LOCAL NEWS.

Cotton vs. Corn.
 It is a well known fact that our farmers devote too little attention to the cultivation of grain. In fact they do not make their living on the farm, but keep the smokehouse and corn crib in the West. There are a few (but, like angels' visits, are far between) who are not such loyal subjects to king cotton, and raise their own supplies. A gentleman from this city a few weeks since, while traveling, met an old and reliable farmer, who always made his cotton field an "outside issue." This season he has been forced to buy corn, for the first time in forty-five years. During that long period he had corn to sell, and it was an extraordinary sight to see western corn sold to this model farmer. He says the lesson is a good one and as he is not too old to learn, proposes to profit by it. This year he has devoted much of his land to the cultivation of corn and small grain.

The Fire Last Night.
 The alarm of fire last evening, about 8 o'clock, was caused by the burning of the roof of the kitchen attached to a small frame house on Fifth, between Nun and Church streets, in the Fourth fire district. The fire was discovered burning through the roof of the kitchen and is supposed to have originated from a defective flue. The fire department reached the scene, but the engines did not play on the house, as the fire had been extinguished by the C. M. Stedman Fire Company. The greatest damage sustained was in chopping the roof and house in order to prevent the fire. The house for some time past has been unoccupied, but on yesterday a family moved in. It is owned by Mr. Alex. Sholar, who has an insurance on it sufficient to cover the damage.

The C. C. Railroad Meeting.
 The stockholders of the Carolina Central Railroad Company held their first annual meeting since the new organization, at the office of the President in this city, to-day at 12 o'clock. The meeting, we understand, adjourned between 1 and 2 o'clock. What the nature or extent of the business transacted was, we are unable to inform our readers, as they are kept strictly private, and we presume are not intended for publication. A Review reporter called on the Superintendent, Secretary and Treasurer and Auditor, and each of these gentlemen disclaimed the right to furnish us with the proceedings. Our reporter then made every effort to see the President but without avail, as that gentleman, we were told, was privately engaged, and would be, until half-past 5 o'clock this afternoon, and so ends our efforts in that direction for an item of news.

The Tax Ordinance.
 The Board of Aldermen and Board of Audit and Finance for the city of Wilmington have published in the shape of a printed circular, the General Tax Ordinance of this city for the year 1881 recently passed by the two Boards conjointly, or passed by the Board of Aldermen, and approved by the Board of Audit. We have not been able to give the ordinance more than a cursory examination, yet, but we think it needs revision as it bears unequally on a certain class of business men. For example produce or merchandise brokers are charged over 20 per cent. tax on their income, while a money broker, or ship broker, is charged only five dollars a month. The manifest injustice to the persons who pursue the avocation of commercial produce and merchandise brokerage, is at once apparent. We trust that our city fathers will give the general ordinance a thorough and careful examination before it is sought to be enforced, as there may be other instances where there is an unequal and unfair distribution of the burden of taxation that is to be borne by the business community.

The Brick Wall on Front Street.
 The wall discovered under the surface of the ground on Front, near Market street, on yesterday by workmen excavating for the water works is still a mystery to some persons. It is about on a line with the alley between McIlhenny's drug store and the store occupied by Maj. T. H. McKay, and is thought by some to have been a sewer which ran from that alley in early times about the year 1825. On the west side of the excavation the brick forms an arch, while immediately opposite about two and one half feet distant, is the concave side of a brick well curb. None of the "old citizens" with whom we have conversed about the matter are able to explain what it is. We have not had an opportunity, however, of speaking to "old Aunt Tiquity" as yet, but will try and gain some information from her in time for to-morrow's issue.

The Lecture—"Courage."
 The Rev. Dr. J. R. Wilson's lecture on "Courage" at the Opera House on Friday evening should not be forgotten. We can promise our citizens a rich intellectual treat. Tickets can be had at the First National Bank, Bank of New Hanover, Brown & Roddick's, Yates' Book Store, R. M. McIntire's and at Heinsberger's.

The Board of Health and the Water Works Company.
 The Board of Health of New Hanover county met in special session last night to consider the propriety of the Water Works Company excavating streets for the purpose of laying water pipes at this season of the year.
 Col. W. L. Smith, chairman, and Mayor of the city; Horace Bagg, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners; and Doctors Will. Geo. Thomas, Geo. G. Thomas, D. M. Buie, W. W. Lane, Ed. de L. King, Thos. F. Wood, W. J. H. Bellamy, E. A. Anderson and F. W. Potter were present.

Strawberries grown at "Appleton," (Mr. Heide's farm) near this city, were in market this morning. There were also some berries from Charleston, but the "Appleton" products received the preference from epicures. They sold for 50 cents per basket.

A Sunday-School Superintendent.
 Mr. Christian Sander, Superintendent of the M. E. Sunday School at Jolly, Monroe County, Ohio, since 1839, writes: I have kept store since October 1st 1863, and have always handled proprietary medicines; but of all that I have ever sold, there is not one that can be so certainly recommended as "death to rheumatism" as St. Jacobs Oil.

A Larceny Committed and the Thieves Caught.
 This morning Flora Tyler, colored, who lives on Tenth street near Mulberry, took clothes from Mrs. Marina Farrow, living on the corner of Tenth and Chestnut streets, to put in wash. Shortly after the departure of the washer-woman, however, Mrs. Farrow remembered that she had left her pocket book containing $4.75 in the pocket of one of her dresses, and thereupon immediately started for Flora Tyler's house. Arriving there, she found the husband of of the washer-woman, William Tyler, who in answer to Mrs. Farrow's interrogatories concerning the whereabouts of his spouse, replied that she had gone down street. Mrs. Farrow then directed her steps to Justice Millis' office and procured a search warrant. The warrant was placed in the hands of officer John Bryant, colored, who at once proceeded to execute it. Upon the officer's arriving at the Tyler's house he found the woman Flora Tyler there, but the husband gone. The Officer immediately instituted a search and was rewarded by finding two dollars in specie and a one dollar bill. The woman and the Officer then went in search of the husband, and overtook him near Mr. Henry Haar's store, on Chestnut and Seventh streets. The man Tyler tried to escape and was seen to drop the pocket book, which he alleges his wife gave him to keep for her, in a cart rut, and kick sand over it. The Officer unearched it, however, when it was found to contain one dollar. The parties were then brought before Justice Millis for trial. Mrs. Farrow identified the pocket book and some of the money. The defendants were committed in default of surety for their appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court.
