For Presidential Elector, Third District. D. H. McLEAN, Of Harnett.

Our population is now 45,000,000. Our church edifices are estimated as affording a seating capacity of 25,000,000, used on an average Sunday by less than 15,000,000.

Ingersoll's "Mistakes of Moses" were as nothing compared to the "errors" which it is said the convocation of learned men engaged in the revision of the New Testament have discovered. It is stated that large portions of the gospel of St. John have been declared spurious. Would it not have been better if "the learned company of scholars" had permitted the labors of the Septuaginta to remain undisturbed?

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee is in receipt of many letters from Indiana expressing the utmost confidence of Democratic success at the October election. Ex-Gov. Hendricks writes to a friend in Washington saying Indiana will undoubtedly elect the Democratic ticket, notwithstanding the fact that the Republican managers have colonized three thousand negroes.

Workmen are now replacing with iron the vast wooden span of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad bridge over the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace, and when this is completed the whole bridge will be of iron. The change from wood to iron has been going on for six years. The bridge is one of the greatest structures in the country. With its approaches it is a mile and quarter long, and the water in the channel is seventy-five feet deep. The total cost of the bridge has been $2,000,000.

President Hayes is credited by a newspaper reporter of Reading, Pa., with having recently told the following anecdote: "I am not the great temperance man that people think me. For in stanzas, during the war I carried good brandy with me all the time. I invented all by myself a very ingenious method of carrying it. Attached to my saddle was a pair of holsters. In one of them I carried one of my revolvers and the other I carried at my hip. I invented a can, or sort of canteen, to fit the other holster, and it was a very clever thing. Well, every morning I filled that canteen; not a drop of it was left at night but not a drop passed my lips—not a drop. I gave it to the poor, famishing soldier." Deacon Richard Smith, of the Cincinnati Gazette, after perusing this, said: "This sounds very much like a thrilling tale from a real good Sunday School book. When we read an ad like the above we are always surprised that the President did not die young."

THE SIGNS OF VICTORY.

Among the best signs of the future success of the Democratic party is the fact that such shrewd political prognosticators of future events as Col. Jno. W. Forney and Gen'l. B. F. Butler have deserted the Radical sinking ship. We confess to a willingness to see Col. Forney return like a prodigal to the fold once more, because he is not regarded as the political prostitute that Ben Butler is. We are willing to accord to Forney, too, sincerity of motive. But a man with the black record and fearful antecedents of Benjamin F. Butler of Massachusetts, can have no generous impulse, can be actuated by no honest, manly or patriotic emotion—they are all foreign to his vile and corrupt nature. His recent course of conduct, measured by his past career, can only be attributed to a sordid desire for future gain. At the same time, owing to this very fact that Butler's course can be viewed in no other light than as a selfish move, we do think that the very decided step of such a cold, calculating nature and shrewd and unprincipled politician, is one of many signs of the certain victory that awaits the Democratic party on the first Tuesday in November next.

This is the way the New York World takes down some of Mr John Sherman's pretensions: Mr Sherman had the coolness yesterday to say that "the renewal of business is the result of the policy of the Republican party." Is it, indeed? Then how does Mr. Sherman account for the suspension of business which preceded it? When the business of the country fell to pieces with a ruinous crash in 1873, "the Republican policy" had been in full force for twelve consecutive years. From 1861 to 1873 the country was governed by Republican Presidents, a Republican Senate and a Republican House of Representatives. In 1873 down came the whole edifice of our prosperity. That disaster was "the natural result of the Republican policy." In 1874 the people elected a Democratic House of Representatives. From that day to 1879 the Democratic party retained the lower house, and in 1879 the Democratic party secured the Senate. In 1877 a President, not elected but foisted into office by a vote of 8 to 7 in an extra-constitutional tribunal, went into power, and on going into power substantially threw overboard "the Republican policy" and adopted a Democratic policy. If the "revival of business" is the "natural result" of any policy, therefore, at all it is the natural result of "the Democratic policy" under which the country was substantially governed from 1874, when "the Republican policy" had brought it to the edge of bankruptcy, down to 1879. If the business men of the Union are satisfied with the present condition and outlook of business, as indeed they ought to be, they will refuse to make the "change" which Mr. Sherman asks them to make, from the Democratic policy, under which our actual prosperity has returned to us back to the Republican policy under which the mighty disaster of 1873 overtook us.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug 30, 1880. I trust Democrats generally will allow General Butler to have out his say before Republicans. Conceding to the man all the ability his friends believe he has, he is still not the kind of man whose conversation always benefits greatly the party to which he attaches himself. To be sure he stated forcibly in his farewell speech on Saturday evening, the sins and hypocrisies of the Republican party, but those things are known already to the people. The place of General Butler is in a party of his own. He may convince his fellow sinners of their faults, and I hope they will listen to him. The other speech of the last few days was that of Secretary Sherman last evening at Cincinnati. The Secretary endeavors to show that five years of good crops and five years of economical administration with a Democratic House of Representatives, are the direct work of the Republican party; that the stealing of Louisiana and Florida was more than justified by alleged Democratic bulldozing in the South; that it is better, a man once in office, that he should remain in; that the Democratic party is in favor of "rag money," etc. He raises the cry of "Southern claims," than which no more delusive or dishonest cry was ever cried, than the best part of his speech, as an Irish friend said to me this morning, is not in the speech at all. The Secretary was questioned as to his reasons for removing Arthur from the New York Custom House, and answered: "I have never said one word impugning General Arthur's honor or integrity as a man and a gentleman, but he was not in harmony with the views of the administration in the management of the Custom House." What the administration said in putting Arthur out of office was in substance, that he had made the Custom House a den of thieves. As the lamented showman said, "you pays your money and you takes your choice." Senator Wallace came yesterday to the headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and says he shall stay for some time. Secretary Walker is there, also, the two being together for the first time since the campaign opened. They have been at work elsewhere, one or the other dropping in on us occasionally. Asked about Maine, that being the first State of importance to vote, both gentlemen declined to express an opinion. They said that while documents have been sent to that State, the Committee, as well as the National Committee of which General Walker is also a member, had preferred to commence their fight in Indiana. They believed the latter State, with the efforts being made, sure in October. GURDGE.

Is It Possible

that a remedy made of such common, simple plants as Hops, Buchu, Maudrake, Dandelion, &c, make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters do? It must be, for when old and young, rich and poor, Pastor and Doctor, Lawyer and Editor, all testify to having been cured by them, we must believe and doubt no longer. See our other column.—Post.

OUR PLATFORM.

The following is the Platform of the Democratic party adopted at the National Convention held recently at Cincinnati: 1st. We pledge ourselves anew to the constitutional doctrines and traditions of the Democratic party, as illustrated by the teaching and example of the long line of Democratic statesmen and patriots, and embodied in the platform of the last National Convention of the party. 2d. Opposition to centralization and to that dangerous spirit of encroachment which tends to the consolidated powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever be the form of government, a real despotism; no sumptuary laws; separation of church and State for the good of each; common schools fostered and protected. 3d. Home rule, honest money, a strict maintenance of public faith; a currency consisting of gold and silver, and paper convertible into coin on demand; strict maintenance of public faith, State and National, and a tariff for revenue only. 4th. The subordination of the military to the civil powers, and a general and thorough reform of the civil service. 5th. The right to a free ballot is a right preservative of all rights, and must and shall be maintained in every part of the United States. 6th. The existing administration is the representative of conspiracy only, and its claim of right to surround the ballot boxes with troops and deputy marshals, to intimidate and obstruct electors, and the unprecedented use of the veto to maintain its corrupt and despotic power, insults the people and imperils their institutions. 7th. The great fraud of 1876 77, by which, upon a false count of the electoral vote of two States, the candidate defeated at the polls was declared to be the President, and for the first time in American history the will of the people was set aside, under a threat of military violence, struck a deadly blow at our system of representative government. The Democratic party, to preserve the country from civil war, submitted for the time, in the firm and patriotic faith that the people would punish this crime in 1880. This issue precedes and dwarfs every other. It imposes a more sacred duty upon the people of the Union than was ever addressed to the conscience of a nation of freemen. 8th. We execrate the course of this administration in making places in the civil service a reward for political crime, and demand a reform by a statute which shall make it forever impossible for a defeated candidate to bribe his way to the seat of the usurper, by billeting villains upon the people. 9th. The resolution of Samuel J. Tilden not again to be a candidate for the exalted place to which he was elected by a majority of his countrymen, and from which he was excluded by the leaders of the Republican party, is received by the Democrats of the United States with sensibility, and they declare their confidence in his wisdom, patriotism and integrity, unshaken by the assaults of a common enemy, and they further assure him that he is followed into the retirement he has chosen for himself by the sympathy and respect of his fellow citizens, who regard him as one who by the elevating standard of public morality and admiring and purifying public service, merits the lasting gratitude of his country and his party. 10th. Free ships and a living chance for American commerce on the seas and on the land. No discrimination in favor of transportation laws, corporations or monopolies. 11th. An amendment of the Burlingame treaty. No more Chinese immigration except for travel, education and foreign commerce, and therein carefully guarded. 12th. Public money and public credit for public purposes solely, and the public land for actual settlers. 13th. The Democratic party is the friend of labor and the laboring man, and pledges itself to protect him alike against corporators and the commune. 14th. We congratulate the country upon the honesty and thrift of the Democratic Congress, which has reduced the public expenditure forty millions a year upon the continuation of prosperity at home, and the national honor abroad, and above all, upon the promise of such a change in the administration of the government as shall insure us a genuine and lasting reform in every department of the public service.

My life was saved by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.—E. B. Lakely, Selma, Ala.

Great Distress is often suddenly experienced from an attack of cramp in the stomach, colic or other painful affection, for the relief of which nothing is superior to Dr Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed, or Water-Pepper, compounded from the best French brandy, Jamaica ginger, smart-weed, or water-pepper, and anodyne gums. For diarrhoea, dysentery, bloody flux, cholera morbus, its warming, soothing astringent and heating properties render it a perfect specific, unsurpassed as an anodyne and stimulating embrocation or liniment. Should be kept in every family. Sold by druggists at fifty cents.

Miscellaneous.

The World for 1880.

Democrats everywhere should inform themselves carefully alike of the action of their party throughout the country and of the movements of their Republican opponents. A failure to do this in 1876 contributed greatly to the loss by the Democracy of the fruits of the victory fairly won at the polls. The year 1880 promises to be one of the most interesting and important years in our country's history. It will witness a Presidential election which may result in reestablishing the Government of this country on the principles of its constitutional founders, or in permanently changing the relation of the States to the Federal power. An intelligent man can regard such an election with indifference. The World, as the only daily English newspaper published in the city of New York which upholds the doctrines of constitutional Democracy, will steadily represent the Democratic party in this great canvass. It will do this in no spirit of servile partisanship, but temperate and unflinching loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indivisible Union of Indestructible States.

During the past year The World has seen its daily circulation trebled and its weekly circulation pushed far beyond that of any other weekly newspaper in the country. This great increase has been won, as The World believes, by truthfulness, enterprise, ceaseless activity in collecting news and unflinching loyalty to itself and to its readers in dealing with the questions of the day. It is our hope and it will be our endeavor that the World's record for 1880 may be written in the approbation and the support of many thousands more of new readers in all parts of this Indivisible Union of Indestructible States.
