Sorry to-day that we were in such a hurry about taking down our stove—Ain't you?

At 3 o'clock to-day the thermometer in this office stood at 72, four degrees below summer heat.

We advise our friends to call at JACOBS' for Household Hardware of every description. There you get the lowest prices.

There was a sudden change in the weather last night, the atmosphere becoming quite cool. Blankets were again laid out and this morning fires felt comfortable.

Col. J. J. Hedrick is very materially improving the appearance of the exterior of his dry goods establishment by a new summer dress of paint and the addition of new Venetian blinds to the windows in the second story.

Yesterday morning, when the steamer D. Murchison left Fayetteville, there was but little over five feet of water on the shoals and this was falling off rapidly. Rain is needed in that section. The refreshing showers we have had here do not seem to have reached that point.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church meets at Staunton, Va., to-morrow the 19th inst. In many respects it will be the most important meeting ever held. Rev. Jos. R. Wilson, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is the only delegate from this city. He left here this morning for Staunton.

Struck by Lightning.
A house on Fifth, between Red Cross and Campbell streets, was struck by lightning last evening and badly damaged. A colored woman, whose name we did not learn, an inmate of the house, was stunned by the stroke.

The Episcopal Convention.
The Convention of the Episcopal Church for this Diocese convenes in Christ's Church, Raleigh, to-day. After the Convention is duly organized Bishop Lay, of the diocese of Easton, Maryland, will deliver a memorial sermon upon the late Bishop Atkinson, in accordance with a request preferred by the Church representatives at the funeral services of the lamented Bishop, whose death is so deeply deplored in the whole Church throughout the United States. There will be a delegation of the Church to accompany Bishop Lay from Maryland, who together with the standing committee of this diocese, will be entertained by Bishop Lyman during their stay in Raleigh during the sittings of the Convention.

Editor Inter Ocean, Chicago, Ill.
Feeling that the information conveyed will be of material benefit to many of your readers, I send you the following: One of our oldest citizens, Captain C. W. Boynton, the Government Light House Keeper at this point, is probably one of the oldest seamen in America, having sailed twenty-six years on our lakes, and twenty years on salt water. After this forty-six years service his eyesight failed him, and for a long time he kept the Light at Chicago, until the Government built the Gross Point Light here, when he was transferred. While seated in my store this morning the Captain volunteered the following written statement:
"This is to certify that I have been afflicted with rheumatism for twenty (20) years, both in my side and limbs. I am happy to say, that after using less than two bottles of the St. Jacobs Oil, I am entirely free from pain, though still limping somewhat when walking, from long force of habit." C. W. BOYNTON.
Referring to the foregoing facts, I might allude to numerous similar cases that have come to my notice, "but a word to the wise is sufficient."

Organization of the Board of Pharmacy.

The Board of Pharmacy, which was created at the last term of the General Assembly by the "Pharmaceutical Bill," met and organized yesterday at Goldsboro. Dr. W. H. Green, of this city, was elected President and Dr. W. Simpson, of Raleigh, Secretary. The Board will hold its first session for the examination of licensees, in Raleigh, on the 30th of August. The following named gentlemen are those who were recommended by the Pharmaceutical Association and commissioned by His Excellency Governor Jarvis to compose the Board of Pharmacy: Doctors W. H. Green, Wilmington; W. Simpson, A. S. Lee, Raleigh; Ed. H. Meadows, Newbern, and E. M. Nadal, Wilson.

The Pneumatic Tube in a new and Startling Aspect.

Some weeks ago, it may be remembered, we printed an extract from a letter written by a gentleman of New York to a friend living here in which he made mention of a very novel and stupendous enterprise shortly to be set on foot in this city. From the following extract, taken from one of his recent letters, it will be seen that our New York friend has himself embarked in a mammoth scheme which has developed some astonishing results. He says: "Our International Pneumatic Transit Company is now in full operation, working perfectly, and is a great credit to American enterprise and ingenuity. The pipes at last make a complete circuit of the earth and, as is eminently proper, the principal stations, works and apparatus are located here. The exhaust power is immense, so powerful in fact that it is somewhat dangerous for the uninitiated to go near the exhaust machine while in operation. Last Wednesday morning, just before the 8.40 projectile was sent through, a clergyman happened to step into the room 3. The exhaust machine, being accidentally and suddenly set to work, was carried into the tube and whisked around the world in eight minutes and ten seconds. The involuntary traveler returned, however, having sustained no damage but a few bruises, with a new scheme for converting the Japanese and a slight foreign accent. The projectiles, or coaches, are beautiful affairs and have a seating capacity for five persons, besides the Conductor. The schedule time for a trip around the world is five minutes, allowing a few minutes for dinner at Weldon, and the purchase of alligators' teeth at Jacksonville. This schedule has to be closely adhered to in order to prevent collisions, as about twenty projectiles are kept in constant motion. We have no double track yet, so only run in one direction. At first we sent them Westward, but were obliged to discontinue this because of the deadly effect on the conductors, commercial travelers and others who spend a great part of their time on the road. We had not considered that in every trip around the world, traveling Westward, a day is lost, which at five minutes to the trip is twelve days to the hour or a whole year, nearly, lost every day to the conductor and travelers, after allowing them a sufficient time for meals and recreation. We did not discover this until two of our youngest conductors had become gray haired old men in a few weeks, and one poor fellow, whom we engaged at the age of 25 years, after being in our employ 52 days actually died of extreme old age. So we changed the course of travel Eastward with, of course, the opposite result—time is gained instead of lost; a conductor's age is diminished nearly a year every day and we take care not to engage one under the age of 75 years, or retain him longer than 60 days, at which time he shows a remarkable fondness for kites and marbles. Oneascal, whom we engaged, misrepresented his age; he was only 59 years old and, before his time of service had expired, had to be carried out of his projectile and turned over to a nurse. As this wonderful result becomes advertised the tube is daily besieged by old people ambitious of youth, and as a substitute for the elixir of youth alone our enterprise is an assured success." * * *

Many lose their beauty from the hair falling or fading. Parker's Hair Balsam supplies necessary nourishment, prevents falling and grayness and is an elegant dressing.

The Venorable weather prophet who predicted a snow storm in the North about the middle of May seems to have been pretty correct in his prophecies.

The Water Works Company will complete all excavations in the lower part of the city to-night. The excavations, after this date, will be confined to the upper part of the city, where it is only sand that will be turned up. This will be continued until the Superintendent of Health thinks it unsafe to prosecute the work any longer.

Simon Gregg's Case.

Simon Gregg, colored, who was arrested by officer J. W. Bryan on Monday as an escaped convict from the South Carolina penitentiary, is trying to prove before Justice McQuigg's court that he is not the "wanted" man. He has produced witnesses who swear to his identity and innocence, and he avers that he is a victim of "the fellow who looks like me." The case has been postponed until to-morrow on account of the absence of two witnesses—guards at the penitentiary at the time Gregg is said to have made his escape—who are expected to arrive on the Southern train to-night.

An Appeal.

DAUGHTERS OF THE CAPE FEAR.—Spring in her fresh beauty is once more among us. In living green and sunshine glorious she sits enthroned over nature, while the air is thronged with tinsel birds and "the voice of the turtle is heard in the land." This, our Memorial month, will soon sink into the past, a past, perhaps, of vain regrets, cost aside like seaweed upon the shores of time. While the floral offerings of Memorial Day are fading in their beds of gray moss upon the graves of our boys, and the echo of the sacred service still lingers lovingly upon our hearts, the little band of untiring women would fain gather themselves together once more for their annual meeting, and it is to this meeting that they urge your earnest attention. The object of a yearly gathering together is to reorganize the Association; to elect officers and managers for the ensuing year, and to hand in the small annual fee, 50 cents, which entitles each subscriber to a membership for one year, and to a seat in the enclosure during the memorial services. At their last annual meeting they numbered not over fifteen souls present; at the meeting of the year before, May, 1879, not more than nine ladies responded to the summons. Such a lack of interest, of patriotism, of gratitude, when so little is required, is almost unparalleled, and renders those who are not physically unable to attend, unworthy to place even a withered leaf upon the mound which they should hallow with tears, and bedeck with flowers! Be ye wives and mothers and encourage such neglect? The cause was a common one, should not the care also be common to all? Let not this appeal be made in vain; with your hearts in your hands come forward and join the thinned ranks of earnest women, whose only ambition is to keep loving watch over their sacred dead! The boys in grey bivouac no more beneath the stars. Homes are no longer deserted, and the tocsin of war has sounded its final clang! We are living, but they are dead—dead for you and us! Daughters of Wilmington, will you, can you forget them?

Troublesome Children

that are always wetting their beds ought not to be scolded and punished for what they cannot help. They need a medicine having a tonic effect on the kidneys and the urinary organs. Such a medicine is Kidney Wort. It has specific action. Do not fail to get it for them.—Exchange
