This is the latest: "Do you dance the quadrille?" "No, but I have a brother Bill from Brazil who dances the quadrille on the window sill." Now, of this idiosyncrasy we have had a fill, and hope the next paragraphic quill that produces anything so ill will be treated to a leaden pill—one that will surely kill.

Convalescing.

Smith's Creek Bridge.

[Cambridgeport (Mass.) American Protestant.]
Mr. A. Bayley, the well-known druggist, 607 Main street, this city, was the first to sell St. Jacobs Oil here. He informed us yesterday that it was the most popular remedy he ever sold, and that it could not fail to reach the people everywhere.

Postal Mailings.

Under the rulings of the Postoffice Department, letters received at the post-office addressed to places that are not designated as postal stations in the postal guide, no matter how evident the intention of the sender, will be considered misdirected, and unless the address is corrected, will be sent to the dead letter office. Persons sending letters, especially important ones, cannot be too particular about the address, giving the correct name of the postoffice, state and county, when necessary.

Stricken in Passages.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of the venerable Mrs. Stewart, of Smithville. She was stricken with paralysis on Sunday last, her right side being entirely useless. Her daughter, Mrs. Warren, of this city, was telegraphed for on Sunday night. Mrs. Stewart's condition was a little more favorable yesterday, but a second stroke is apprehended which will, it is feared, carry her off. She is now in the 88th year of her age.

North and South.

Ex-Mayor Fishplate, who returned to this city with his family on yesterday from Atlantic City, New Jersey, speaks in the highest terms of the people he met and avers that the South has recently made many warm friends at the North on account of the expressions of her heartfelt sympathies over the attempted assassination of President Garfield. Mr. Fishplate is loud in praise of Messrs Brown & Woelper, proprietors of the United States Hotel, at Atlantic City, and of their assistants, Messrs Whitney, Hayden and Chase, and is advising all his friends, when they go to Atlantic City, to stop at the United States Hotel if they wish to be the recipients of gentlemanly attention and a good old Southern welcome.

Cut by a Circular Saw.

A young lad, some 12 or 15 years of age, met with an accident at Messrs. Altaffer, Price & Co.'s planing mill this morning, by which he received a severe gash on the right leg, just above the knee joint. The youth's name is Alexander Kershaw. He is an apprentice to Messrs. Altaffer, Price & Co., and this morning, while engaged in shoving some lathing on a table to which a circular saw was attached, involuntarily raised his knee or leg while standing at the Ripple table, as it is called, and the saw, which projects under the table, being in full motion at the time, cut a gash at least six inches in length, and an inch or possibly more in depth, across the leg. The injured lad was immediately removed to the yard office, where medical attendance, which had been summoned, reached him and the proper remedies were applied. The young sufferer was then conveyed to his home, on Second street, in a buggy, where we learn at last accounts he was doing as well as could be expected.

Coup is Coming.

We learn by a letter to this paper from Mr. W. O. Crum, General Manager of the Advertising department of Coup's Show, that they will be in this city on or about October 9th. Mr. Crum says: "Mr. W. O. Coup's New Great Show, which is said to be fully three times larger than ever, consists of three circus companies, using four circus and hippodrome rings, nine bands of music, a grand menagerie of rare wild animals, a splendid museum, requiring a dozen steam engines to operate the different features, and a magnificent Paris hippodrome, with a race track forty feet wide and nearly half a mile round, employing nearly two hundred artists, and a tribe of Indians, who will take part in an exciting romantic wild-wood horse back drama, entitled 'An Indian's chase for a wife.'" Both in the three circuses and hippodrome, many of the acts are entirely new, and are the theme of universal admiration and praise, by the public and the press. Among these are the Indians the Zulus, the flying Lu Lu, the dashing Geraldine, etc., whose wonderful feats and performances have no parallel in the annals of the stage or the ring.

The President.

The news from Washington City to day is to the effect that the President is better. He slept well last night and has retained the nourishment administered to him. His condition in general seems to be as satisfactory as could be expected under the circumstances.

Magistrate's Court.

Hannah Gray, colored, was arraigned before Justice Millis this morning at the instance of and upon the affidavit of Jane Gray, for assault and battery upon the latter named person. Case dismissed upon payment of costs.

The case of the four sailors arrested at Burgaw, upon a warrant issued by Justice McQuigg, charging them with larceny, was continued, owing to the sickness of one of the prosecuting witnesses.

The Light Infantry.

At the regular meeting of the Wilmington Light Infantry, held last evening at the Armory, it was unanimously decided that the Company attend the Yorktown Centennial. Mr. Geo. W. Doyle was last night elected Junior Second Lieutenant to fill a vacancy caused recently by the promotion of Mr. R. H. Beery as Second Lieutenant. Capt. N. F. Thompson was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

City Court.

Two nautical individuals were first on the docket this morning, charged with an affray. One was fined $1—the other being absent, on account of sickness, his case was continued.

Alice Hall, colored, an old offender, was arrested last night, at 12 o'clock, for being drunk and disorderly, and this morning arraigned upon the above named charge. The sentence of the Court was ten days in the C. P.

Candas Dunston, colored, for being drunk and disorderly at the Carolina Central Railroad this morning, about 1 o'clock, was ordered to pay a fine of $2.50 or be locked up for five days. This finished the proceedings, and the court adjourned.

A Protest.

EDITOR REVIEW.—I see by a resolution at the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen they have decided to erect a belfry on the City Hall. I am satisfied that the gentlemen composing the Board have nothing but the welfare of Wilmington at heart and will do nothing but what they think is for its best interest, but I do not think that they have considered the effect that it will have as to its looks and the injury that may be done to the building. I know that all good citizens feel and take a pride in the noble structure and would be mortified to see it marred by a common belfry replaced upon it. It has been justly remarked by strangers stopping and passing through our city that our City Hall is one of the grandest and handsomest buildings in the whole South; that we ought to be proud of it; that the conception was grand, and the execution good in all its details. A community of citizens is generally judged of their intelligence and cultivation by their taste in architecture and fine arts. Education and culture in architecture, sculpture and fine arts go hand in hand.

Therefore, I hope, before final action is taken that the Mayor and Aldermen will reconsider their resolution of their last meeting.

The gentlemen who composed the Building Committee who had charge of the construction of the building, Messrs. Alfred Martin and S. D. Wallace, for the city, and Messrs. Donald McRae and Edward Savage for the Thalian Association, considered the propriety of building an observatory on the building that a bell might be placed in it, but after a consultation with the Superintendent it was their unanimous opinion that it would be destructive to the building. And every Board of Aldermen from then to the present time have considered the matter and after consultation have refused to place the bell upon the building. In the construction there were put in ventilators, in the shape of dormer windows, and they made the building look so much like a stable or factory or a cross-road school house, that the building committee ordered the Superintendent to have them removed. Our Traveling Correspondent.

GREENSBORO, N. C., Aug. 16th, 1881. EDITOR DAILY REVIEW: In my last from Kinston I gave you a report of the crops in Eastern North Carolina. Since then I have been as far West as Winston. I regret to say that along this line of route have been almost, if not entirely, destroyed by the drought. The tobacco crop, particularly in this section and near Winston, has been almost entirely destroyed, and in the immediate neighborhood of Winston and Salem they had no rain from May until about ten days ago. The drought has been distressing. While there is not a great abundance of fruit this season, yet there is enough to supply home consumption with very fine peaches, pears, plums and other fruits.

WINSTON.

This flourishing town is still improving, and each year large tobacco warehouses and factories are being built. The Pace warehouse is said to be the largest and most commodious one in the South, while Brown's, the Piedmont and others are very large and get their full share of business. It is a sight well worth seeing to a "sand fiddler" to visit these large tobacco manufactories. The hotels in Winston are as good as can be found anywhere in the State, supplied as they are by a superabundance of everything to tempt the appetite. In addition to the other improvements in Winston the authorities are now constructing a reservoir and laying pipes for their water works. They are a go-ahead community.

GREENSBORO.

This town too continues to improve yearly in handsome stores and private dwellings. Dr. Benbow, of the famous Benbow House, has again opened his splendid hotel, having refurbished it from basement to attic with new and elegant furniture. There is a neatness about this hotel unsurpassed by any I have ever seen in the bed rooms and dining room, with every possible attention, and it is like being at home to be in the Benbow House. Let the travelling public visit this house and the Central and Merchant's at Winston and they will not complain longer of bad hotels in North Carolina. Inadvertently I have neglected to mention the McAdoo House here which deserves to be "class'd A No. 1. The Benbow and McAdoo buildings would add credit in point of architecture to any city, and they are presided over by gentlemen who "know how to keep a hotel". It is gratifying to see our North Carolina towns improving so rapidly. CORRESPONDENT.
