A Brilliant Publication - Prack Lesite's Sunday Magazine

For May is a remarkable number of this a ways entertaining, instructive and edifying periodical; and is highly creditable to the talent, caretulness and industry of the elitor. The 128 quarto pages present a vast variety of delightful reading, interesting to all classes and calculated to gratify all tastes. There are good, solid articles, replete with information; essays; rerial and short stories; adventures; my friends and patrons that I have just resketches; poems; biographies, obituaries etc., etc. -all deserving of warm commendation-and scattered throughout are kets with the most complete and most de. brilliant literary gems. The illus rations number probably one hundred, and exhibit the best style of wood engraving. The opening article, 'Meham med and his Religion,' and 'Martin Luther,' a biographical study, are exceedingly interesting. In the department of damage was done that we have heard of, fiction, 'Br-'le, the Nailmaker's Daughter,' I have ever had. This stock is now be'rg and 'Li the Hinges,' are continued with creasi g interest the neighborhood. It was felt on board admirable short stories by popular writers. The poems are very meritorious; the miscellany unusually abundant, as are also the Religious Netes and News at Home and Abroad. There are obituary netices o celebrated divines, Recreations for Sunday Afternoon, a beautiful Hymn (he music by Mendelssohn), etc., etc., but it is impossible to do more than merely glance at the rich and varied contents The price of a single copy is only 25 cents; the annual subse iption is $3; six months $1.50; and four menths, $1.
