THE DAILY REVIEW.

VOL. VI WILMINGTON, N. C., THURSDAY APRIL 14, 1881. NO. 40

PLEASE NOTICE.
We will be glad to receive communications from our friends on any and all subjects of general interest but The name of the writer must always be inscribed to the Editor.
Communications must be written on only one side of the paper.
Personalities must be avoided.
And it is especially and particularly understood that the Editor does not always endorse the views of correspondents, unless so stated in the editorial column.

You can now buy Improved Heating and Mayor Smith is not kind to us, he don't furnish enough items.

This rain will give Chief Brock something to do to have the streets all put in repair again.
To-morrow being Good Friday, there will be no paper issued from this office on that day, in accordance with our usual custom.

There was some six feet of water on the shoals at last accounts, but the water, which had been rising a little, had commenced to fall again.

Yesterday everybody nearly was saying with a dissatisfied air, "How very warm it is!" To-day the tune is changed and every one is saying, "how very cold." Verily, human nature is hard to please.

If we were allowed an opinion upon the subject we should call this to all appearances a bleak November day, when the leaves fall, and are scattered by the autumn winds, instead of a day in the mi-dle of the middle Spring month of the year.

It is hoped that before this paragraph reaches the eyes of our city readers there will be a complete change for the better in the weather. We notice the off-shore signals displayed above the signal office, which generally indicates a northwest wind, with clearing weather.

Business will be virtually suspended to-morrow (Good Friday) as the banks and the Produce Exchange will be closed.
We presume that the public offices will also be closed. Mayor Fishblate, we believe, inaugurated the custom of closing the city offices on Good Friday

Among the new collars for the ladies which have just come in are immense round ones, such as were worn by the great grandfathers of the grown-up present generation. They are hand wrought on mull, or on linen cambric, and, with a dark dress, have a very quaint and pleasing effect.

Personal.
We were glad to receive a call this morning from two Wilmingtonians, now residents elsewhere, but at present here on a visit, Thos. R. Parnell, Esq., of Raleigh, and Mr. E. Dudley McIlhenny, of Georgia, son of Col. T. C. McIlhenny, of this city.

Did Not Come.
Rev. Dr. Patterson did not arrive here last evening, as he was expected to do.
Instead, a letter was received from him stating that he would not reach Wilmington until next week, and will not, therefore, be able to spend Easter among his old friends and parishioners.

An old lady writes us: "I am 65 years old and was feeble and nervous all the time, when I bought a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic. I have used a little more than one bottle and feel as well as at 30, and am sure that hundreds need just such a medicine." See advertisement.

An Anniversary.
This weather is very much like unto that which some—alas! not too many—will remember as having occurred during the Spring of 1849, just 32 years ago. In that year, on the 15th day of April, there was a heavy snow storm here and it fell nearly all day. To-morrow will be the anniversary of that day. Yet the snow to which we have alluded, late in the season as it was, and disastrous as its effects were in many instances, was not without its compensation. Previous to that time there had been an alarming mortality among the pine trees throughout this section of the State, caused by the depressions of an insect, and valuable turpentine trees were dying up by the acre in many directions. The turpentine farmers were in despair and knew not how to get rid of the bugs, when just as they were at the end of their expedients down came the soft-stepping snow from Heaven and the remedy was applied and the cure was accomplished in a day and a night. The bugs were killed and the valuable pine forests were saved from destruction.

Arrested Again.

Sarah McKenzie, the colored woman of unsound mind who was up before the Mayor on Tuesday and released on condition she would leave the city, was again arrested by the police in Brooklyn, yesterday, and conveyed to the Guard House. The charge is she had not left town as agreed upon and was a sort of nuisance to the citizens in the locality in which she was arrested. Troops of little children were following her and the officers, apprehending some violence on the part of the unfortunate woman, thought best to arrest her. She will be sent out to the Poor-House and placed in the Insane department there.

Back From the Jaws of Death
There was considerable of an excitement in the little town of Burgaw on Monday last, caused by the attempt of a quiet little colored girl to shuffle off this too mortal coil. She procured a bottle of morphine from a clerk in a store in the town, who could not have been aware of its full effects, and swallowed it all. The fact was ascertained and a physician called in who gave the proper antidotes and restoratives and brought the girl safely back from the very jaws of death.
The girl, we understand, asserts that the cause of her rash attempt was a little trouble with some of the "young bloods" of the town, as she calls them, and more especially one of her nearest neighbors.
There is a strong argument here in favor of education and licensed druggists.

Good Friday.
To-morrow will be known as Good Friday, the anniversary of the crucifixion of the Saviour. The Saxons named it "Long Friday," because of the protracted religious services on that day; and the Germans style it Stiller Freitag, on account of the solemn silence observed in the churches, or "Char Freitag" from an antiquated word signifying penitence.
During the first two or three centuries of Christianity it was called the "pasch" because then Christ, the paschal lamb, was slain. Its celebration has been attended with peculiar rites. In most churches a sepulchre used to be constructed and a crucifix was carried thither and deposited as in a tomb. The ciborium, containing consecrated wafers, was placed with it. At Tours, as St. Gregory of that place writes, the watchings were kept in darkness until the third hour of the night, when a small light appeared before the altar. Good Friday is the only day in the year in which mass is not celebrated in the Roman Catholic Churches. A host is consecrated the day before for use on this day, and having been placed overnight in a repository generally erected for the purpose in a chapel or part of the church, is carried to the main altar and consumed by the priest.
No consecrated wine is used nor are the customary lights, incense and music employed. The ceremony of kissing the cross, sometimes called "adoration of the cross," is performed by the clergy and the people on their knees. In England this was anciently called "creeping to the cross," as appears by the following extract from a proclamation in the reign of Henry VIII: "On Good Friday it shall be declared how creeping of the crosse signifyth an humblyng of oneself to Christe before the crosse and the kys-sage of it a memorie of our redemption made upon the crosse." In some countries an image of Judas Iscariot was dressed up on this day and subjected to every sort of indignity. In the north of England it is customary to eat on Good Friday herb puddings, in which a principal ingredient is the "passion dock" which, in fructification, produces fancied representations of the cross, nails, hammer, &c. A better known practice is that of serving "hot cross-buns," which a popular superstition holds to be preservative against fire and other disasters. In several English counties a small loaf is baked on the morning of this day and put by until the next year, to be used in morsels as a medicine.

There will be services in the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran Churches tomorrow.
Mr. Frank Schwarz, 98 Nineteenth street, Cincinnati, Ohio, writes: I suffered for five years with Rheumatism.
Having been persuaded by friends to try St. Jacob's Oil, I must acknowledge, that it is the best remedy I ever used; in fact it cured me entirely.

Foreign Shipments.

The shipments foreign from this port to-day foot up 3,450 barrels rosin per Nor. barque Credo, for Hamburg, shipped by Messrs. Paterson, Downing & Co.; 400 casks spirits and 3,045 barrels rosin, per Br. barque J. T. Smith, for London, shipped by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son, and 168,055 feet lumber and 101, 700 shingles, per brig Leonard Meyers, for Port-au-Prince, shipped by Messrs.
Northrop & Cumming.

A Scarce Article
Magistrates Row is almost ready to go into mourning on account of the dearth of business. We canvassed the entire block to-day, notwithstanding the inclemency of the day, and failed to get a single ray of an item. To-night our subscribers will want to know why we don't give them some news. But how can we give what we haven't got, and cannot find? "Why, manufacture some," we fancy we hear as the ready answer.
Well, didn't we manufacture a whole column on last Friday week, the 1st day of April? and wasn't there a dozen men in our sanctum the very next day looking for the fighting Editor? It is well he was out of town on that occasion, or we would have had to send for the sanitary commission and the Board of Health to clear away the slaughtered.

Merchandise in the Malls.
The question whether tags on samples of merchandise, containing figures indicating the price and width, are mail-able as fourth-class matter was recently brought to the attention of the Postoffice Department by some leading dry goods firms. The rulings of the department upon this question are embodied in the following general order, which has just been issued by Postmaster-General James: "Tags or labels attached to samples of merchandise may have the price and width of the goods printed thereon, either by the original impression or by a hand stamp, filling in blanks left by the original print. This will not authorize such use of a hand-stamp for any other purpose than as a description of the thing attached. It cannot be used to convey information personal in its nature or disconnected from the thing to which the matter so stamped is attached, except at rates for first-class matter. The width of the article of which a sample is given may be stated in writing, but when so written, the purpose of identification being held to have been accomplished as authorized by the statute, the price of the article cannot be added, either in writing or in print, without changing the classification of the matter to letter rates."

We advise our friends to call at JACOBI'S tion. There you get the lowest prices. †

Taking Her Place in Line.

The steamer North State, Captain T. J. Green, of the "Cape Fear and People's Steamboat Line," put in an appearance here this morning after an absence of several months undergoing repairs at Fayetteville. The North State has come out in her summer dress, (though it is thought at the present writing she is straining the season a little) having been renovated and repainted, and cleaned up generally for the summer trade and travel.
