The Ratification Meeting and Our Distinguished Visitors.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

His Excellency, Governor Jarvis, and Senator Z. B. Vance arrived here this morning by the Carolina Central train. The Governor is stopping at the Purcell House and Senator Vance is the guest of Col. James G. Burr. Senator M. W. Ransom, who arrived last night, will be entertained by ex-Mayor A. H. Van Bokkelen. Gen. James Madison Leach and F. H. Busbee, Esq., Electors for the State at large, arrived last night and are stopping at the Purcell House. Mr. Daniel H. McLean, Elector for this Congressional District, arrived to-day by boat from Fayetteville and is also registered at the Purcell. We regret exceedingly to learn that Judge Powie will not be able to be with us on this interesting occasion, being detained by some important law business. The procession will move to night upon the firing of a signal gun by a detachment of the Cape Fear Artillery. The firing of the cannon will continue at intervals during the marching of the column and until the procession reaches the stand on Third street. Fire works will also be displayed on the route of the march.

The speakers to night will be, first Governor Jarvis, then General Leach and Mr. Busbee.

Owing to the fact that Senator Vance's health will not permit him to speak at night in the open air the old war-governor will entertain the crowd to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock from the same stand on Third street. To-morrow night our other distinguished and able Senator, General Matt W. Ransom, and Mr. Dan' H. McLean, our talented young Elector for this district, will address the crowd. Messrs. Busbee and McLean are the two youngest speakers in the party but they make up in talent what they lack in years and experience. Think, fellow Democrats of New Hanover and surrounding counties, what a treat there is in store for you; the Governor and our two distinguished Senators, the old campaigner, General Leach, and Busbee and McLean all to address you; what a glorious time we will have. Why, they will skin the Rade from head to toe and then present their ugly political carcasses to your gaze and show you what a disgusting spectacle they are with the brilliant electric light of truth shining in full force upon them.

Let us urge upon the wards to assemble promptly, and let every man come with a clear throat prepared to hurrah for Hancock and English and Jarvis and the State ticket; come with pricked ears, too, to listen to the words of soberness and truth which will be told you by our distinguished speakers who have honored us with their presence on this occasion.

The Ship of State.
One interesting feature in the procession to-night will be a full-rigged ship on wheels, drawn by four horses. This will be a part of the Fourth Ward procession, from which the crew will at intervals fire off Roman candles and sky-rockets.

A Big Crowd.
It is estimated that there have arrived during the day in the city fully one thousand visitors, drawn hither by the grand ratification mass-meeting to-night, and the cry is, still they come. This does not include those who arrived yesterday and last night.

Capt. Drane.
Capt. H. M. Drane was to have passed up the R. & A. A. Line last night to Chatham county, where he goes on a short visit to relatives and friends. It is now definitely known that Capt. Drane resigned his position as Freight Ticket and Passenger Agent on the M. & B. and Brunswick R. R. to accept the position of Superintendent of Construction of a new road in Georgia, work on which is about to begin.

There are to be seats around the feet of the Speaker's stand to night which the Committee desire it expressly understood are for the elderly gentlemen who may attend. You men and boys must not monopolize these seats when any older persons are around standing up. Recollect this, boys, and don't yer forget it!

The Bone and Muscle producing Malt, the Nervous quieting Hop, the superb Malarial antidote Quinine, and other precious ingredients, combined without fermentation, are the ingredients of 'Malt Bitters,' prepared by the Malt Bitters Company.

The fish market is well supplied. The circus posters will be put up to-morrow, boys.

General A. J. Myer, Chief of the Signal Bureau, died in Washington City, this morning at 5 o'clock. The Signal Officer at this station has had his colors at half-mast to-day in honor of the deceased.

The Judicial Convention.
The Judicial Convention for the Fourth district is in session to-day at Lumberton for the purpose of nominating a candidate to fill the position made vacant by the resignation of Judge Buxton. We had hoped to present the name of the nominee to our readers to-day but at 5 o'clock this afternoon the Convention had just begun to ballot. Hence the result will be too late for this issue.

Death of Mr. George Myers.
In yesterday's issue we spoke of the extreme illness of Mr. George Myers and to-day we are called upon to report the sad news of his death. He passed away at half-past 1 o'clock this morning, surrounded by nearly all of those he held dearest on earth.

It is a sad blow to the many here who had learned to love and esteem Mr. Myers for those many qualities, both of head and of heart, which endeared him to his friends. He had been among us a long time and although his thoughts were not always our thoughts and his ways not always in accord with the accepted views of his friends, yet all were forced to accord him the merit of a true sincerity in all of his professions.

Mr. Myers was among our oldest and most steadily successful merchants. He was born in Hudson, in New York, August 21st, 1823, and was consequently 57 years and a few weeks old. He first came to Wilmington about 1850 and embarked in the grocery business in the identical house occupied by him at his death, which for many years past has been owned by him.

He left here directly after the close of the war and removed to New York where he embarked in business as a flour merchant. In 1870 he returned to Wilmington and resumed control of the grocery business here which, during the interval had been in charge of his brother, Capt. Chas. D. Myers. Since 1870 he has resided continuously in this city. He had been sick but about two weeks and few were prepared for the sad announcement which was made yesterday that no hopes were entertained of his recovery.

The body has been embalmed, and will be taken North to-morrow for interment, and will be escorted to the depot by a committee from Cornelius Harnett Lodge, Royal Arcanum, and from the Council of the Legion of Honor, of both of which he was a member. It will be accompanied by Mrs. Myers and Mr. R. C. Myers, the eldest son of the deceased.

"None knew him but to love him."

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.
The September number of this admirable magazine is calculated to contain contents remarkable for comprehensiveness, variety, instructiveness and entertainment. The opening article, 'The Campaign of 1880—The Nominees of the Two Parties,' will be read with great interest at this time. There is an excellent article by Frank Norton, 'The Old and the New Arcadia,' one on the 'Customs of Old Spain,' 'The Lore, King of Abyssinia,' by A. H. Guersney; 'Turin,' by Lady Blanche Murphy, and many others of rare merit. The department of fiction is unusually rich. The serial 'Not Guilty' is concluded, and there are stories and sketches by Karl Drury, Prudence Bowers, F. E. Hamilton, Amanda M. Douglas, Marguerite F. Aymer, and other writers of celebrity. The poems are by J. G. Whittier, Rita, Richard Dowling, Ethel Funblanque etc. There are adventures of thrilling interest, a capital article on 'The Washingtons of Yorkshire,' 'Some Gossiping Papers,' by Mrs. Barrow, historical sketches, and an abundance of brief articles affording pleasant and instructive reading. There are 128 quarto pages in each number, and over 109 illustrations; the present number has a handsome colored plate, a cutpiece, the subject being 'The Bridegroom's Stirrup Cup in Andalusia.' The price of a single copy is only 25 cents; the annual subscription, $3, postpaid. Address, Frank Leslie's Publishing House, 53, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.
