Steamboat men report a rise of two and one half feet of water at Fayetteville, caused by local rains.

The repairs to the hull of the steamer Gov. Worth having been completed she was launched on yesterday.

Edward Sanders, colored, escaped from the county House of Correction on Wednesday and is still at large. It is thought he has made his way to South Carolina, where he is said to belong.

The steamer Passport is on the Marine Railway where her hull will be scraped and painted. Her other improvements are nearly complete. The upper deck which extends from the pilot house to the stern and across her cabins to the sides of the steamer, was put on yesterday.

Farmers in the county were never busier than now. At every point along the line of either road they are more than busy—they are working early and late, and as hard as they can. A very large acreage is being planted in every direction, and with a propitious season. There will be immense crops garnered at the coming harvest. So mote it be.

Foreign Exports.
The exports foreign to-day include 4,100 barrels rosin on board Nor. Barque A. M. Schweigars, shipped by Messrs. Paterson Downing & Co., for Constantinople, Russia, and 5,156 barrels rosin shipped by Messrs. J. B. Blossom & Evans, on board Nor. Barque, Sona Fide for Hamburg.

City Court.
His Honor Mayor Smith held quite an interesting levee this morning.

Robt Johnson, charged with being drunk and down was discharged it being his first offence.

Kitty King, highly colored and a denizen of the Long House was arraigned for disorderly conduct. She plead her own cause and after quite a lengthy terse an affecting speech she quietly succumbed. One days imprisonment was the judgement of the Court.

Henry Beyere a white salar and Kit Huggins the Mayor of Paddy's Hollow, were charged with an affray. They were sent below for one day. The Court then adjourned.

Mr. Chas. Chr. Grau, No. 2 Yates Ave. and Cor. Graham Ave. and Cook street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says: With great pleasure I inform you that the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil, has been used by some of my friends, and acquaintances in severe cases of rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, and various accidents. It relieves pain and heals almost like magic; and I never knew or heard of, in my experience of many years, a remedy upon which such enthusiastic praise has been bestowed, and which has had such an immense sale as the St. Jacobs Oil. I put such confidence in the healing power of this family remedy, that I recommend it for the various ailments which it is designed to cure, and always find that it is followed with the most wonderful results. The demand for the St. Jacobs Oil, in both of my drug stores, exceeds that for all other similar remedies combined.

The Reception To-Night.
Mr. T. C. Fanning has offered a reception at Rankin Hall this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of St. James' Home. A generous offer for a noble institution. Some there are in this community who know the immense amount of good that has been accomplished by the noble ladies engaged at this institution under the direction of the Rector of St. James' Parish. Their work has been quiet, but active and earnest. Going out into the byways and hedges, in search of those who are not only suffering for spiritual food, but are alike in distress from bodily ailments, these kind-hearted women appear as ministering angels beside the lowly cot of the poor, who are sick and dying, and give them the blessed consolation of the Christian faith, and as far as in their power lies, add to their material comfort also. We hope therefore that the friends of charity who would aid the efforts of these worthy ladies in their laudable and charitable undertaking, will by their presence to-night give substantial and tangible evidence of their sympathy with the cause.

Courage.
We are satisfied that the Rev. Dr. J. R. Wilson will not disappoint the great expectations of his audience to-night. He is a strong and forcible speaker and invariably wins his audience in the start. Dr. Wilson's reputation as a speaker and a scholar is sufficient to guarantee a large audience, and these of our citizens who fail to hear him, will let a golden opportunity pass unimproved.

Read It.
Read the interesting and well-written communication elsewhere published in this issue, entitled "The Mystery of the Hidden Wall in Front Street." It will well repay perusal on account of the few historical incidents it contains, which well told. The communication is from the pen of one of Wilmington's most graceful and ready writers, and the readers of the REVIEW have before enjoyed the productions of this talented gentleman's pen.

Library at Smithville.
Our friends at Smithville, have organized a Library Association and now number about thirty members. About one hundred books have been donated to them by their friends. Their room is in the Adjutant's office at the garrison, which was kindly tendered them by Lieutenant Miles. The following are the officers: M. C. Guthrie, President; Henry Daniel, Vice President; J. B. Rourk, Treasurer; J. J. Clemmons, Secretary; S. S. Draw, Librarian. We wish the Association the success they desire and trust that in a very short time their numbers, both of members and books, may increase ten-fold.

An Involuntary Fast.
A little black and tan dog belonging to James H. Carraway, was locked up on Tuesday night last in the third story of the building occupied by Capt. John L. Boatwright on Front street. The third floor is used by Mount Nebo Lodge, and the dog had been locked up after the meeting on the night mentioned above. Yesterday afternoon the dog broke a pane of glass out of one of the front windows and leaped out, catching on the awning in front of Capt. Boatwright's store. Quite a number of persons tried to get the dog off of the awning but without avail. Its master was finally sent for and the dog leaped into his arms. The little thing was nearly starved, having gone two days and nights without food or water.

The Stockholders Meeting of the C. C. Railroad Company.

We have been kindly furnished by the C. C. Railroad Company, with the amount of gross earnings, of the company for the past twelve months together with the operating expenses, for the same period, and the net earnings after deducting the expenses of the road, which is as follows:

Gross earnings $564,028.63; operating expenses $313,192.94. Leaving a net income, to be divided as we presume among the stockholders in the shape of dividends, of $250,835.69. We do not know the amount of purchase money represented by the present stockholders in the new company, but we are of the opinion that the amount does not exceed $5,000,000. If this amount is correct, the net earnings will pay very nearly six per cent on the investment, which is quite a handsome showing and reflects credit upon the administrative ability of the present management.

The following gentlemen were elected Directors at the meeting held yesterday to serve for the ensuing year: F. O. French, A. V. Stout, T. H. Porter, A. B. Graves, R. A. Lancaster, J. S. Whedbee, Branden Matthews, D. R. Marchison, C. M. Stedman, M. P. Leak, D. W. Oates.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors the following were re-elected officers: D. R. Marchison, President; V. Q. Johnson, General Superintendent; James Anderson, Treasurer; F. W. Clark, General Freight and Passenger Agent.

Many lose their beauty from the hair falling or fading. Parker's Hair Balsam supplies necessary nourishment, prevents falling and grayness and is an elegant dressing.

Charged with Larceny.
Henry Niel, colored, charged with larceny, had a preliminary hearing before Justice Hall this morning and was required to give bond in the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court. The evidence against the accused is substantially as follows: Last night Niel, accompanied by three companions, stepped into a grocery on North Water street kept by C. H. Strode and called for drinks at the same time putting down fifty cents to pay for them. The price of the liquor was forty cents. Strode gave Neil sixty cents change but immediately discovered his mistake and demanded the fifty cents. Neil refused to give up the money and was this morning arrested for larceny.

From One Court to Another.
About two weeks ago Moses Walker, colored, left his money, amounting to $12, also a watch and chain, with the keeper of a grocery at the foot of Mulberry street for safe keeping, as he was under the influence of liquor. About 12 o'clock of the same night he demanded his money and watch, and after putting both snugly in his pocket, he started home and was followed by Henry McNeal, alias Henry Statue. Walker says that Statue robbed him, and that he subsequently got part of his money from Statue, who stated that that was all he had of it. Statue was arrested in J. C. Hill's office this afternoon, where he was on trial, and carried before Justice Gardner, before whom he will have a preliminary hearing on the charge of larceny.

For the Review.

The Mystery of the Hidden Wall in Front Street.

The writer has been greatly amused, as doubtless many others have been, at the futile efforts of antiquarians in our midst to solve the mystery of the buried wall in Front street, which was unearthed a day or two ago. Some contend that it is simply the remains of a once celebrated town pump that stood there years and years ago at which both man and beast were wont to slake their thirst during the sweltering heats of summer. Others again, insist that it is only the debris of the burnt buildings which were destroyed in the great fire of 1840, and which were thrown into the middle of the street when the work of rebuilding commenced. It is also argued that it was a sewer, built by the city fathers in the olden time, and that it reflects great credit upon their skill in the then almost unknown science of civil engineering. These theories, however, are wrong, as I shall proceed to show, and I am very happy that I have it in my power to shed a flood of light upon this vexed question, a question that has so puzzled our erudite savants. During the old colonial times (as you doubtless remember) there was an intense excitement one day in this ancient borough in regard to the stamped paper which the Mother Country was determined to force upon our people, and which our people did not want, and did not intend to take, so one bright morning there was an uprising among the staid and sober burghers, and headed by one John Ashe, not entirely unknown to fame, they proceeded to the Governor's house, which then stood on the South side of Market, about midway between Water and Front streets, and forcing the Stamp Master, one Houston by name to accompany them, took him to the Market House and compelled him to swear that he would not attempt to discharge the duties of his office. They then turned him loose with three ringing cheers, and Houston disappeared from the scene in great haste, not regarding that atmosphere as being particularly healthy at that particular juncture.

Now I have it on the very best authority in the world, one who claims to have been there at the time and who has a vivid recollection of Lord Cornwallis when he occupied the town subsequently, that the Market House where Houston was compelled to take the oath, (not the oath of loyalty, mind you, which so many of us had to swallow in more recent times) stood precisely where the ruins of that wall now are and that the wall is itself a portion or a part of the foundation of the historic building that once beautified and adorned that classic portion of our city. There can be no doubt about it, for in testimony veritatis, just you look at the size of the brick, larger than any you ever saw in the hat of any meandering individual, clearly showing that they came from abroad and were not of domestic manufacture. This latter fact, taken in connection with the marvellous recollection of that venerable personage herein before mentioned, settles the question and is a clincher upon his testimony, vindicates the truth of history, and forces us to exclaim, in the language of old Lubeck, that ancient mariner, once well known to many of our citizens and still pleasantly remembered by them, "If that ain't so, then d—n old Koper."

VERITAS.

Severe Accident.
We regret to learn of an accident which befell Mr. Thos. E. Bond on yesterday. He was stepping from a wharf post to the port of the steamship Gulf Stream when he slipped falling with considerable force on the cap of the wharf along side of the steamship, to which he clung to keep from going into the river. He was taken from his perilous position and carried to his residence. Mr. Bond's injuries though serious are not dangerous we are happy to learn, and his physician entertains the hope that he will recover sufficiently in two or three days to be at his post again.

State Board of Health.
Governor Jarvis has in accordance with the law passed by the Legislature of 1878, creating a State Board of Health, appointed on the part of the State as members of that Board, Professor William Cain, C. E., of Lenoir, Caldwell county, Doctor J. M. Lyle, of Franklin, Macon county, and Professor W. G. Simmons, of Wake Forest College. Doctor Lyle takes the place of Doctor Woodfin, resigned, and Professor Simmons the place of Professor Ledoux, of Chapel Hill, removed to New York. Professor Cain was a member of the old Board.

My Good Woman!
Why are you so out of sorts, never able to tell folks that you are well? Ten to one its all caused in the first place by habitual constipation, which no doubt finally caused deranged kidneys and liver. The sure cure for constipation is the celebrated Kidney-Wort. It is also a specific remedy for all kidney and liver diseases. Thousands are cured by it every month. Try it at once.—Toledo Blade.
