The Democrats in Washington are hugging themselves over the happy result in Tennessee, whereby Howell F. Jackson has been elected U. S. Senator. This gives the Senate to the Democrats provided David Davis and "Mahone of Virginia" may be relied on.
 The Laurinburg Enterprise learns that 3,000 tons of iron for the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railroad have been purchased by the Company with which to commence laying the track on the finished road bed from the Gulf in Chatham county to Greensboro, and that the work will commence within ninety days.
 Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, addressed two Land League mass meetings there Tuesday night. Strong Land League resolutions were adopted, which he was asked to sign and forward to Dublin in his official capacity. He refused, and a wild scene ensued, during which the Mayor was hooted and finally hustled out of the hall.
 Straws is the title of a new pictorial publication just begun at Louisville, the first issue of which is before us. It is a Southern publication, is Democratic and is besides well edited and well conducted. The cartoons are in colors and are very good, both in conception and in execution. This number is of eight pages but the publishers promise that the regular issues hereafter will be twice that number of pages. It is to be published weekly at 10 cents a number.
 Mr. A. F. Bizzell, of Laurinburg, gives the News and Observer the results of his last year's farming: He cultivated fifty acres in cotton, with three mules; has enriched the soil by the use of wood ashes (last year hauling it seven or eight miles), cotton seed and muck; has used but fifteen sacks of guano on it since 1875. He gathered, the past season, 30,279 pounds of lint cotton, or sixty bales, weighing 500 pounds each. Besides this, he produced 600 bushels of corn, 300 bushels of potato and 6,000 pounds of pork. He could have realized at low prices, on these crops alone, over $4,000 in cash—over $1,300 to each mule.

A queer case of death from a too strict observance of discipline is reported from St. Louis. Archibald Gibson, Second Lieutenant, United States Cavalry, son of Charles Gibson, a prominent lawyer of that city, died at the residence of his father on Wednesday morning. His death was caused by inflammation of the brain, believed to be the result of circumstances which occurred while he was at West Point. One day while on parade a spider got into one of his ears. By the rules he was not allowed to raise his hand, and stood in the ranks more than an hour, while the spider worked its way into the ear. When dismissed his ear was full of blood, and the insect could not be removed for two days. This caused a corrosion of the bone next to the brain, and gave him a good deal of trouble.
 The Alumni Society of the University of North Carolina had a very pleasant reunion at Raleigh on Wednesday. The meeting was largely attended. Speeches were made and dry toasts were drunk and responded to. The respondents were Gov. Robinson, Mr. Cooke, Speaker of the House, Col. Jno. L. Staples, Hon. John Manning, Dr. Eugene Grissom, Rev. Dr. Skinner, Messrs. Morrison, Scott (not "our Scott") Nicholson, Merritt, Webster, and Bradshaw, members of the Legislature, Hon. Montford McGehee, Maj. P. S. Tucker, Julian S. Carr, Esq., Prof. W. C. Kerr and Col. D. K. McRae. It was, as Col. McRae expressed it, "a feast of reason and a flow of soul without any spirits."

A Steamboat Sank while lying at the Wharf—Narrow Escape of Nine Men from drowning.
 The river steamer Clinton, a small stern-wheel steamer, which has been plying between this city and Bannerman's Bridge, on the North East river, for several years past, was sunk while lying at the wharf of Mr. J. A. Springer's coal and wood yard this morning about 4 o'clock, and now lies with only a small portion of her bow above the water. The engine and boiler are in the after part of the boat and it is thought this helped to carry the steamer down stern foremost. From William Taylor, colored, who was freeman on the Clinton, we learn that there were some eight or nine men (all colored), including a portion of the crew, who were aboard of the steamer and asleep at the time of the catastrophe, who barely had time to escape, one side of the steamer being completely submerged before the last man reached the wharf. The crew, who had regularly retired to bed, ran the greatest risk as they were asleep in their bunks with the doors to their rooms or cabins closed when the boat commenced to go under, and consequently they were all compelled to run for their lives in their night clothes. Taylor, our informant, says that Andrew Black, a flat hand, from about Bannerman's Bridge heard the timbers cracking and was the first to give the alarm of the steamer's sinking. The men who were aboard of the boat before she went down assign as the cause of her sinking, a collision of the steam tug Alpha last night about 10 or 11 o'clock with the stern of the sunken steamer. The crew of the unfortunate boat say that the stern of their boat overlapped the wharf where their steamer was lying, and extended to the wharf of the Alpha, and as this last named steamer came in to her wharf she struck the stern of the Clinton, giving the boat a pretty severe shock.
 Ten cords of blackjack wood, twenty dozen eggs and the private baggage of the crew, besides the engine and boiler, is what was carried down with the boat when she sank. We do not know the extent of the damage or loss to the sunken steamer, which was owned and commanded by Captain James Wallace, who has his residence in this city. But we fear it is enough to make him feel the loss. We imagine, as was the case with the Gov. Worth, so it was with the Clinton, about insurance; none at all against sinking, only insured against fire.

The Old Folks and the Young Folks
 The probability is that there will be another large audience at the Opera House this evening to hear the old folks sing and see the young folks perform. The box-sheet shows this much. As it will in all likelihood be the last opportunity offered those who have not yet attended should see it at once.
 We advise our friends to call at JACOBI'S for Household Hardware of every description. There you get the lowest prices.
Exports Foreign.
 The foreign exports to-day consist of two cargoes, one to Glasgow, per German barque Louise Dorothea, consisting of 170 casks spirits, and 1,874 barrels resin, Messrs. Paterson, Downing & Co., the shippers, and the other per schooner Lavinia F. Warren, to Hayti, cargo of 204,808 feet lumber and 16,500 shingles, shipped by Messrs. E. Kidder & Sons.
Masquerade To-Night
 Lovers of fun should not forget the masquerade skating carnival at the City Hall to-night. It promises to be a very pleasant affair and the masquerade characters are said to be of the most grotesque kind. In fact, we have been told to advise persons who contemplate going to put a stop-cock on their risibles. Professor Cushing has done everything in his power to make the carnival a success and every one who attends is promised a good time.
Representatives to the Grand Lodge
 At a meeting of Germania Lodge No. 4, K. of P., held last evening, P. G. C., W. H. Gerken was elected Representative to the Grand Lodge of the Order which will assemble at Goldsboro on Tuesday, February 8th. P. G. C., John Haar, Jr., and P. C.'s, H. C. Prempert, G. F. VonKampen, J. D. Steljes, F. C. Muller, Wm. Genauat and W. H. M. Kock will also attend. Stonewall Lodge will elect its Representatives on Monday evening next.
