We learn from the signal office that a gale of wind prevails along the coast.
No damage is reported as yet.

We are pleased to see that Capt. Leggitt has so far improved in health as to be able to appear on the street to-day.

It is impossible to diminish poverty by multiplication of effects; but the best thing to diminish the effects of a heavy

The Howard Relief Fire Engine Company will celebrate their 25th anniversary on Tuesday by a parade during the day and a ball at night.

The water in the river had fallen about ten feet up to yesterday morning but it is not low enough, as yet, to resume operations on the Gov. Worth.

Next Tuesday, the 22nd, is a legal holiday, and the Banks in this city will be closed on that day. Paper falling

At the Knights of Pythias banquet at Goldsboro last week, the remarkable coincidence was observed that the pres-

Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, all reside in Wayne county.

We learn from the News and Ob-for Fayetteville. It is understood that depositions are to be there taken in regard to the contested election case, as Mr. Canaday is contesting Mr. Shackelford's election.

Personal.

Capt. Jas. D. Cumming, formerly of this city, but now a cotton merchant in New York, is here on a short visit and looking, we are pleased to see, in the enjoyment of most excellent health. The old firm of Hinson, Cumming & Co., it will be noticed, has been dissolved, Capt.
Cumming and Mr. Bailey, the junior partner, retiring from the old firm and entering into business together under the name and style of Cumming & Bailey.

A Stranger Captured.

Yesterday afternoon a large seal, weighing about one hundred pounds and measuring 3 1/2 feet in length, was captured in Col. B. R. Moore's seine at Keg Island, ten miles below this city. The stranger is a fine looking animal and its skin is valuable. Its captors, to be certain of his capture, shot it, one shot taking effect in its head. It is a great pity that the animal was not captured alive.
A real live seal is a curiosity even under a circus tent.

OPERA HOUSE.

Miss Eleanor Calhoun.

There was a fine audience at the Opera House last night to greet the first appearance here of that new and rising star in the theatrical world who has been so generously commended by the press everywhere she has yet appeared. There had been much pleasant expectation and our people were prepared to receive her warmly.

The play selected for Miss Calhoun's introduction here was Sardou's Daniel Rochat, with Mr. Barton Hill in the title role supporting Miss Calhoun's Leah Henderson. Of the play itself as a theatrical romance or a pleasantly pointed fiction, but little can be said in its favor. There is much, however, of real dramatic force in it; it is highly thrilling and affords those emotional situations that call for real exhibitions of talent.

We must candidly admit that Miss Calhoun did not impress us as favorably as we had wished in the first act, but there very little was required of her.
As the play proceeded in interest, however, she rose to the requirements of the situation and gave evidences of real artistic skill. She has unquestioned talent, we unhesitatingly believe, a very decided talent and of the highest order.
Her conception is exceeding fine, her elocutionary accomplishments excellent and her appearance very charming. But as yet, she has not had time to add to these gifts and accomplishments that ease and finish of stage manners that come only with careful experience in the habit of the stage and constant familiarity with the footlights.

Miss Thompson, as Esther Henderson, was as charming as possible for a winsome little creature to be. We were highly pleased with her acting and believe that her stage career will be crowned with many successes. Mrs. Germon, that finished old lady actress, gave us a treat in her Mrs. Powers.

Mr. Hill is an actor whose talents have long ago won recognition. He stands well up in the list of American actors and it is a great pleasure to witness his acting. His Daniel Rochat we thought a finished representation and we have only words of commendation to offer. Among the other gentlemen of the troupe, Mr.
Eberle deserves special mention. Mr.
Ford deserves our gratitude for the company he has sent us. Its stock composition is far better than usual, and such as is well fitted to assist Miss Calhoun in her labors and her triumphs.

We have not time before going to press for a report of the matinee. At the performance to-night Miss Calhoun will appear as Juliet, in which character she achieved her first great success.

We advise our friends to call at JACOBI'S for Household Hardware of every description. There you get the lowest prices.

No, darling, love is not a dream—it is an expensive reality.

A pretty and new device for the toilet table is a bird cologne holder.

Water Works.

Dr. J. A. Cloud arrived in this city yesterday and completed the arrangements relative to the water works. Part of the material is on the way and a vessel, now loaded, is ice-bound at Elizabeth-port. Dr. Cloud says that work will be commenced on the water works as soon as the material arrives.

The Poor House on Fire.

The roof of the main building of the Poor House was discovered on fire yesterday about 1 o'clock. The fire originated from a spark and the roof was in a light blaze when discovered by Mr. J. H.
Savage, the Superintendent. The shingles on the roof are very old and rotten and are nothing more than punk. Had not Mr. Savage discovered the fire when he did the Poor House would to-day have been in ashes, as the wind was blowing fresh from the southwest and giving great impetus to the flames.

School Exercises—Misses Burr and James.

The mid-session examination of the pupils of this school commences on Monday, the 21st. On the evening of that day there will be a musical recital, with calisthenic exercises, at the City Hall, upon which occasion will be presented Addison's celebrated Fan Drill, as it appeared in the Spectator of the seventeenth century; also a midget in calis-thenics. A small fee of admission will be required of all except the parents and guardians of the pupils. Proceeds to be devoted for the benefit of the school.

A Reminiscence.

Appearances are often deceptive and are not always to be relied upon, as the following will show: About thirty years ago a gentleman of this city, who had just graduated at the Girard College, in Philadelphia, was on his way home, bringing with him his "sheepskin," snugly enclosed in a tin case made for the purpose While on the train he noticed a dried-up, seedy-looking little man cuddled up in the corner of a seat, with his body and legs covered by a shawl which had evidently served its time. This young disciple of Esculapius, thinking that the "little man" was from the backwoods and suffering from the ague, took a seat by him and in a very patronizing manner asked the "little man," who was not at all talkative, many questions pertaining to his physical condition, antecedents, if he had ever been to school and if he would like to see a real diploma? The little man was very reticent but our then young M. D. thought it was only due respect shown the M. D.'s superior learning, clothes, etc. Finally the train rolled into Weldon and at the depot a large concourse of people and one or two brass bands had congregated. The bands struck up "Hail to the Chief," and the loquacious M. D. arose, pulled down his vest and shook the wrinkles out of his pants, when several prominent gentlemen of the town appeared at the car door and asked if the Hon. Alex. H.
Stevens was in the car. "Yes sir," responded the "little man" rising from the seat and as he appeared on the platform the air was rent with cheers. Our M. D. suddenly disappeared and was not seen until the train reached this city. Until this day he will fight if you refer to the matter, but as we are going to leave the state "we give it away."

Henry Van Nortwick, of Toledo, Ohio, says:—

A friend prevailed upon me to try an "Only Lung Pad," and I obtained immediate relief from a racking cough. I know the Pad helped me.—See Ad.
