnweiler sang several of her favorite songs, and was compelled to answer an encore. Mr. George Myers' rendition of 'The Fine Ould Irish Gentleman' was immense, and in answer to prolonged and hearty encores, he sang a humorous song of his own composition. The cornet duet played by Messrs. James W. Wilson and D. B. Mitchell was excellent and the pieces played by the Sextette Club were very fine. The Wax Figures purchased from the estate of the late lamented Mrs. Jarley were fine and added much to the other attractions. The entertainment was a complete success and Mr. Gleaves should feel himself amply repaid for the trouble to which he had been placed in getting it up. But one more word. Let's have it again.

Good for Wilmington—If True.

We hear that a rumor is in circulation on the streets in Columbia, S. C., that the W. & W. R. R. and W. C. & A. R. R. Companies are about to purchase the Greenville and Columbia R. R., which, commencing at Columbia, runs through one of the finest cotton producing countries, for a distance of 143 miles, that there is in South Carolina. Greenville, which is the terminal point at the other end of the road, is 143 miles distant from Columbia and immediately on the Air-Line Railroad, between Charlotte and Atlanta. This line will give Wilmington easy communication with Atlanta, and place us in intercourse with a fine productive country, which we doubt not, under the able management of Mr. A. Pope, the General Freight Agent of the two roads above mentioned, will develop a nice business for our little city by the sea.

In the event of the consummation of this trade, as suggested by the rumor referred to above, we may expect to see our foreign cotton trade, by direct shipment, largely increased. Wilmington is certainly capable of handling a large amount of cotton for foreign shipment. We have three of the finest cotton presses anywhere at work on the South Atlantic Coast, and besides these we have other facilities for a large shipping trade. Our Bar and River improvements have given us an additional advantage over what we enjoyed in former years; with nearly or quite 18 feet of water on the Bar, we can compete quite successfully with our neighbors on the South as well as the North of us. After all we don't know, if we can succeed in making this connection, but that we can very well afford to stop weeping over the East Iniquity, albeit that does not lessen the monstrosity of the act of expropriating a million and a half of dollars of the people's property to a shrewd syndicate of Yankee speculators.

Dr. Samuel Langdon.

We adverted yesterday to the death, on the 18th inst., at Stockton, Cal., of this distinguished physician, a native of Wilmington, but for many years a resident of the former city, and to-day append from many notices published in the California press, a few selections indicative of the love and esteem which had surrounded him in his adopted home. The Stockton Daily Mail says:

If Dr. Langdon had lived he would have seen a fifty-eighth birthday to-day. He came to California in 1849 and rose high in the profession as soon as he commenced to practice it. Many families felt that they were not safe unless Langdon visited them occasionally, whether any of them were sick or not. In extreme cases he was the last resort. No physician who ever practiced in Stockton was so popular, and he was the doctor, above all others, whom the poor man sought, for he seldom or never pressed a bill for payment. A leading druggist says that he frequently saw Langdon pay for medicines which were put up for impecunious patients.

MEETING OF PHYSICIANS.

At a meeting of the San Joaquin County Medical Society, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, A distinguished member of the 'San Joaquin County Medical Society' has this day been removed from our midst by the mysterious call which all must obey;

Resolved, That in the death of Dr. Samuel Langdon this Society has lost one of its most accomplished and esteemed members; the medical profession a veteran learned in its science by long study, and skilled in its practice by large and varied experience; and the members of an extended community, who have looked confidently to him for relief in the hour of sickness and distress, have been deprived of able and efficient services, ministered with a self-sacrificing humanity and a professional devotion which have found no limit but in the final untimely sacrifice of his own health and life.

Resolved, That this Society and the members of our profession in this city and county here represented, in token of their respect and sorrow, do attend the funeral of the deceased, in a body, at St. John's Church (Episcopal), at a quarter before three o'clock p. m., on Friday, the 19th inst.

Resolved, That we extend our heart-felt sympathy and condolence to the bereaved relatives of the deceased, especially to his aged mother in a distant State, and to his surviving brother and family in this city, whose home has been made a place of mourning and distress by this sad dispensation.

CITY COUNCIL.

The following tribute to the memory of Dr. Langdon was paid at a meeting of the Stockton City Council:

Mr. Oullahan said an event had occurred in Stockton to day that carried sadness to many hearts. A man, a member of the medical profession, a man of distinguished ability, a man of broad charity and disinterested benevolence, a man of noble attributes of character, a good citizen, had taken his farewell of terrestrial scenes. He referred to the death of Dr. Samuel Langdon. Mr. Oullahan paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of the deceased gentleman, and thought it would be appropriate for the Council to take some official action in recognition of the prominent virtues and eminent services of a representative man and a distinguished citizen. He moved that a committee of five, including the Mayor, be appointed to draw up and submit to the next Council, appropriate resolutions of respect to the memory of Dr. Langdon. He desired that the Council would at least pay to the memory of the deceased that compliment. The motion to appoint a committee was put to the Council and carried without a dissenting voice.

The Mayor appointed Councilmen Oullahan, Ruggles, Paulsell and Chalmers said committee.

THE FUNERAL.

The Stockton Express contains the following particulars relative to the late and rites paid to the lamented deceased: The funeral of the late Dr. Langdon, from the Episcopal Church yesterday, was the largest that has ever taken place in Stockton. The church was crowded and scores of people were compelled to remain outside. The pall bearers were Judge Terry, Dr. Clark, Dr. Shurtleff, Frank Stuart, Gilbert Claiborne, P. B. Fraser, Judge Baldwin, and Sam Langdon Terry. Probably no one has ever gone to the grave here with a larger number of sincere mourners around his coffin.

Everybody can get suited with a Pocket Knife, also Table Cutlery, at JACOBI'S Hardware Depot.

Indications.

For the South Atlantic States clear or partly cloudy weather, light northerly winds, becoming variable, stationary or higher temperature.

Delegates to Convention.

The following gentlemen were yesterday elected delegates from St. James' Church to the Diocesan Convention, viz: Delegates—Dr. A. J. DeRosset, Hon. A. H. Van Bokkelen, William Calder, Dr. S. S. Everett, Alternates—Maj. Graham Davis, R. E. Calder, Dr. Thos. F. Wood, Clayton Giles.

DIED.

In this city, on the morning of the 31st inst., Mr. JOHN C. BAILEY, aged 61 years, 6 months and 25 days. The funeral will take place from his late residence, corner of Third and Ann streets, to-morrow evening, (April 1st) at 8 o'clock, from thence to Oakdale Cemetery. Relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend. In Columbus County, on the morning of the 29th of March, at 5 o'clock, Mr. B. D. APPELWHITE, in the 49th year of his age. Goldsboro Messenger please copy.
