

Another Grant Republican for Hancock.

PITTSBURG, July 2.—General A L Pearson, who has long been recognized as one of the R-publian leaders in this neighborhood, and who was a warm supporter of Grant at the Chicago Convention, has declared himself in favor of Hancock for President. To the interrogatory to day, "Are you for Hancock, General?" he responded, "Undoubtedly I am," adding, "I will in a day or two send a letter to U S Grant, Ch of the National Committee of the Veteran's Union (Boys in Blue) withdrawing from that organization. I am the member from this State and have been for seven years. I shall set forth in that letter that I expect to support Hancock, and, as the Veterans' Union is a Republican organization, I cannot consistently hold the position longer of representative from Pennsylvania." General Pearson went into the war as a captain in the One Hundred and fifty fifth R-giment, and for bravery and ability was promoted to be a colonel, a brigadier general and finally a major general. He served in Warren's Fifth Corps, participated in ten battles and was as brave a soldier as Alleghany county sent into the field of battle.

Bayard on the Campaign.

WILMINGTON, Del, July 3.—Senator Bayard was asked this evening to give his views regarding the issues involved in the pending campaign. He very pleasantly said:

"I do not think this a proper time. General Hancock has not yet spoken and the country is filled with the enthusiastic plaudits of the Democracy at the ratification on meetings held every where. I do not think that we need to go beyond that at present. As you will see by reading my speech of last night, I prefer to confine myself at present to an endorsement of the men who are our standard-bearers. General Hancock is, in my opinion, the exemplar of a reign of limited government, as his opponent seeks to inaugurate an unlimited government. Hancock has placed himself by his acts on a very high plane above criticism and there are no flaws in his armor. Wherever he has been tried he has proved true. This the people know and they have confidence in his continuance in the part of duty and in his devotion to those principles which have made his name known and honored throughout the land."

"Do you think, Senator, that the condition of the country is such that the people will comprehend the difference of character in the two candidates and show their appreciation by confiding their interests to the man of unstained name?"

"I do. Time has brought to the people of this country the use of their cooler judgments. They are tired of false issues, partisan political warfare and, above all, of a party whose entire principles represent the abstract idea of force. This contest is one for reunion and nothing more. In the person of Hancock they have a representative of that principle."

"You think then that Hancock will be elected?"

"I do. I receive letters every day, and have since the nomination, expressing not only approval of the nominees but the conviction of a complete triumph. Many of these letters come to me from friends in New York, who were my supporters for the nomination, and their assurances of the success of the ticket are equally strong. They put his majority in New York at 50,000. New Jersey is a martial State. She sent many soldiers to the war, and will battle for reunion at the ballot box as she did for the Union at the point of the sword. I think that Hancock will carry Pennsylvania.—The citizen of that State cannot but be proud of his military fame and his unspotted civil record. See too will, I think, join those who fight for reunion."

We were not quite quick enough and the load of shot took effect in the door instead of in his head. —Some weeks ago, Capt Chas McDonald led the water off from one of his fish ponds and transferred all the fish to another pond. This one was completely drained and remained dry for four or five weeks, when the water was turned on again. To his great astonishment he found that thousands of small fish had burrowed in the mud and remained so until it was rewatered, when they made their appearance again in great numbers and are doing well considering the long and severe dry spell.

Morganton Blade: Last Saturday evening, a week ago, Mr Levi Robinson, trooper of Sheriff Robinson, of Lincoln, was riding home on top of a load of wheat, when he fell off, striking on his head and fracturing his skull from which injury he has since died. —A storm of wind, hail and rain passed over this town and surrounding country on Tuesday last, which twisted off and tore up by the roots a large number of forest trees which had withstood the winds for generations. Many orchards were also partially destroyed, and in some cases nearly all the fruit was blown off. The damage to growing crops from wind, rain and hail was also considerable, much of the larger corn being blown flat to the ground.

Charlotte Observer: The ice factory will commence operations about the 15th inst. —Mr A L Smith has recently received the appointment of assistant inspector general with the rank of captain. —At a late hour last night Will Ray and Neil Mellon, two young men very well known in this city, got into a difficulty in the vicinity of the Express office, during which Ray inflicted two severe and dangerous wounds on Mellon with a knife, cutting him once in the right breast and again in the left side, the blade penetrating to the hollow each time.
