There was a very cold wave yesterday at the North which is sweeping Southward to-day. Heavy frosts are predicted in the Southwest and the sugar crop will suffer greatly.
The commissioner of internal revenue will in his forthcoming report recommend the abolition of the stamp tax on matches, bank checks and proprietary medicines. It is understood that the recommendation will be concurred in by the Secretary of the Treasury. The receipts from these sources are about $6 500,000.

A scheme for changing the channel of the St. Lawrence at Montreal, by building an immense dike, at a cost of $7,000,000, is under consideration. The advantages would be a still-water harbor, water power for mills, and the protection of the lower part of the city against annual freshets.

About 30,000 tons of ice have been brought from Norway and Sweden to New York this season, where it is sold at from $6 to $7 50 per ton, while the domestic article has been as high as $20 per ton. The Norway ice is from fourteen to eighteen inches thick and as transparent as glass.

The Republicans are still bulldozing the Democrats in South Carolina. Two white citizens were arrested yesterday at Greenville, charged with frauds, and the U. S. Commissioner who examines the accused is a defeated candidate for Congress. What a travesty is justice in the hands of the Republicans!

They have organized a "National Union Association" in Providence, R. I., the object being to "assist in building up a new party at the South; for the establishment and maintenance of free public schools and labor and for the protection of the laws and rights of all classes of citizens." These Rhode Islanders forget that charity should begin at home.

The Fayetteville Examiner, commenting on an article published recently in the REVIEW, relative to cotton-seed oil mills, has this to say:

The various uses of the cotton plant are being slowly developed. A crop of six million bushels of cotton seed. And allowing a bushel of seed to contain one quart of oil, we should have fifty million gallons of oil, as the amount contained in the entire crop of one year. Only a small portion of this amount is expressed and sold in this market. There is indefinite expansion of business enterprise in this direction. Wherever the seed can be obtained in sufficient quantities these oil factories have been found on trial to be profitable. There are many of them in operation in New Orleans, Memphis and other cities of the Southwest.

Here at Fayetteville are several cotton gins in operation from which a considerable quantity of cotton seed could be obtained. Is this not a favorable point for establishing a cotton seed oil factory? We ask this question merely to call attention to the subject. We profess no practical familiarity with it. Let business men investigate the question.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather last night, there was but a small attendance at the Library Rooms, and the annual meeting of the Association was, therefore, adjourned to some future date.

Seeing is believing—without doubt you can buy Cooking and Heating Stoves at almost any price at JACOBI'S.

Death of a Pauper.
Jack Sweat, the colored individual who was picked up on the streets during the prevalence of the storm the other night and who was the object of so much sympathy, was the victim of a horrible disease, from the effects of which he died at the County Poor House last night.

The Festival Last Night.
The disagreeable weather did not have a very serious effect on the Festival given at the City Hall last evening by the ladies of the Front Street M. E. Church. It was well attended, although there would undoubtedly have been many more present had the elements been more propitious. As it was, it was a very enjoyable occasion to those who were present.

Personal.
Dr. T. S. Burbank, who left here about a week ago for Wilmington, is now at his old home in Washington. He will remain there for nearly a month in charge of Dr. McDonald's business and his practice, while that gentleman has gone to Baltimore. When he returns Dr. Burbank will again take up the line for Wilmington, where he proposes to settle.

How to catch 'em. Just buy the Delusion Rat and Mouse traps. Caught nearly forty one night. These traps are sold at JACOBI'S.

A Hard Winter.
All the "signs," according to those versed in such lore, point to a severe winter. Exchanges note that the crop of chinquapins, chestnuts, wild grapes, persimmons, etc., was never known to be more abundant than it is this fall, and according to the observations of our forefathers it indicates very cold weather. How the hornets build their nests is another infallible indication, and this year they have chosen the tops of the tallest trees. They do this, it is said, in obedience to some instinctive foreknowledge of the approach of severe temperature; but why they would not be just as comfortable down below, is not explained.

Rice birds are about played out. Not so with those Scotch soles at ROSENTHAL'S. They last for ever.

The Coon Club.
There was quite a large attendance last night in the Parlor of the Purcell House, where the Wilmington Coon Club was organized with the following officers, viz:
President—D. M. Wright.
Vice President—C. B. Willson.
Secretary—H. D. Burkholder.
Treasurer—Simon Sanders.
Director of the Chase—Herbert Pette-way.
Keeper of Kennel—Pat Carr.
The "Coons" will have their first meet at Castle Hayne on Monday evening next, and if the animals in that neighborhood are wise they will at once take to their legs and hide themselves in the fastnesses of Anglo Pocosin.

When we reflect that so many human beings die of Consumption we must come to the conclusion that everybody should be provided with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which never fails to cure a cough, the forerunner of this dreadful disease. Price 25 cents.
The coinage of the silver three-cent and copper two-cent pieces was discontinued in 1873, and that of the silver twenty-cent piece in 1878. Under the provisions of the act of June 9, 1879, providing for the exchange of subsidiary coins for lawful money of the United States, the coins above mentioned are being redeemed at the subtreasury offices, and when received are not again paid out.

The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 838 bales.

Thanksgiving turkeys are on a strike. They won't come down out of the coops for less than a dollar and a quarter.

Wood is on a high horse to-day and can only be had by those who will fork out a dollar for a load, whether it be oak or ash.

The wind is from the North, the skies are overcast and the atmosphere all day long here has been suggestive of unshed snow.

And so Mrs. Oates, or Titus, or whatever her name may be, has disbanded her company and will not fill her engagement at the Opera House in this city on the 24th inst.

The River.
When the steamer Gov. Worth passed the shoals yesterday, below Fayetteville, there was but six feet of water. The river was then falling but it was raining very hard at the time and the probabilities are that there were also heavy rains in the interior. It is thought that there will be another freshet atop of this.

Weather Forecast.
Vener and Tice are both to the fore again with their predictions of severe weather. The former expects that the latter part of December, with January and March, will give the most snow. February, he says, "looks warmer." He anticipates an early Spring and thinks that the ice crop will be good.
Prof. Tice forecasts that the winter months will be characterized by great and sudden changes in atmospheric pressure, and consequently by heavy precipitation—that is, heavy rains in the South and heavy snows in the North, with generally extreme low temperature.

Ladies, the best fits and the easiest shoes for the little ones are at ROSENTHAL'S.

Dr. DeRosset's Arrival.
Dr. A. J. DeRosset arrived here safely last night with his son, Dr. M. J. DeRosset, and family, from New York. Dr. M. J. DeRosset, it will be remembered, was stricken with paralysis some weeks ago in New York city, where he was at that time residing and practicing his profession, but it was only recently that his physicians would consent to his removal, which was accomplished last night by his safe arrival in Wilmington. The condition of the sick gentleman is much improved from what it was when he was first stricken and we are happy to be able to state that he is quite cheerful and talks with much more freedom and more intelligently than he was able to do at first.

Death of Mr. Melvin.
Mr. Jas. S. Melvin, who was stricken with paralysis about ten days ago, died this morning at his boarding house on Market, between Front and Second streets. His body was taken up the river to Pine Bluff, Bladen county, today. Mr. Melvin was about 58 years of age, and was insured in the Presbyterian Mutual Assurance Fund of Louisville, Kentucky. Prior to the war he lived among us several years, but moved back to his home at the beginning of the war. About twelve months ago he removed to this city and engaged himself in the business of timber inspecting. He was well liked and was highly respected.

A New Cure for Wounds
A writer on health topics gives the following directions for curing wounds: "As soon as a wound is inflicted, get a little stick—a knife or file-handle will do—and commence to tap gently on the wound. Do not stop for the hurt, but continue till it bleeds freely and becomes perfectly numb. When this point is reached you are perfectly safe—all that is necessary is to protect it from dirt. Do not stop short of bleeding and numbness and do not on any account close the opening with plaster. Nothing more than a little cerate on a clean cloth is necessary. We have used and seen this used on all kinds of simple punctures for years, and never knew a single instance of a wound becoming inflamed or sore after this treatment. Among other cases: a coal rake [tooth] going entirely through the foot, a rusty darning needle through the foot, a bad bite by a sucking pig, several instances of file shanks through the hand, and numberless cases of rusty nails, awl, &c., but we never knew a failure of this treatment."

The buckwheat cake is now in order and so is the syrup that makes it palatable.

Skirts must be short enough to show the third button of the boot, or fall short in style.

The Gulf Stream.
Our neighbor of the Star is mistaken in saying that the steamship Gulf Stream (of which we spoke at length in the REVIEW on her previous trip to this port) was built for a blockade runner. The Gulf Stream was known in antebellum days as the North Carolina. The pioneer of the line, which was established during the last year previous to the war, was the Parkersburg and the second steamer was the North Carolina, now the Gulf Stream. She ran here but a few months previous to the war and she came into the port after the forts had been seized by the State forces. She was afterwards allowed to depart unmolested. Since that time she has been lengthened and enlarged and now has an iron hull.
