WILMINGTON, N. C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1880. VOL. V

NO. 20

1 Republican majority in Indiana will he about 6,000, while the Democrats have carried West Virginia by between 12,000 and 15,000.

A bet of $5,000 to $2,500 was made at the Astor House, New York, on Tuesday, that Connecticut would cast her electoral vote for Hancock ..

The series of processions in celebration of the settlement of Baltimore ended yesterday with a grand parade of several benevolent societies. There were about 6,000 men in line.

Stephen D. Dillage, the New Jersey greenback leader, joins Frank Hughes, the Pennsylvania greenback leader, in denouncing Weaver as working in the interest of Garfield.

The very latest Republican campaign lie is that "General Hancock's health is very poor and that he is liable to die of apoplexy at any moment." Keep at it boys! You are doing bravely.

There is a terrible drought in the Pe tersburg and Richmond sections. In the latter place, which is largely a manufacturing city, the mills have been stopped, and thousands of operatives thrown out of employment.

seems to sasisfy even the average Massachusetts woman- Eight hundred reg. istered last year in Boston for this purpose, but only ten have come forward in 1880 as applicants for registry.

The Democrats in Indiana do not ap. paer to be very badly frightened. They have issued an address to the party in Indiana and declare that with proper efforts the State can be carried by the Democrats next month. We believe it.

Some of the Methodists at Lexington, Ill., profess entire holiness; but the other Christians do not believe them, and will not let them worship in the churches. They have therefore put up a tent and established a permanent camp meeting.

Thomas Hughes says that Dickens went through America with his eyes shut, and that if Americans were not the best people in the world they would not have treated him so well. Dickens' fame, he thinks, will wane, while Thackeray's will grow.

The registration lists show that about two hundred thousand voters may be expected to cast their ballots in New York city in November, and the World assures the Democracy of other states that a majority of 65,000 for Hancock may,

The dangers of the sea are sadly grouped together in the record of a British parliamentary "blue book" just issued From the 1st January, 1873, to May 1880, 1,965 British mercantile steamships and sailing vessels were reported as foundered or missing, their total tennage being 729,194. The number of lives lost was 10,827.

Now that we have the exact figures of the republican majority in Vermont, and it has dwindled down from 30,000, as it was put the day after the election, to 25,012, the lightning calculators of the republican party ought to draw out their arithmetics and political almanacs once more. We want to know how My past stock and my success speak for much gain they got in Vermont over-1876, and what will become of Garfield if the result in Vermont is an indication of what is to be expected in the other states in November?

> After awhile the republicans will discover that it does not pay to give too much prominence to charges of southern census frauds. They have just been hard hit by the report of Superintendent Walker, and fare no better in a case from Florida. It was charged that the population of Marion county, in that state. had been outrageously overstated in the census returns. The census bureau decided to investigate the charges and sent out an expert to make another enumeration of the county. This expert has found that Marion contains 3,000 more people than the returns complained of gave it, and so reports.

Rice birds are about played out. No so with those Scotch soles at ROSENTHAL'S TIE OPERA HOUSE

The Play of Freaks.

Seldom have we seen a Wilmington audience apparently more highly entertained and delighted than was the audience assembled at the Opera House last evening to witness the comical producginning of the piece in the first scene where Grank, the over-worked local editor, is annoyed by the printer's devil eternally crying "copy" in his ears, until the closing act, when the renowned Dr. Ketchum is finally overcome and succumbs to the redoubtable and accomplished Miss Theodolina Goldbug, a lady of many winters and few summers of beauty, and an authoress of a tragedy in seven acts, the mirth-provoking qualities of the piece abound in every School at 3 p. m. scene. The audience fairly roared with laughter, and when the amount of Dr. Ketchum's note, for which he had to go to jail, was named as being the trifling at 11 o'clock. Evening Prayer at 5 c'clock. sam of $329, the whole audience were uproarious with laughter and applause. It was a good piece to "laugh and grow fat." The parts were all about equally well sustained. Mr. Gilbert, as Ebenezer Crank, was very good. Miss Mary Stuart, as Theodolina Goldbug, was very excellent in her character. Mr. Lamb, as Dr. Ketchum, was decidedly good. ence and Grace Goldbug, were charming and attractive. The play will be repeated to-night and all who want a good laugh both children, one of which was brought and a chance to forget for a season, at least, the troubles and perplexities of this world, should not fail to embrace the opportunity offered this evening of witnessing the very laughable play of

The American Union.

Mr. Robert Morton, Division Superintendent of the American Upion lines, is in the city and called on us to-day. From him we learn that the work of erecting the wires is being pushed vig! on Sixth, between Church and Castle sts. orously. Communication is now complete between Cincinnati and New Orleans on the one side and Columbia and New Orleans on the other and the gap that remains to be filled is between point a short distance below Charlotte and Danville, Va. To cover this there are two forces at work, one going North and the other coming South, and each force puts up about ten miles of wire per day. On arriving at Charlotte it is the intention to push down the C. C. R. R. to this city and we have good hopes of seeing an office opened by the Company

The Coming Star.

Miss Adele Belgarde is a Jewess and was born in the South-about fifty miles above New Orleans. She is not yet twenty and if the pictures of her may be relied on she has an exceedingly bright and attractive face. She is said to be an ardent student of Shakespeare, and, as previously stated, the fact that Mr. H. J Sargent has undertaken her management is an indication that she has merit. Mr. Sargent is the same who conducted Modjeska through this country in her brilliant career. Miss Belgarde is to be with us very soon.

Astronomical.

Venus and Jupiter are now so situated with respect to one another that they form a peculiarly attractive feature of the evening sky. Just after sunset, and long before any other star, except Jupiter, becomes visible, Venus may be seen, as white and round as a drop of silver, shining through the yellow haze in the west. At the same time Jupiter, rising in the east, looks yet more lustrous against the dark black ground formed by the earth's advancing shadow. Thus the two planets may be watched for an hour, the one rising, while the other sinks, as if their steps were timed precisely together. Every eye will readily allow the precedence in brilliancy to Jupiter, who, however, only in his perihelion splendor is able to outshine the brilliant

Don't take clipped coins. The habit of clipping coins is becoming very prevalent. Sharpers in every large city make a living at it. Not only dollars and half dollars are clipped and punched, but quarters, ten and five cents pieces are shaved in that way. The postoffice authorities and most government officials refuse the mutilated bits.
