Sad Bereavement.
We are sorry to learn of an affliction to Mr. and Mrs. N. Jacobi, in the loss this morning of their only daughter, little Cecelia Rachel. Her little bright eyes and cheery prattle will be much missed by those who knew her. We extend our sympathies to the bereaved parents.

We advise our friends to call at JACOBI'S for Household Hardware of every description. There you get the lowest prices.

Death and Larceny.
Last evening a colored woman, whose name we could not learn, died very suddenly of heart disease at her house on Fourth, between Nun and Church streets, and during the excitement caused by the death, a colored man slipped into the house and started off with a basket of clothes which had been sent to the woman to wash. The man was detected in the act but made good his escape through the back door of the house.

To be Made Happy.
Our young townsman, Mr. William H. Shaw, son of Deputy-Sheriff W. H. Shaw, left here this morning for Beaufort, N. C., where he expects to be united in marriage to-morrow, the 18th inst., to Miss Mary, daughter of R. W. Chadwick, Esq., who was for a number of years since the war a resident of this city, and Deputy Collector of the port of Wilmington. The happy couple expect to arrive here on Thursday evening.

An Anniversary Celebration.

In accordance with a custom established in the year 1866, the Association of Officers of the Third N. C. Infantry celebrated yesterday their fifteenth anniversary, by a reunion of its members around the festive board, which on this occasion was spread in the spacious building of mine host Schutte, on Wrightsville Sound. There were present Col. Wm. L. DeRosset, President of the Association; Captain Wm. A. Cumming, Captain R. F. Langdon, Assistant Surgeon J. C. Walker, Assistant Surgeon Thomas F. Wood, Adjutant T. Calhoun James, Knisgn H. B. Butler, Captain R. S. R-deliffe, Captain J. L. Cantwell, Captain James I. Metts, Lieutenant Geo. W. Ward, and Armand D. Meares, eldest son of the late Colonel Gaston Meares, as regular members of the Association.

The honorary members present were Hon. Geo. Davis, who was a member of President Davis' Cabinet; General R. E. Colston, who at one time commanded the brigade to which "the Third" was attached, and Captain John N. Maffitt, the daring commander of the Confederate cruiser Florida. General James H. Lane, who was so thoroughly identified with North Carolina troops during the war, and who has done so much since the war to place the glorious achievements of his splendid brigade upon record among the archives of the events of those stormy days, was present as an honored guest. As usual, when the regular toasts were about to be proposed, Col. Wm. L. DeRosset, the President of the Association, following a custom established from the inauguration of these celebrations, offered as the first toast, "Our Gallant Dead" which was drunk standing and in silence. Then it was that one of the distinguished honorary members of the Association, the Hon. Geo. Davis, who occupies the seat of honor on the right of the President, in the absence of the most distinguished honorary member of the Association—ex-President Jefferson Davis—was called upon to read a beautiful poem, which was paraphrased from an Irish poem, and read by the same gentleman on a previous occasion two years ago. But on this occasion it was said by those who listened to the recital then and now that our worthy townsman excelled any rendition of a similar character that was ever made within the hearing of the same listeners before. The unanimous verdict was that the poem, which of itself is very beautiful, will never be fully appreciated, even by those who may read it for themselves, until they can once hear the recital of it by Mr. Davis.

At the urgent solicitation of many friends we publish this poem once more, so that those of our readers who may desire to preserve it can do so.

The lines are as follows:
REGULAR TOAST AT THE ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF THE ASSOCIATION OF OFFICERS OF THE THIRD NORTH CAROLINA INFANTRY, MAY 16TH, 1879.

"OUR DEAD!"
Who fears to speak of "sixty-one?"
Who blushes at his fame?
When blows the scier at death's then done,
Who hangs his head in shame?
He's all a knave or halfe slave,
Who slights his record thus;
But a true man, like you, men,
Will fill his glass with us.

We drink the memory of the brave,
The faithful—not a few—
Some like the new Potomac's wave,
Some sleep in "Oakdale" too;
Hundreds are gone—but still live on
The names of those who died,
All true men, like you men,
Remember them with pride!

Some 'neath the sod of distant States
Their patient hearts have laid,
Some with the stranger's heedless haste
Their unwatched graves were made;
But tho' their clay be far from us,
Where friends may never come,
In true men, like you men,
Their spirits still at home.

The dust of some in Southern earth,
Among their own they rest,
For the same land that gave them birth,
Has caught them to her breast.
And we will pray, that from their clay
Full many a brave may start,
Of true men, like you men,
To act as raves a part.

They rose in dark and evil days
To fight their own they rest,
They kindled here a living blaze
That nothing could withstand.
Alas! That might should vanish right!
They fell and passed away,
And true men, like you men,
Are far too few to-day!

Then here's their memory—may it be
For us a guiding light,
To cheer tho' lost our liberty—
And lead us in the right.
Through good and ill be patriots still
By each good impulse stirred,
And you men, like you men,
Like the dead, "the gallant Third."

Our object, principally, in giving some little account of the anniversary celebration of the Association of Officers of the Third N. C. Infantry yesterday, is not to obtrude the name of this Association before the public, because we know that it is personally distasteful to each individual member to have the Association paraded in any unseemly manner—and this we have tried to avoid—before the eyes of the community, but to let the survivors of other commands see the beauty of having an organization of this kind to perpetuate the deeds and history of Southern soldiers during the war, with the hope that they may be incited to emulate the example of this Association, and form themselves into organizations of some kind to preserve the records of the four years of war. There are enough survivors of Lane's N. C. brigade in this city to get up a formidable association of that command and likewise of other commands who went from this place and vicinity. Will not our old Confederate friends then endeavor to start a movement of this kind, in order to preserve the many thrilling historical incidents which occurred in their commands during those years of strife? It is the only way the truth of history can be correctly arrived at, and it is a duty which every surviving soldier owes not only to himself but to his country and his posterity as well.

Our Smithville Neighbors.
The Smithville Library Association will give an excursion on the steamer Passport from Smithville to Wilmington and to Hilton on Wednesday, the 25th of May. This Association is the first organization of the kind ever started in Smithville. It now numbers about thirty members and has already quite a number of books, donated by their Smithville and Wilmington friends; they have a pleasant room in the garrison which was obtained through the kindness of Lieut. Niles. It is hoped that the friends of the Association will appreciate the motive which instigated its organization and assist its members in making it a valuable addition to the town of Smithville.

Maryland Eye and Ear Infirmary.
The annual meeting of the board of lady managers of the Maryland Eye and Ear Infirmary was held yesterday at the institution, No. 54 Saratoga St., Mrs. Wm. H. Bruce, President; Mrs. George Coates, Treasurer; Mrs. R. Barry, and Mrs. Hugh Lee, Secretaries. Dr. Geo. Renling read his annual report and announced that on Saturday last the 900th case of cataract operation had been performed by him since the establishment of the institution in 1868. During last year 1,794 new cases of eye and ear affections have been treated at the dispensary and indoor department. In the latter fifty-one patients received treatment and operation free of charge, paying for their board only, while twenty-five patients were boarded, operated and treated gratuitously. Nearly every State of the Union has been represented.
