Hon. Jefferson Davis' 'Memoirs' will be published by the Appletons very soon after the elections.

The widow of the Jewish Cologne banker, Baron Abraham von Oppenheim who, in 1880, gave the magnificent sum of $150,000 for the wounded, has just given $30,000 for a hospital for poor children of all confessions, in memory of her late husband.

To dun a debtor on a postal card has been decided by the Supreme Court of Ohio to be unlawful. The Court held that anything so written that is liable to injure the credit or reputation is an offense punishable by law.

The State of Maine has only increased 12,000 in population since 1870, less than two-tenths of one per cent. As, according to President Hayes, mischievous politics is at the bottom of this slow growth, may we ask who is to blame, Blaine, Garcelon or Solon Chase?

The failure of Keene's attempted "cornucopia" in wheat, with the loss of thousands of dollars to the parties interested in the scheme will, probably, have the effect, at least for a while, of deterring others from engaging in such enterprises.

Last year only three Democratic votes were cast in Knoxville, Pa. Now the town possesses a Hancock and English club with seventy names already enrolled.

The exodus from Germany this year has been in excess of preceding ones. From Bremen alone more than 14,000 Germans have already sailed, or more than twice as many as left that port during the whole of last year. The number of emigrants who have left the country for the United States is over 13,000 since the first of January, or 101 per cent more than during the corresponding period of last year, and this is exclusive of those who have sailed from Havre, Rotterdam, Liverpool, Glasgow and London.

THE LOUISIANA SENATOR-SHIP.

The death of Judge Henry M. Spofford, last Saturday, at the Red Sulphur Springs in Virginia, disposes for the present of the Senatorial contested case of Louisiana wherein Wm. Pitt Kellogg like R. B. Hayes, has been occupying the seat of another and a worthier man and appropriating at the same time the money of the rightfully elected candidate, day by day and year by year. Whether the Louisiana Legislature will proceed immediately upon assembling to elect a Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the lamented Spofford or not remains to be seen. We cannot understand how they can do otherwise without stultifying the conduct of the previous Legislature which elected Mr. Spofford.

GOOD FOR THE SOUTH.

The New York World of Sunday says that the Tribune of that city was compelled yesterday to plead guilty of forgery—that that species which is defined in the law books to be the alteration of a writing to another's prejudice. It quotes from a Staunton paper what that paper reported as the words of Senator Hampton. "Pause before you cast your vote. Think how Lee would have done before he would have cast a vote calculated to divide his beloved Virginia." This is not in the least like the paraded extract which substitutes the words "do" and "ought" for "vote" and "voted," and which paraded extract began thus: "Consider what Lee and Jackson would 'do' were they alive. These are the same principles for which they 'ought' for four years."

The World has done one good service to the South and the whole country. It has convicted that libellous sheet, the Tribune of willful lying and misrepresentation and made it acknowledge the fact before the country.

DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN DOCUMENTS.

The World of Thursday says: The Democratic National Committee have in press, to be published on Monday next, "The Democratic Text-Book for the Campaign of 1880," and an examination of the proof-sheets shows that the book will be one of the most effective and interesting campaign documents ever published. In addition to platforms, biographies and such statistics as belonging to a campaign text-book, it contains a chronological history of General Garfield's Congressional record which is carefully verified from official sources; a circumstantial history of the complicity of President Hayes and the visiting statesmen in the electoral fraud of 1877-78, with a table of the accomplices who were rewarded with money or office; an account of the shameful tergiversations of Republicans, including Hayes, Sherman and Garfield, upon civil service reform down to the nomination of Gen. Arthur; a minute analysis of the Emma Mine swindle and a concise account of the whiskey ring, of the Belknap impeachment, of the Venezuela job, the thievery of the freedmen's bureau and the freedmen's savings bank, and an elaborate table which shows how the check of a Democratic House has in five years saved the people $10,000,000.

There are devoted to Garfield's record one hundred and fifty-five pages, which establish all his complications by speeches and vote with so many of the scoundrel jobs, private or public, which appeared in Congress from the time of his appearance as chairman on appropriations down to his connivances with the paper monopolists. Much of this proof will be new to the public, especially in respect to the Sauborn moiety trusts, the salary grabs, the Pacific mail steal and the moth swindle. For the text-book follows him with rare detective ingenuity over every track he has left of his connection with these jobs.

Indeed, that portion of the text-book which is devoted to Gen. Garfield's record might be bound up and inscribed as "The Trial and Conviction of Jas. A. Garfield," and figure appropriately in the library of a Criminal Court. All of these are additional to a full exposition of his complicity with the Credit Mobilier and De Golyer scandals, together with the references to chapter and verse which are so necessary to campaign speakers. There is no superfluous page in the 521 pages of the text-book, and its style and arrangement are very much above the literary level of ordinary campaign manuals.

Baltimore Gazette.

Not to be Depended On. One of the most-damaging arguments that could be urged against General Garfield's fitness for the Presidency is his notorious unreliability. General Garfield's political career exhibits a veritable maze of contradictions and inconsonant episodes. Judging from his past record, he would be as likely as not on entering the White House to give the lie to all his previous professions. He has done this before, not once but often.

New York World, August 19th Senator Eaton's Speech.

Senator W. W. Eaton said: "When Connecticut speaks on the 2d of November, for Winfield Scott Hancock and William H. English, she will set her broad seal of condemnation upon the crime of 1876. We owe it to ourselves, Connecticut owes it to her own honor, that she elect the ticket nominated to-day. As I live I believe we will roll up a majority of 5,000 in November next. [Applause.] Fellow-citizens, there are reasons why the ticket should be elected. There are reasons why the government should be taken from the hands of those who fraudulently hold it. Time will not suffice to give these reasons extensively. But I will say to you, the election of Hancock and English, with the Senate and House Democratic, will take from the $50,000,000 heretofore taken out of the pockets of the people. We will save, in other words, $50,000,000 a year. Figures will show it. There has been an increase of offices, and an increase, I agree, in the extent of the country, and therefore, whereas the expenses in 1859 and 1860, were from $70,000,000 to $75,000,000, now $100,000,000 may be necessary. In my judgment, $80,000,000 are enough—but call it $100,000,000, add the extraordinary pension list, and take from the receipts the two sums and you will save $50,000,000 annually.—It is your duty to do it. There is another thing. One hundred millions in gold are taken out of the pockets of the people, and paid to the owners of steamers and other ships—foreigners. Great Britain, France, the free cities, Sweden and Norway, take $100,000,000 every year to pay for carrying American freight when every dollar ought to be placed in the pockets of American shipowners. [Applause.] That will be done. In 1857-8-9 our commercial marine was within a few thousand tons as large as that of Great Britain. Now it is a miracle to see the American flag on a foreign sea. My good friends say that the Hon. Mr. Sherman was able to save a good many millions of dollars by changing the interest on outstanding bonds. So he has, but how? By the aid of Democratic votes—by the aid of a Democratic House and every single Democratic Senator in the Senate. [Applause.] That isn't all. We wouldn't refund the debt at 4. I took the ground that 3 1/2 was high enough, but finally compromised on 4. But they say Sherman did it. He wasn't a guide post even to point to it. They say that business has begun to revive. Who did it? [Laughter.] They say, "We did it." John Sherman says, "I did it." Follow-citizens, that great Power above did it. The crops have been unparalleled, and we have exported over $500,000,000 more than we have imported in a few years. Our Father sent drouths on other nations, and the past few years have emptied our crops into the laps of Europe. When you can show me that John Sherman had anything to do with the crops [laughter]; when you can show that I had anything to do with the crops, then I will say, "I and John Sherman did it."

R. V. PIERCE, M. D.: I had a serious disease of the lungs, and was for a time confined to my bed and under the care of a physician. His prescriptions did not help me. I grew worse, coughing very severely. I commenced taking your Medical Discovery, which helped me greatly. I have taken several bottles, and am restored to good health. Yours respectfully, JUDITH BURNETT.

MOONSHINE.

Steering a steamboat is the latest lost art. Some one has discovered a likeness to the face of Ben. Butler in the last full moon. The resemblance can only be seen when the moon is full. Conkling's state of mind—He loves Garfield, admires Hayes, dotes on Sherman, and longs to embrace Blaine. But the distinguished Senator has no time for indulgence in sentiment. Ex Minister Schenck is summering in Maine. He is described as a bluff old man. OUR PLATFORM.

The following is the Platform of the Democratic party adopted at the National Convention held recently at Cincinnati: 1st. We pledge ourselves anew to the constitutional doctrines and traditions of the Democratic party, as illustrated by the teaching and example of the long line of Democratic statesmen and patriots and embodied in the platform of the last National Convention of the party. 2d. Opposition to centralization and to that dangerous spirit of encroachment which tends to the consolidated powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever be the form of government, a real despotism; no summary laws; separation of church and State for the good of each; common schools fostered and protected. 3d. Home rule, honest money, a strict maintenance of public faith; a currency consisting of gold and silver, and paper convertible into coin on demand; strict maintenance of public faith, State and National, and a tariff for revenue only. 4th. The subordination of the military to the civil powers, and a general and thorough reform of the civil service. 5th. The right to a free ballot is a right preservative of all rights, and must and shall be maintained in every part of the United States. 6th. The existing administration is the representative of conspiracy only, and its claim of right to surround the ballot boxes with troops and deputy marshals, to intimidate and obstruct electors, and the unprecedented use of the veto to maintain its corrupt and despotic power, insults the people and imperils their institutions. 7th. The great fraud of 1876-77, by which, upon a false count of the electoral vote of two States, the candidate defeated at the polls was declared to be the President, and for the first time in American history the will of the people was set aside, under a threat of military violence, struck a deadly blow at our system of representative government. The Democratic party, to preserve the country from civil war, submitted for the time, in the firm and patriotic faith that the people would punish this crime in 1880. This issue precedes and dwarfs every other. It imposes a more sacred duty upon the people of the Union than was ever addressed to the conscience of a nation of freemen. 8th. We execrate the course of this administration in making places in the civil service a reward for political crime, and demand a reform by a statute which shall make it forever impossible for a defeated candidate to bribe his way to the seat of the usurper, by billeting villains upon the people. 9th. The resolution of Samuel J. Tilden not again to be a candidate for the exalted place to which he was elected by a majority of his countrymen, and from which he was excluded by the leaders of the Republican party, is received by the Democrats of the United States with sensibility, and they declare their confidence in his wisdom, patriotism and integrity, unshaken by the assaults of a common enemy, and they further assure him that he is followed into the retirement he has chosen for himself by the sympathy and respect of his fellow citizens, who regard him as one who by the elevating standard of public morality and adorning and purifying public service, merits the lasting gratitude of his country and his party. 10th. Free ships and a living chance for American commerce on the seas and on the land. No discrimination in favor of transportation laws, corporations or monopolies. 11th. An amendment of the Burlingame treaty. No more Chinese immigration except for travel, education and foreign commerce, and therein carefully guarded. 12th. Public money and public credit for public purposes solely, and the public land for actual settlers. 13th. The Democratic party is the friend of labor and the laboring man, and pledges itself to protect him alike against cormorants and the commune. 14th. We congratulate the country upon the honesty and thrift of the Democratic Congress, which has reduced the public expenditure forty millions a year; upon the continuation of prosperity at home, and the national honor abroad, and above all, upon the promise of such a change in the administration of the government as shall insure us a genuine and lasting reform in every department of the public service.
