Am I the Man?
 The names of Edward A. Cooper and Matthew Gelson, two of the poor but honest pressmen of the Brooklyn Eagle, have suddenly become famous in the city of churches, in consequence of their having become the happy owners of five thousand dollars, by investing one dollar in a letter sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., for a half of ticket No. 89,416, in the May Distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery.
Carolina Yacht Club.
 A meeting of the Carolina Yacht Club was held yesterday for the purpose of making arrangements for the approaching regatta over the Wrightsville course on the Fourth of July. The items made public have already been published by us in our issue of Tuesday last, the 21st inst. The two prizes which are to be awarded to the winning yachts in the first and second classes are on exhibition at Honnet's.
A Good One.
 One of Wilmington's noted wags and jokers was standing in Messrs Cronly & Morris' auction room a few days ago when he was accosted by an Irish tramp and the following colloquy occurred:
 "And what is it ye sell in here?"
 "This is an auction room," replied the joker.
 "But what is it ye sell?"
 "Fools," replied the wag.
 The tramp leisurely eyed him all over and replied, "Be jabbers, ye's going to have a sale pretty soon. I see ye've got a stool and."
 The job was caught and he gave the tramp 2 cents to say nothing about it but it would leak out. Like an Old hand, so to speak, you can always tell them.

SOIREE.

Misses Burr & James' School and Mrs. M. S. Cushing's Music Class.
 The closing annual exercises of Misses Burr & James' school and Mrs. M. S. Cushing's music class took place in their school room last evening and were listened to by a large and delighted audience. The spacious room was literally packed by the friends and parents of the pupils of this excellent school, who were amply repaid by the charming little entertainment for any inconvenience they may have suffered from the heat and the very ungentlemanly and outrageous conduct of the crowd of boys who lined the wall of the church yard on the east side of the building.
 Miss Belle Anderson read the salutatory with much credit to herself. She is a fine reader, her enunciation was clear and distinct and the modulations of her voice were expressive and well-timed. The "Gloria" Mozart Twelfth Mass was rendered charmingly by the school. The piano duo by Misses Agostini and Plummer was well executed and received the plaudits of the auditors. The vocal solo "Take Me Back to Home and Mother," by Miss Mary Vincent, was a gem and won to the young lady a host of admirers. She has a delightful voice, rich in sweetness and melody. Recreations piano solo by Miss Katie Harriss, was excellent. This little lady has had only a few months instruction on the piano forte yet she acquitted herself so handsomely that it was hard to believe that she had not been taking lessons for years.
 "The Last Hymn" was recited by Miss Eliza W. Meares in a most charming manner and at once established for her the reputation of a fine reader. The Carnival De Venice, by Miss Belle Anderson, was excellent. She has a fine touch and is a very clever performer on the piano. The performances of Misses Peschau, Agostini, Plummer and Augusta McPherson was very creditable.
 The last named young lady deserves a little more than a passing notice as she has only received instructions on the piano for a few months and is indeed very young. It is hardly fair to individualize in this manner, because each one of the fair misses did so well, and we do not intend to rob them of one iota of the praise which is so deservingly theirs. Miss Callie P. French's rendition of the "Little Chirpers" was very much enjoyed and made many friends for the young lady. Miss Florence Wood's "Bless your little heart" was much enjoyed by the audience and called forth a hearty encore. She has a sweet, bird-like voice and has it well under control. The recitation of the "Day after the Battle" by Miss Vina Hinton was listened to with perfect silence and was one of the events of the evening. This little lady did admirably well and made a telling impression among her audience. She fully merited the floral testimonials she received from her admirers.
 The prizes, which were as follows, were delivered by Col. J. G. Burr with happy and appropriate remarks:
 Fifth Class—Master Rob. Cowan.
 Sixth Class—Henry Von Glahn.
 Seventh Class—Miss Agnes Wood.
 Eighth Class—Master Henry Peschau.
 Certificates of merit for excellency in scholarship and deportment were awarded to Misses Mary Vincent, First Class; Mary VanOrsdell, Second Class; Lillie Peschau, Third Class; Mary Bunting, Fourth Class; Eliza Potter, Fifth Class; Master George Peschau, Sixth Class.
 Prizes in composition were awarded to Miss Ada Schenk, First Class; Miss Josie Schenk, Second Class.
 The Excelsior medal, the highest reward of the school, was earned by three young ladies of the First Class, Misses Eliza W. Meares, Lee Cameron, and Vina Hinton and by two of the Second Class, Misses Annie Meares and Hettie Barlow, the maximum being thirty-six golden merits, which were attained, awarded for punctuality, scholarship and deportment during the session.
 The prize of the Third Class, there being a tie between Misses Lula Thompson and Maud Hall, both were awarded prizes.
 Fourth Class—The prize was awarded to Miss Augusta McPherson.
 The evening's entertainment came to a close with the very pretty cantata "Flora's Festival," and was a fitting closing for so pleasant an entertainment.

Who Built Fort Fisher?

Col. Wm. Lamb says he "built and commanded" Fort Fisher. Both points of this assertion have been and will be disputed. We argued on Monday that Col. Lamb did command the Fort in both fights, but there are those who declare that he did not, and that Gen. Whiting commanded in both fights. This point of the controversy will be discussed later on. We refer here to day more particularly to the fact that Col. Lamb's assertion that he built Fort Fisher is really not liable to demonstration. We write simply in the interests of a correct history. We are not able here to give all of the dates to which we would like to refer but there is one question we would like to ask of Col. Lamb: If you built Fort Fisher, why didn't you name it? We find, by referring to the files of the Daily Journal for the year 1861, that the fort was so named "in honor of the gallant Fisher"—who, as we all know, was Col. Chas. F. Fisher, commanding the Sixth Regiment of North Carolina State Troops, who fell early in the battle of Manassas while leading his regiment into the fight. This order was issued from the office of Col. S. L. Fremont, who was actually in charge of the construction of coast defence at that time, who built the larger part of the fort and who by orders from his office gave it its name. We doubt if Col. Lamb was in North Carolina at the time when the fort which he "built" had been named and was in process of construction by another. Of course, when he took charge of the fort, as he did under orders from Gen. J. R. Anderson, of the Tredegar Iron Works, he added to (but did not improve very materially) the work under his command.
 There is one thing certain, after tinkering at the works for three years, it was found, when put to a practical test, that they were fearfully inadequate. There was but little protection for the men in the few small bomb-proofs which had been constructed, and we know that in the first fight some of them were instructed to leave the fort and take such protection as they could find on the river banks. It has been stated that 20,000 shot and shell were hurled at Fort Fisher in this little Christmas fight. Besides this, there was another serious defect which was developed in the last fight. Mines had been laid to cover the land approaches to the fort yet when it was sought to explode them they were found to be utterly useless.
 But we cannot linger more on this subject; time and space are both scarce. We have been promised some dates and some facts which, if they do come to hand, will be printed hereafter.

Immigration Society.
 The merchants and citizens generally who are in favor of immigration are requested to meet to-morrow, Thursday, 30th inst., at 10:30 a. m., at the Produce Exchange. This meeting is called by the Committee, Col. W. L. DeRosset and Messrs Alex. Sprunt and T. E. Bond, appointed yesterday, who were to prepare a constitution for a proposed immigration society. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance on the occasion as it is a matter in which every business man in the city is deeply interested.

At 2 o'clock to-day the thermometer in this office registered 98 degrees, blood heat.
 WILMINGTON, N. C., June 28, 1881.
 MR. EDITOR—
 Is there no way of putting a stop to the intolerable nuisance of half-grown boys yelling and singing at all times of the night, and thereby disturbing quiet citizens who go to bed in good season, to get a quiet night's rest? It has become such a nuisance that it is almost unbearable. Very nearly every night, Saturday nights particularly, it is impossible for a family to sleep undisturbed before 2 to 3 o'clock.—There is a way to stop this nuisance and the remedy should be applied. The disturbers of the peace and quiet of a community should have the full penalty of the law, (and not a 10 cents fine). These disturbers can be found out. If the police force is not large enough to detect them (they can be heard generally from 2 to 3 o'clock), then we should have double or more policemen. If these boys, or drunken men, must have the town then quiet tax payers should move out and let them have full sway.

Results That Spark.

"Specifics" and "cures" (so called) for rheumatism have already been brought before the public, and many of them have even been endorsed by the certificates of respectable and prominent citizens, who have derived benefit from such preparations. There is no doubt that a great many of these "Liniments," "Oil," etc., so widely advertised and freely recommended for Rheumatism and painful complaints of a similar nature, have genuine merit, and will relieve certain types of the complaints named; but when Rheumatism, Neuralgia and kindred diseases have become chronic and threaten serious results, you may rest assured that they will help but very little. Although not recommended as "infallible," the peculiar qualities of St. Jacobs Oil especially adapt it to those cases which may be termed "chronic" and which have previously withstood all known "specifics" as well as the prescriptions of the best physicians.
 The case of Mr. A. Heilman, Editor of the Pittsburgh Republican, who suffered with rheumatism for two years, we would mention as an example. After vainly using all the best recommended remedies, and exhausting the skill of the most experienced physicians, without even temporary relief, it required only two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil to effect a permanent cure. Mr. C. Hanni, a well-known citizen of Youngstown, Ohio, secured for his wife, who for twelve years had been a constant sufferer from Neuralgia in the head, the services of the ablest physicians of the land, but they were unable to do anything for her; half a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil cured her. Mr. Wm. Reinhart, Elmore, Wis., reports the case of a neighbor who for twenty-four years had suffered so terribly with Rheumatism that, at times, he could hardly move around; a few bottles of St. Jacobs Oil cured him. These are results which truly deserve to be brought to public notice; but they are not exceptions, as will be seen by the numerous other certificates from all parts of the United States. It should be the duty of every one to call the attention of his suffering friends and neighbors to this wonderfully efficacious preparation, especially as the low price of 50 cents a bottle places it within the reach of all persons, rich and poor.
Big Sheephead.
 Anglers are having fine sport at the rocks at Federal Point. The sheephead are biting very nicely and some very fine large specimens are being caught there every day. Yesterday a sheephead weighing eleven pounds was caught and it required the combined effort of two well grown men to land it. It was the largest which has been caught there so far as we have heard.
