The Duplin Canal.

A very gratifying test was made last Saturday of the efficiency of the progress of the work on the Daplin Canal, under the supervision of Maj. Young, the Superintendent. On that day 40,000 feet of timber was floated, in sections, from Shelter Creek to the North East River at Bannerman's Bridge. Let this im portant work but be completed and im mense amounts of produce may be looked for as the result. It will, in our opin. ion, prove one of the most important local enterprises in the State.

Dastardly:

Yesterday afternoon, as the regular passenger train from the North, due here at 9:53, Capt. Borden, conductor, was passing a point about a mile and a hall beyond Fremont, a billet of wood was hurled from the bank at the train. It was probably aimed at the engineer but as the train was running then very rapidly, at the rate of about 35 miles an hour, the engine and baggage, mail and freight cars forged ahead and the missile entered the smoking car. It crashed through a window and struck an elderly gentleman on the hand, knocking him ont of the seat and inflicting an ugly wound. There is no clue, as yet, to the author of this dastardly outrage, but we trust that he may be caught and punished to the full extent of the law.

In Explanation.

Mr. Geo. Tienken, a merchant in this city, was the defendant in a case yesterday before the Mayor. Some explanation of this case is in order. On Friday night last there was a disturbance in Mr Tienken's store and the parties, becoming disorderly, were ejected by that gentleman. Thereupon a warrant was sued out and Mr. Tienken was carried before the Mayor on the charge of disorderly conduct, who found the offence so slight that judgment was suspended and the case thus disposed of. We make this statement in justice to Mr. Tienken who does not think that the report made by us yesterday was explicit enough.

Fire-Horse Severely Burned.

about 9:30 o'clock, caused by the burning of the stables of Messrs. Hall & Pearsall, located on the corner of Ninth an Chestnut streets. In the stables were six horses and one mule. Some one passing discovered the fire and gave the alarm and also broke open the stable door. Five horses and the mule were gotten out of the stable. The blanket and was given until the 17th inst. to on one of the horses was on fire when complete and file the same. the door was broken open. The animal was very badly burned and it is feared failed and was allowed until the 17th that the poor horse will hardly survive in wnich to produce an acceptable bond the injuries sustained. The fire broke out in the stall in which the unfortunate | the Superior Court, was renewed as reanimal was standing. Mr. [J. H. Jones, quired by law. It is for the sum of $10, who has charge of the stables, says that after the horses had been housed for the night he looked about and locked the stable door. His idea is that a match was dropped in the stall and exploded by the horse stepping on it and setting fire to the straw in the stable. The injured was not materially injured.

Brothers, barbers. It is impossible, at this writing, to ascertain the extent of the damage or to arrive at an accurate estimate of the value of the property destroyed, but it will approximate $40,000. The railroad shops were saved by persistent effort on the part of the people, and especially the employes of the shops. The damage to the shops, enclosures and contiguous buildings belonging to the Company will probably amount to $275. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary, as no fire was left in the store when closed early after sunset yesterday evening. McDuppir.

A Handsome Corner

Mr. Jas. E. Willson has just received a very handsome silver cornet with gold trimming and has it on exhibition at Yates' book store. The instrument is intended for use at concerts and in the drawing room. It is supplied with all modern improvements including a "dummy" which softens the tone to such an extent that a person in an adjoining room would think that the cornet was being blown a square off.
