

France.
 London, July 10—A Paris letter to the Daily News with regard to the national fête which is to take place on Wednesday next—the twentieth anniversary of the taking of the Bastille—says: Pleasure trains are already arriving here, and high society is emitting, en masse, the Bonapartist journals, following the lead of the Gaulois, exhort their readers not to illuminate their boues or display flags on the occasion. This opposition is imputed to the ardor of the Republicans to promote the district rejoicings. Each arrondissement will do all it can independently of the Municipal Council of Paris. Private subscriptions will pay for the fire-works and illuminations. The greatest festive expenditure will be in the east end, where the Place du Chateau d'Eau will be transformed into a kind of national altar. A pyramid covered with turf will be built over the fountain on that spot, and on its summit will be placed a cast of Morice's colossal statue of the Republic. The height from the base of the pyramid to the crown of the statue will be seventeen metres. A band of music there will be Venetian music bearing the shields of the city and the national flags. The outer rows of masts will connect festoons of six thousand garlands and fifteen hundred meters of transparent lanterns. The Place de la Bastille will be illuminated by electricity alone. The columns of July will be left in obscurity, while light will be projected on the figure of Liberty on its summit. All the eastern boulevards and avenues will be as bright as day. A monster orchestra in the Garden of the Tuilleries will be led by M. Paudeloup. Electric lights will be thrown on the fountains playing in the Place de la Concorde. The Palace of the Municipal Council will be brilliantly illuminated and decorated with Republican shields. The Arc de Triomphe will be the scene of brilliant pyrotechnics. One piece, representing Morice's Statue of the Republic, will cost 30,000 francs, and the pyrotechnic fountains on each corner will be visible for many leagues. The other points for displays of fireworks will be the Montmartre, the Bateau de Chalon, the Pantheon, the Bote de Boulogne and the Place du Trone. On the latter will be exhibited a piece representing the Bastille, which will tumble down, and on the ruins will rise the July Column and the Genius of Liberty. There will not be beds enough for half the provincials who will come here and thousands will pass the night in the streets. Forty thousand delegates from country communes are to be housed by the officials of the city and arrondissements.

Paris, July 10—The Chamber of Deputies to-day voted the Amnesty bill in the form in which it was adopted yesterday by the Senate.

London, July 10—A Paris despatch to the Times says: "The net result of the voting on the Amnesty bill is that the Senate, instead of excluding all communists condemned for assassination and incendiarism, makes exceptions in favor of those condemned by default, of those not sentenced to death or hard labor, and of those who, though so sentenced, have had their sentences commuted. The Chamber of Deputies ought to make no difficulty in accepting this compromise, for it excludes Robespierre and Bakunin and the ringleaders who escaped. Those whom it excludes will receive pardon, and be allowed to re-enter France, though they will not be restored to civil rights."

A Paris despatch to the Standard says: "The bill will be taken to the Senate and passed as a matter of course. It can be promulgated on Sunday, and the exiles now awaiting the result at Brussels, Geneva and London can return to Paris and attend the national fête on the 14th inst."

London, July 10—A Paris despatch to the Post says: "The Government seems disposed to suspend the execution of the anti-Jesuit decrees against other religious orders until the legal tribunals have decided on the case of the Jesuits. The question of jurisdiction has still to be heard before the Tribunal des Confites, a mixed body composed of a Judge and members of the Council of State, under the Presidency of the Minister of Justice."

Washington Notes
 WASHINGTON, July 10—The President yesterday appointed Albert Rhodes, of the District of Columbia, to be United States Consul at Rouen, and Edwin H. Smith, of Virginia, to be United States Consul at Naples. C. W. Blagie, of Iowa, Z. R. Sturgis, of Indiana, and Aurin B. Nichols, of Pennsylvania, were appointed commissioners to examine and report upon one hundred miles of railroad constructed by the Northern Pacific Railroad west of Bismarck, Dak.

The United States Commercial Agent at Rouen, France, denies the statement that there is not sufficient water in that port for vessels of heavy tonnage. He says that a number of vessels of over 1,700 tons burden have entered and discharged at Rouen during the past year.

The United States Commercial Agent at Carthagena, Colombia, says that Colombia presents a fine field for the sale of agricultural implements, rice machines, glassware, household utensils, builders' hardware, tools, prints and soap.

Coinage has been resumed at all the United States mints which recently closed in order to make their annual examinations, excepting at the Philadelphia mint, where repairs are making. This mint will begin coining gold and other coin about July 15. The New Orleans and Carson mints are coining standard dollars. The San Francisco mint is coining standard dollars and gold coin.

Ratification in Cincinnati.
 CINCINNATI, July 10—The Democrats of this city and vicinity ratified the Hancock and English nomination to-night in a most enthusiastic meeting at the Music Hall. Between four and five thousand people were present, and the deep interest taken in the campaign was much more strongly manifested than at ordinary gatherings of this nature. Wm. D. Groesbeck presided. Addresses were made by Mr. Groesbeck, Senator Pendleton, General Durbin Ward, Sam Carey, the late Greenback leader, General S. F. Hunt and others. In the speeches handsome allusions were made to Hancock's military career and great stress was laid upon his record as a statesman when Military Governor of the South. The burden of all the speeches, however, was the great fact that the acceptance by the North of this peace offering from the South would do away with sectionalism. All the speakers agreed that the united Democracy would be sure to carry the election.

Secretary Schurz on the Stump
 WASHINGTON, July 10—Secretary Schurz proposes to follow the example of his associates in the Cabinet in utterly disregarding civil service order No. 1. It is announced that he will make a number of speeches for the Republican cause before election time. He has accepted an invitation from the Republican State Central Committee of Indiana to take an active part in the campaign in that State and will make his first speech on the 18th of July. It is said that he will devote himself especially to the task of trying to make the Indians believe that the country is only safe in the hands of the party that would be likely to keep the great German reformer in office. Secretaries Sherman, Thompson and Evans and Attorney-General Devens are also preparing stump speeches, and there is every indication that almost the entire Administration will take part in the campaign this fall.

Political Affairs in the Antilles.
 HAVANA, July 10—The French mail steamer has arrived here from St. Thomas July 5. She brings advices confirming the report of the election of Merino as President of Santo Domingo.

Advices from Port au Prince, Hayti, state that a conspiracy in favor of Boyer Brazais for the Presidency has been discovered. Many of the conspirators have been arrested. Some of them will be exiled and others executed. A rising is apprehended in Northern Hayti and the Government evinces great anxiety.

CAROLINA
 Newbern Nat Shell: Mrs Mary E. Murphy, who resided on Hancock street, with her daughter, Mrs B. F. Still, has been confined to her bed for several weeks, but on yesterday ate a hearty breakfast and was sitting in a chair wiping her hands with a wet rag, when she fell to the floor and died almost instantly, of heart disease.

Raleigh Visitor: There are 57 white persons residing in Raleigh, the respective ages of whom range from 70 to 95 years. Of this number 25 are males and 32 females. — Col Junius I. Seales, Senator from Guilford county, died at the Presbyterian Hospital, N. Y., this morning. His remains will be taken to Greensboro and interred Wednesday. Gen A. M. Seales, his brother, was with him at the time of his death.

Goldboro Messenger: The Democrats of Newbern will have a grand Hancock and English ratification on Thursday night, the 15th inst. Intelligence has been received here of the death of Mr Josiah Batts, convicted of manslaughter in this county, about a year ago, for the killing of Jack Smith. He died in the penitentiary near Raleigh, Tuesday night of last week, having served over one-third of his time. — Another defeat for Col Humphrey. At the Republican State Convention his name was placed in nomination for a place on the State Executive Committee. Ike Young and J. J. Mott were elected, and Col Humphrey was left out. We hope to see the Colonel a member of the Hancock and Jarvis Club before this campaign closes. — Col Wm. J. Green, of Warren, and his esteemed family, are at Morehead City enjoying the refreshing sea-breeze. We were delighted to greet Col Green for a few minutes in our office Thursday evening. He feels quite enthusiastic in politics, and confident of a rousing victory—State and National. The nomination of Gen Hancock he considers the best and strongest that could have been made. Col Green advocated and supported Gen Hancock's nomination at the New York convention in 1863, and again at St. Louis in 1876, in both of which he was a delegate from the State at large. — A very severe storm of wind and rain passed over this section yesterday evening at about 6 o'clock, and we learn did much damage to growing crops and, was particularly destructive to fences. On the Snow Hill road, about two miles from this town, the storm seems to have taken the shape of a cyclone, and the family of Mr David McKinnan had a very narrow escape from instant death. The dwelling house was struck with terrific force by a heavy gust of wind and rain and completely wrecked while the family were all in the house. Mrs McKinnan was seated near the back door and succeeded in making her escape, but Mr McKinnan and three children were caught under the falling timbers. Fortunately all escaped with only a few slight bruises. The dwelling is a mass of debris; nothing remains but the sills and the floor, and some of the heavy timbers were hurled a considerable distance.

Good Hotel to Stop At.
 Hotel accommodations for travelers are of the greatest importance to persons who have to move about the country on business or pleasure. Just where to go is what every man wants to know when he leaves home. The Grand Union Hotel, opposite the Grand Central Depot, New York city, is a very popular resort, because the attendance there is prompt and satisfactory, the charges are reasonable and the management complete. Persons arriving at or leaving New York city by the Grand Central Depot will find the Grand Union Hotel very convenient. — N. Y. Telegram. may 15-Jan 3m.
