

THE FLOWER.

How fresh, O Lord, how sweet and clean Aie Thy returns! Even as the flowers in Spring,
 To which, beside their own demean, In late past frosts tributes of pleasure bring:
 Grief melts away,
 Like snow in May,
 As if there was no such cold thing.
 Who would have thought my shriveled heart Could have recovered greenness? It was none
 Quite unperceived as flowers depart To see their mother root, when they have blown:
 Where they together
 At the hard weather,
 Lead to the world, keep house unknown.
 These are Thy wonders, Lord of power!
 Thrilling and quickening, bringing down to hell,
 And up to heaven in an hour:
 Making a schilling of a passing bell.
 We say aches,
 This or that is:
 Thy word is all, if we would spell.
 Oh, that I once past changing were Fast in Thy Paradise, where no flower can wither!
 Many a Spring I shoot up fair, Closing at Heaven, growing and groaning thither:
 Nor doth my flower
 Want a Spring shower,
 My sins and I joining together.
 And now in age I bud again:
 After so many deaths I live and write,
 On a more smell the dew and rain,
 And relish verisim, Oh, my only light, It cannot be
 That I am he
 On whom Thy tempests fell all night!
 These are Thy wonders, Lord of Love, To make us see we are but flowers that glide:
 Which, when we once can find and prove,
 Thou hast a garden for us where to hide,
 Who would be more,
 Swelling through store, Forfeit their Paradise by their pride.
 GEORGE HERBERT, born 1393.

For the Review.
Queen of May.

I am very busy, but, notwithstanding this, I cannot let the occasion of the Queen of May celebration, last Friday night, pass by unnoticed, and the people here think the truth can be disseminated only through and by the REVIEW and JOURNAL; therefore I will have to ask you to publish a short description and account of the programme and acting.
 First, then, Mrs Hand has a very fine female school here, and deserves great credit for her part in all matters pertaining to any moral and intellectual amusements in which her pupils wish to engage. It was her school that furnished the Queen of May and made the celebration.

At about 8 o'clock on Friday evening last (April 30th) the upper floor of the academy was packed with eager spectators. Soon the curtain was drawn, and the throne, with one of the maids in full dress, Miss Bettie Herring, who was destined to bestow the Crown, was in full view. The throne was a magnificent bower of roses, lovely and beautiful, but not half so beautiful or lovely as the fair crown-er who recited an appropriate ode to the Queen and a welcome to the guests.
 Her part, from beginning to end, was performed in a manner highly creditable to herself. Soon the other beautiful maids came out, singing and performing the several parts assigned to them to the entire satisfaction of the audience. At this juncture the flooring gave way, causing considerable consternation for a short time. Order was at length restored, and the Fairy Queen, with her attendants, came out and did homage to the throne, in anticipation of the lovely Queen, who was so soon to take her seat in the royal chair, all decorated with flowers, evergreens and vines.
 All eyes were eagerly turned towards the royal chamber, as the music and bustle told that Her Majesty was soon to emerge from thence and ascend the throne. Her appearance was greeted with hearty applause by the audience who were in raptures at her right royal bearing. Miss Livvie Miller was selected as the Queen of May, and with a courtly demeanor, in a faultless dress, she stepped a very Queen in her incomparable beauty. The acting throughout was excellent—that of Miss Miller, (the Queen) Miss Herring, (the Crowned) and Miss Eliza Williams especially fine. The audience were highly delighted with the manner in which each part was performed, and when all the exercises were concluded, regretted that the fleet-winged hours had passed so swiftly by.

A Down East editor comes back from Dixie with the statement that the bills of fare at the hotels are quite elaborate and the cooking good; but the beds are not cleanly and are full of uninvited guests. We fear our Down East friend tried to economize too much in his selection of hotel accommodation.—Best Post.

Dr. Mott's Endorsement of Speer's Port Grape Wine.

The following, from the celebrated Dr Mott of New York, speaks wonders for Mr. Speer's efforts to raise the Oporto Grape in New Jersey:
 62 MADISON AVENUE,
 NEW YORK, April 11, 1875.
 MR. ALFRED SPEER,—Dear Sir: The visit which I made last year to your vineyards, wine-presses and vaults at Pinesville, N. J., satisfied me thoroughly that the wines manufactured by you are pure and unadulterated, and the very best that can be offered to the public for medicinal uses.
 Acting upon my favorable impressions at the time, I have since recommended the Port Wine more particularly in my practice, and am satisfied, with marked benefit, to my patients.
 There can be no better proof to the doubting mind, as to the Wine being made of the finest Oporto Grape, than a visit to the acres of land covered with the vine bearing the luxuriant fruit. Wishing you success in your praiseworthy enterprise,

remain respectfully yours,
