Aunt Matilda is a good deal exercised at the lack of judgment displayed in newspaper advertising. She says she is a pretty close observer, if she is a woman, and she has noticed that the storekeepers who are always overrun with customers and doing a flourishing business and who don't seem to need any advertising, are just the ones who always do advertise, while those who have no trade and need to advertise never do so.

A Few Remarks.

A reporter from the REVIEW office, in his search after news, called at the Sheriff's office yesterday to know when the batch of convicts turned out of the Criminal Court last week would be sent to Raleigh, and was informed by Mr. W. H. Shaw, Deputy Sheriff, that they would not go up for two or three days, while the fact is that they left here this morning for Raleigh, as published in the Star to-day. Further comment is unnecessary.

Call at JACOBI'S for Garden Hoes and Rakes, Shovels, Spades, Axes, &c. There you have the lowest prices.

New Postal Ruling.

A general order has been issued by the Postmaster General, declaring samples of flour or other powdered substance unmailable except when put up in transparent bags made of parchment paper or similar material, and sealed so that no particles can sift through. These bags must also be inclosed in boxes or tubes made of hard wood or metal with sliding end or clamp or screw lids. If the boxes are made of wood no sharp corners or edges can be exposed whereby other articles in the mails could be damaged. Metal boxes used for any purpose having sharp edges or corners are also declared to be unmailable.

Excursion to Waccamaw Lake.

Those of our citizens who desire to spend a pleasant day on the shores of Waccamaw Lake should not let the opportunity offered them on Friday, by the Sunday School of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, go unimproved. Mr. W. H. Strauss, the Superintendent of the Sunday School, assures us that everything will be done to make it pleasant for the excursionists and we have no doubt that those in attendance will spend a day of rare enjoyment. The fare for the round trip has been put down at an exceedingly low price. Tickets can be had at the book stores and at Harris' New Stand. The excursionists will be supplied with refreshments on board the train by the ladies of the church at very reasonable prices.

Study your interest. You can now buy Cook Stoves at factory prices at JACOBI'S.

For Railroad Work.

Deputy Sheriff Daniel Howard left here for Raleigh this morning with the following prisoners, convicted at the late term of the Criminal Court and sentenced to the Penitentiary for the terms and offences specified:

- P. W. Smith, larceny, 5 years.
- David Young, larceny, 4 years.
- Francis Medway, forgery, 5 years.
- Richard Walters, false pretences, 2 years.
- James P. Spann, false pretences, 1 year.

Robert Turner, J. H. Johnson and Zach Johnson, three colored boys, who were sentenced to two years each in the Penitentiary, will, by an order of the Court, entered subsequent to the pronouncing of the sentence against them, be bound out to parties in the country.

An Inquiry—Read It.

We have a communication from "a lady reader of the REVIEW" in which she asks: "Why is it that lectures and entertainments are so frequently given for every other purpose and for the benefit of private individuals who really do not stand in need of it and nothing is ever said or done in behalf of the Benevolent Society?"

There is certainly no object or association more worthy than the Ladies' Benevolent Association. Its aged President has been untiring in her zeal and had it not been for the few "stand-bys" who have so nobly and generously assisted her, the Association would long ago have disbanded; that the ladies have done much towards relieving the wants of the indigent sick and poor of this city cannot be gainsaid and we think that they should receive more than a well-wishing from the more fortunate portion of our citizens. The Ladies of the Association have for years battled against the stoicism and indifference of the greater portion of the community until their nerves and patience have been stretched to their utmost capacity. They should be encouraged and helped in this their labor of love. Who will start the ball? Their treasury is now depleted and the demands upon it are great.

Improving.

Mr. J. McD. French, who has been confined to his residence in Lumberton for the past three weeks with typhoid fever, is slowly improving. We are pleased to be able to state that he sat up for a few minutes on yesterday.

Must be Mistaken.

The News and Observer tells us that on Monday last Mr. A. J. Howell, of this city, was appointed a Justice of the Peace. Hasn't our neighbor made a slight mistake and oughtn't it to read "notary public?" We know of no vacancy in this county on the Board of Magistrates and of no authority in Raleigh to make such an appointment had there been a vacancy.

Mrs Burnett's Charming Stories.

T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, have just published new editions of all of Mrs. F. H. Burnett's earlier stories those that first brought her name and fame, and which were originally published in, and expressly written for Peterson's Magazine. Their names are "Kathleen," "A Quiet Life," "Pretty Polly Pemberton," "Thee," "Miss Crespigny." The foregoing are 50 cents each, in paper cover, or $1.00 in cloth, and the following are 25 cents each in paper covers, viz: "Jarl's Daughter," and "Lindsay's Luck." Copies of any or all of the above books will be sent to any address on receipt of the price by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa., or the seven books bound in paper covers will be sent on receipt of $2.50, and the five cloth books for $4.00.

Miss Ina MacCall.

Miss Ina MacCall will appear in this city at the Opera House on Tuesday evening next. Her announcement says: Miss MacCall, after a brilliantly successful tour, during which she has appeared in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Buffalo, and most of the principal cities of the North, East and West—returns to her native country to give a short series of recitals, which have been arranged especially for her by the most efficient artists in New York. Miss MacCall will make a new departure in her entertainment by endeavoring to make each selection a dramatic picture in itself. Having made a thorough study of her work, she will present each character to her audience in the correct costumes and necessary surroundings, making thereby a new, novel and varied entertainment. Miss MacCall will appear but once during the evening in propria persona, in all other selections she will endeavor to lose her own identity in the effort to present to her friends the author's ideal. In the first flush of her success in the North, where the "Little Southerner" (as she was nick-named) received the heartiest encouragement and assistance in her endeavors, Miss MacCall instinctively turns towards her friends in the South, to share with them the pleasure and pride she feels in the almost unhopied for triumph attained in her chosen profession, feeling assured that the kindness bestowed upon her by strangers will be warmly seconded by her friends.

PENDER COUNTY

A Stirring Day Monday—Meetings of the Various Boards—Dr. J. C. Broadhurst Chosen Coroner and Rev. J. S. Black Superintendent of Schools.

BENGAW, N. C., June 6th, 1881.
 EDITOR REVIEW:

Lively times here to-day. The meetings of the Board of Health, of the County Commissioners, and of the joint session of the Board of Education and Magistrates of the county, attracted quite a crowd.

1st. Board of Health. The following officers were elected: President, Dr. George F. Lucas; Secretary and Superintendent of Health, Dr. W. T. Ennett. Dr. E. Porter declined a nomination for President, stating that owing to bad health and the demands of other business he had now withdrawn from practice. Dr. Ennett read his annual report as County Superintendent. It was a good paper, and was referred for publication to the County Commissioners. But whether the spirit of an excessive and penurious economy which actuates the Board, stifling enterprise and liberality, will permit such a needed publication remains to be seen.

2nd. Board of County Commissioners. Dr. John C. Broadhurst gave his bond for Coroner and was duly qualified. Thus does Pender adhere to the good rule of keeping the office of Coroner in the Medical profession. An Coroner ought always to be an intelligent physician. The Board seem to be silent and dormant on the subject of a Jail and Court House, and are thus behind public sentiment in Pender in its just demands for these buildings. The Legislature has provided the ways and means for their construction, and unless the Board wake up and take steps very soon, public meetings of protest will be held all over the county.

3rd. Superintendent of Public Instruction. A commendable interest was shown in this important office. It was regarded that the school money, and the amended school law, would be lost, and a mere mockery, without a good Superintendent to stir up the people and to prevent ignorant and incompetent teachers from continuing in office to the detriment and disgrace of our free school system. It is generally believed that in the person of Rev. J. S. Black, the right man for the right place was selected here to-day for this position. The vote stood eighteen for him and ten for James F. Moore, Esq. Mr. Black is educated, talented, experienced in teaching, energetic, and will put his heart as well as his time and his mind to the task of bringing popular education in Pender up to the improved methods and public necessities. A nobler work can no man engage in than that now imposed upon this rising young Presbyterian clergyman, and progressive son of Pender. The weal or woe of North Carolina very much depends upon the sort and manner of men selected to-day in all the counties for Superintendent of Public Schools. S.
