Have Just Returned

FROM THE WESTERN PART OF THE State with a fine stock of HUMAN HAIR, which I will make up in the latest styles at prices that must suit. Combing and old hair worked over, and darkened or lightened. Also, a fine stock of Millinery and Notions received. On Market, between 2d and 3d streets, next Wm. Dyeing Establishment. MISS LOU STUART.

Sarah Bernhardt is in New York. Of course her reception took the shape of an ovation. Shoddydom will run crazy over her.

Here is the latest from Indiana. It will be seen that the situation has improved very much there, as elsewhere, since the election on the 12th inst.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 26.—The average Republican plurality over the Democratic State ticket is only 4,683. The Democrats are making a remarkably vigorous campaign, and astonishing reports come in from the counties promising large Democratic gains. There is no doubt that the Democrats are better organized at this time than three weeks ago. They seem determined to carry the State for Hancock. The Republicans are frightened at the outlook, and the Journal, their State organ, to-day admits that the State is in doubt, and will be lost if the Republicans are not more active, which means a new supply of money. Mr. English is confident that the Democrats will carry the State.

Pshaw! If a man will lie, let him do it gracefully. It doesn't rob the fact of any of its immorality—not by any means—but it seems to varnish the thing somewhat. A clumsy rascal, from the nature of the beast, finds little of the attention, and sometimes sympathy, which is accorded to a clear, skillful scoundrel. We commend these observations to Mr. Jewell, the Chairman of the National Republican Committee. He denied having sent repeaters to Florida. He was very clumsy and very awkward in handling his denial. Garfield could give him three in the game and then beat him. Here is proof that Mr. Jewell did do just exactly that which he has denied. The affiant, Mr. McCabe, is a well-known business man in Eastern New Jersey.

ASBURY PARK, Monmouth Co., N. J. Allen D. McCabe, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is a resident of Ocean Grove, Monmouth County, N. J.; that on Oct. 1, 1880, he left New York on the steamer Western Texas for Florida; that there were on board of the same vessel, including himself, about a hundred rough-looking fellows, who, according to the statement made by the Captain of the vessel to this deponent, were railway laborers hired to work on the Waycross and East Florida Railroad. Dependent says that the said railroad is a line projected between Fernandina and Jacksonville; that some work has been done on the Fernandina end, but that no work is now doing or apparently in contemplation on the Jacksonville end. Dependent further says that on the arrival of the Western Texas at Fernandina on the evening of Thursday, Oct. 5, the alleged laborers were landed at Fernandina, but that on Saturday, Oct. 9, deponent saw a number of these men in Jacksonville, and that on Monday, Oct. 11, he saw and recognized in the streets of Jacksonville nearly the whole body of the alleged workmen who had come down with him on the steamer, that deponent, knowing no work had been begun on the Jacksonville end of the Waycross Railroad, interrogated several of these men as to their business in that place, saying: "I thought you fellows had come down to work on the railroad?" to which the answer was: "We ain't going to work on no railroad;" that to further inquiries they refused to make any reply, and walked away. And deponent further says that from Oct. 9 to Oct. 16, at which latter date he left Jacksonville for New York, he saw great numbers of the alleged laborers going up to the Republican headquarters on Bay street. That he asked the reason of their visits, to said headquarters, but received no answer. And deponent further says that Horatio Jenkins, Jr., is the Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee of Florida.

M. D. McCABE, Subscribed and sworn to this 26th day of October, A. D. 1880, before me. DAVID HARVEY, Jr., Notary Public, Asbury Park, N. J.

Speaking To-Night.

The meeting of the First and Second Wards which was to have been held at different places has been merged into one meeting, so we are informed by Major Dabham, the president of the Second Ward Club, and the gathering will take place in the First Ward. The programme, as we are informed, is to start from the Purcell House with Mr. D. H. McLean, one of the speakers, in a carriage, escorted by the Cornet Concert Club, march by the Court House and be joined by the Second Ward Club up Third street to the corner of Third and Mulberry, where Mr. Jno. C. James, another of the speakers, will join the procession, and thence on to the platform, near Boney Bridge, in Brooklyn, where the meeting will be organized and the speaking commence. Mr. John W. Shackelford will be in on the train to-night, and will make the closing speech.

Shawls—Shawls. Now they are daisies. All kinds, all colors, and all prices, at HAHN'S, 38 Market street. 1w

THE MEETING LAST NIGHT.

The Democracy of Wilmington Aroused—Tremendous Enthusiasm.

Seldom does it fall to the lot of any public speaker or speakers to address an enthusiastic audience in the city of Wilmington. But twice only within our recollection have we seen the citizens of Wilmington moved to greater enthusiasm than that which greeted our distinguished candidate for Congressional honors, John W. Shackelford, Esq., and the able and gifted young son of Harnett, Dan Hugh McLean, District Elector on the Democratic ticket, last night. When Gov. Vance visited this city in 1876, and again when our immense mass meeting took place here on the 24th of last August, there was a greater degree of enthusiasm exhibited than we have ever seen on any political occasion in this city. But there was no mistaking the genuineness of the feeling created by our gallant standard bearer, and next Congressman, Jno. W. Shackelford, last night. From the very first utterance that fell from his lips to the closing sentence of his speech the crowd was with him; he carried it along enthusiastically during the one hour that he addressed it. The pungent jokes and the scathing satire which our worthy candidate applied to his opponent as the representative of the Custom House ring and the revenue department, was highly appreciated and intensely enjoyed by the large audience assembled. But Mr. Shackelford did not confine himself to his own canvass. He entered the field for Hancock and Jarvis as well; his panegyric upon Jarvis' past career, as well as his blistering words of denunciation for Judge Buxton's conduct while wearing the judicial ermine, during the Holden-Kirk war, were well worth listening to. His eulogy of our gallant standard-bearer, Winfield Scott Hancock, was all that was needed, and, when at the expiration of his speech he retired from the stand, three rousing-hearty cheers were proposed and given for John W. Shackelford, the next representative in Congress from the Third Congressional District.

The Cornet Concert Club then played an interlude of one of their sweetest strains, when the eloquent young McLean, in response to loud calls, came forward and was introduced in a very happy manner by J. H. Currie, Esq., of this city. And what shall we say of our gallant young Elector's speech? Can anyone who heard the gifted orator last night expect us to repeat the silvery words of eloquence that dropped from the lips of this talented gentleman and convey to them an idea of paper of what he said. No, indeed, we trow not. But we, like others present, were quite lost in admiration at the powers of oratory and the fine elocution displayed by Mr. McLean during the delivery of his speech, and in common with all others present, were sorry indeed when he finished his eloquent effort. Crowds gathered around the distinguished speakers at the close of the meeting and congratulated them heartily upon the success their efforts had met with, as well the immense enthusiasm which was created. Some estimated the number of people present at between fifteen hundred and two thousand; at any rate, the crowd was very great and among the spectators we noticed many of our most highly esteemed and elderly citizens, who remained patient and attentive listeners to the end. We neglected to say, in the proper place, that the first speaker was introduced by our talented townsman, Major D. J. Devane, acting Chairman of the Congressional Committee, in an earnest, pleasing and eloquent speech.

Water Works.

The Committee appointed at a recent meeting at the City Hall, consisting of His Honor, Mayor Fishplate, and Alder men Divine and Foster, from the Board of Aldermen, and Messrs. Norwood Giles, D. G. Worth and R. J. Jones, from the Board of Audit and Finance, met yesterday afternoon at the City Hall to consider and act upon the bids submitted to them, in regard to supplying water to the city.

After a careful consideration of the bids a committee was appointed to notify Messrs J. A. Cloud & Co., of New York, and their associates in this city, Mr. E. Kidder and others, of the fact that their bid was preferred by the committee. As to the terms of this bid they may be briefly summarized as follows:

The proposition submitted by Mr. Cloud is for the erection of first-class water works, of the most improved description, in this city, and to be completed on or before the first day of June next. According to the terms of the contract there are to be sixty double and fifteen single hydrants, giving one hundred and thirty-five openings for hose attachments, for the use of the city, at an annual rental of $5,250; and water to be furnished to private consumers at a moderate rate as compared with cities of the same size. The city to have the option of purchase, when the works are completed, or at equal stated periods thereafter. The water supply is yet to be selected; to be hereafter determined, by analysis and investigation, with the object of obtaining the best water available.

The Carolina Central.

We are aware of the fact that the Carolina Central Railroad is doing an enormous freight business. The Laurinburg Enterprise, published near the shops of the Company, sees more of all that is going on in this line than we do. It says:

We have been astonished beyond expression at the immense business being done by this great railroad. There are 24 engines constantly employed day and night in transporting freight, and often times a number of these trains make from seven to twelve round trips a week, drawing from 14 to 30 loaded cars. At no season since the completion of the road has the amount of freight been so enormous, and we venture the assertion that no railroad in the State, running the same number of cars, can compare receipts with the Carolina Central. Nearly every hour in the day, for the past three weeks, freight trains have passed this station going to and from Charlotte and Wilmington. One day last week we heard an engineer say, "with all the doubling back and forth there are kept ahead about one hundred and fifty car loads of freight in Charlotte, awaiting shipment via the Carolina Central." The enormous increase, we presume, is due to the excellency of the management.

Any and everybody can now do their own painting, as N. JACOB is the agent for the N. Y. Enamel Paints works, and the prices are low.
