A Big Spake and a Disgusted Bovine-A party of young men who were out in the woods for a walk on Sunday afternoon came across a black snake which they allege measured six feet long after he had been killed. Not knowing what to do with the monster, after they had slain him, one of the party tied the dead snake to the tail of a harmless, innocent cow who has a musical little bell at ago. tached to her neck. The cow went scampering through the woods kicking with all her might and main while the music of the little bell could be heard through the forest glades for a few miles around, almost. It was cruel sport on the part of the young men who enjoyed the frelic, but the moral of the tale is

keep your cows in your own private lets,

and then they will be free from harm.

Rocking a Train. Late yesterday evening, as the reguthe W. & W. Railroad rolled up and stopped at Faison's Depot, some 60 miles from this city, a celered boy about ten or twelve years of age was seen to throw a rock, which went crashing through a windew of the private car of President Bridgers, where Mr. Bridgers and his wife, who were returning from trip North, were seated at the time .-The little rascal was seen and recognized, but made his escape through a cotton field. The train shortly ofterwards started, but before it had proceeded this city, President Bridgers ordered the the depot, Col. B. ordered the arrest of the offender, and left Captain Barry, arrest was accomplished, and also to see that the parent of the boy punishes him | them. severely, otherwise the President asserted that he would carry the matter to Court. We are glad Col. Bridgers has acted thus premptly in the matter, but we think had the offender been a little older it would have served as a good example to have left him hanging along the road side to dry in the sun. Any person who will endanger the lives of the innocent passengers on a railroad train by placing obstructions on the track or throwing stones or rocks through a car window deserves summary punishment of the severest kind. We trust the example of the speedy punishment of the little scoundrel at Faison's will have a wholesome effect upon wrong doers of that description and character in the future.

A Wild Horse and a Step Ladder.

One of our very good friends who car. ries considerable of the "aldermanic pro portions" of old, and who now measures 48 inches around the waist, has been imagining himself to be falling off and rapidly going into a decline for some time past. In order to check the imaginary savage inroads into his health he purchased a horse and saddle and determined to indulge in the manly sport of polo, steeple chasing and a dash after Reynard. Yesterday morning he put the saddle and bridle on the fiery and unhis very intimate friends stood by to see Mr. W. J. Best and his rich friends him off and assisted him to get his foot horse to the ground. His foot was caught in the stirrup and the horse went off,dragging our friend after him. Form nately the girth broke and let him out of his perilous position. During the high and lofty vaulting of our friend his right foot became entangled in the step ladder. which as he went over the horse, describ ed circles and semi-circles, obtuse, obliques and right angles, and tangen!s which intersected each other in so many places as to require the united efforts for thirty days of three mathematicians and two astronomers to draw , them out This morning a placard was posted up in his place of business bearing this inscripstep ladder for sale."

A new ice house is to be established in this city and will be run by Messrs W. E. Davis & Son. We understand that these gentlemen propose to sell their ice at half a cent a pound. An important Decision. Treasurer Worth has just rendered the fellowing decision, which is of interest to the sheriffs in the State: Since the ratification of the present machinery act, March 11, 1881, land sold for taxes and bid in by the sheriff must be bid in for the county, and not for the State, as formerly. The committee which perfected the present revenue act no doubt deemed this a change for the better, as did also the Legislature which passed it-

Rare Opportunity. Messrs. Heide & Co. have received an more than two miles on its journey to invoice of all linen shirts and linen mos quito netting on consignment from Belconductor to stop the train and back it fast, Ireland. The shirts are all pure fine to Faisen's Depot. Upon the return to Irish linen and are being sold at less than the actual cost to close out the consignment. Those of our citizens who Road Master, at Faison's, to see that the | wish a good linen shirt at the cost of a cotton one would do well to examine

Smart, Eh?

A smart Alec, one of your knowing Johns, in reply to our inquiry, "how are fish biting at the rocks" said "they want biting at the rocks at all, but were biting pretty well at the bait and fiddlers were generally used." As he made the re mark he scanned us over from head to foot and suggested that we would make good bait. Smart, eh! We waited for him to whistle so we could see where the joke came in.

Golden Hair and Three Bears

The diagram for the sale of reserved seats to the charming opera of Golden Hair and Three Bears was put on sale at Heinsberger's this morning. There was quite a rush for seats but some few choice ones can still be had. The little fellow who is to take the part of Little Cub is expected to arrive from Goldsboro this evening. He has played the character several times and has always received the highest encomiums. The opera is said to be of rare excellence and will be put on the stage with Professor Chase's usual good taste and discern
