THE CIRCUS AT SMITHVILLE.

The Republicans Hold their Congressional Convention—Canaday for Congress and Watts for Elector.
The Republican Congressional Nominating Convention met in Smithville yesterday and nominated W. P. Canaday for Congress and S. W. Watts for Elector. Many of the delegates left this city yesterday morning on the steamer Passport, accompanied by a band, which ground out its music to the "intelligent body" of men who were bent on nominating a candidate to be defeated in November. The Convention was held in the Court House and was called to order by Capt. O. H. Blocker. W. K. Price was elected temporary Secretary, while Capt. Blocker acted as Chairman until a Committee on Credentials made their report. While the committee were out Judge Watts was called upon for a speech. In response he mounted the stand and began to expound, as he said, orthodox republicanism. In the start the speaker reminded us of a fourth-rate "star tragedian" in a variety show. He raved and ranted and made many facial delineations much to the amusement of a sable brother, with a long linen duster on, from the great state of Rocky Point. Other statesmen seemed somewhat amused and when the Judge alluded to the 119th psalm there was some faint applause from the crowd. The speaker, after some minutes of laborious effort, got down to the level of the understanding of most of the members of the Convention and ended his puppet show in a grand Punch and Judy style. Brewington moved three chairs for Watts and the band struck up "We'll put John on the Island."
H. E. Scott, "our" Scott, was next called on. Scott made a speech, a big speech. He rolled his r's until they sounded like distant thunder and wound up with a grand flourish.
One of the brothers moved that the Convention take a recess until after dinner. He stated that he was hungry and wanted his dinner. The delegates couldn't stand two more such speeches on an empty stomach, and they all voted to take a recess.
At 2:30 o'clock the Convention again met and the committee on Credentials reported. Bill Moore and his delegates were not permitted to take part in the Convention, but the Convention didn't seem able to keep Bill down. Brudder Gerken tackled Bill, but couldn't reach high enough to make him understand that he had "no rights."
After the committee had reported Gen. Abbott was made permanent Chairman and was escorted to the Chair by Hens. Price and Hill. The "Is" evidently had it and the "Is" were run and controlled by the Custom House ring. There were only eight attaches of the Custom House present and Price, the ostensible leader, arose and placed in nomination W. P. Canaday for Congress, who was nominated by acclamation. Price's talk was of the real old-fashioned obiter dictum civil rights, no parlor and no kitchen orator.
The next business was the nomination of an elector. Then was the time when the fun began. Price ranted, Gerken pummeled the top of a table, Hill snorted and Bill Moore sang out for the Sergeant-at-Arms to take Price. A 'Republican, named Smith, from the country, wanted to be heard, and the Chairman ranted and hammered the desk with the end of his pocket knife. Hill was finally made to sit down and was told he was out of order. Thornton, from Fayetteville, tried to get in a word and Scott came to the front again. Price had the strongest lungs and could holler the loudest. He kept on talking. The Chair threatened to send the Sergeant-at-Arms at him. 'Send him along, and I'll take care of him too,' was the reply. General Abbott vacated the Chair and came down in the body to pour oil on the troubled waters. His efforts had some effect, and he resumed the Chair. Price abandoned his first position and shook hands with Scott, who placed Watts in nomination for Elector, and made the convention nominate him over Richardson, in spite of what Col. Blocker and General Abbott had said. Mabson was called upon and made the only dignified and sensible speech delivered in the convention.
There were only sixteen white Republicans in the house, the balance being unbleached citizens.
The nominations did not give entire satisfaction, but the proceedings were full of fun for the outsiders, and in that light it was the best thing seen hereabouts since the last circus.

Picnic at the Sound
The Cornet Concert-Club leave here this evening at 6 o'clock in the wagonette for Wrightsville Sound where they will discourse some excellent music from choice selections from a platform prepared for them in Mr. Schutt's yard at the old Dr. Wright place. Wish we could be there.
Magistrate's Court.
Justice Hall disposed of the following cases to-day:
Winnie Rhodes, colored, charged with assault and battery, was ordered committed to jail for trial, in default of costs.
Andrew Laspeyre, colored, commonly known as "Dr. Laspeyre," arraigned for assault and battery on his sister and also on a peace warrant sued out by her, was also committed in default of bail.
Postponed
The conferece committee, composed of three members each from the Board of Aldermen and Board of Audit on the part of the city, and three members of the Wilmington Market Company, were to have met yesterday afternoon to consider further the proposition to purchase the new markets, but the meeting was postponed until Mr. Norwood Giles, who is at present confined to his house from injuries received recently, shall have recovered sufficiently to attend.
The Verdict.
The jury called by Coroner Hewlett to hold an inquest yesterday over the body of Lucy Phinney, met at the Court House yesterday afternoon, pursuant to adjournment, when Drs. Walker and Wright, who had made a post mortem examination, made their report. The verdict of the jury was to the effect that the deceased, Lucy Phinney, came to her death from wounds on the head, inflicted by a spade or shovel in the hands of Stephen Richardson.

Lightning's Freaks.

During the storm this afternoon the electric discharges played very unceremoniously with the telephone wires in our office, cracking and emitting sparks at a lively rate, and starting the ground wire nearly a foot from its original resting place. There was only one of the "staff" in the office at the time and he left sans ceremony.
New Job Office.
We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. Wm L. DeRosset, Jr., as it appears in this issue. Mr. DeRosset has established himself at No. 6 South Water street, with a new and handsome assortment of job type and with an excellent new press and is now prepared to do all kinds of job work. He solicits a trial and will guarantee satisfaction in all cases.
Struck by Lightning.
The chimney to the residence of Mr. A. D. Brown, on Fifth, between Orange and Ann streets, was struck by lightning this afternoon. The electric fluid ran down the chimney and stunned Mr. Brown's housekeeper and cook. The sitting room of the dwelling was badly damaged. The plastering was knocked off and the cornice over the windows burnt to a coal. Mr. Brown was also affected by the fluid but not as badly as the others spoken of. It was a narrow escape, both of property and life.
Time Healeth all Things.
To-day is the anniversary of the first battle of Manassas, fought on Sunday, July the 21st, 1861—nineteen years ago, and now the good and true men of this country who on that day were opposed to each other in hostile array, are striving together in earnest for reconciliation between the sections, which we are happy to say is at last about to be accomplished by the election of General Winfield S. Hancock, the "superb" soldier of the Federal army, to the presidency.
City Court.
John Robertson, a colored tramp, all the way from Florida en route to Virginia, was arraigned before the Mayor this morning, for trespass. The Mayor told him if he would turn his face towards the east and his back upon Wilmington, and move rapidly, within an hour's time, that he might go in peace. The defendant appeared only too glad to accept these conditions of his release and made his obeisance to the Court and his exit from the Court Room without further delay.

1,500 Hhds Bacon,
20,000 Sacks Meal,
10,000 Bags,

The plan was to open direct personal communication with the Head Quarters, where these articles were kept in first hands and immense quantities, out of all reasonable expectation of being needed here; make arrangements with the Railroad Companies for transportation; connect their Stores by telegraph with the leading Grocery Stores of the world; keep a Small but Select Assortment; put prices down to the Bottom Figure; have Small Profits and Big Sales, watch the markets for Specialties, guarantee every article sold, make prompt delivery, spend time and money in the Northern markets in persons' selections, and await returns. The result justifies our highest anticipations and vindicates our judgment. Our Stores are each a
