JOE PERSON'S

REMEDY FOR

SCROFULA

NEVER FAILS.

It Will Cure if Fairly Tested.

It gives me much pleasure to be able to fate that I have derived an effectual cure of scrofula from the use of Mrs. Joe Person's remedy for that disease. I had suffered from scrofula for more than three years, and had despaired of ever getting well. I the trested during that time by three very minent physicians, without any good result.

Ithen went to the National Surgical Insti late, at Atlanta, Ga., and was treated there nore than two months, with no better rethe my family physicians met with.

After returning from the Institute, I was enuaded to try Mrs. Person's remedy, and had not used it more than a week before I My sores soon began to heal, and the color of my skin changed as fast as the sores aid. I had not thought of ever getting tell again, but my hopes increased, my low piritedness fied before the remedy, and I a now enjoying splendid health and am in rits. The remedy is mild as a pur ative, and a strong tonic; it will heal the Rularly. It is my opinion that it should baken some time after the sore is healed, a remove the cause of its effects. It should s ates regularly by all means, for I have maximes neglected it, from the pressure of these, and in all cases found that the malready made would commence to reyou give it a fair test. I speak from experiment and not from hearsay. I am a gratetal recipient of a cure from the use of it and the under many and lasting obligations to in Person for the great relief I have obtained from its use. Sufferers, try it and be used, is my advice I am, respectfully, hittell, N. C. JAMES A. MORRIS-bend stamp for testimonial of remarkable

Supreme Court.

By the late act of the Legislature, says the News and Observer, the sessions of the Supreme Court will hereafter be held on the first Monday in February and the first Monday in October. The next term of the court, therefore, will be held on the first Monday in October. The first week of the term has heretofore been devoted to the examination of applicants to practice law, and the hearing of appeals from the first judicial district, two days being allotted to the examination of the applicants. The court, however, having examined applicants the first Monday in June last, will not have an examination in October. The next examination will be on the first Monday in February next. Appeals from the first judicial district will be called, peremptorily, on Wednesday of the first week in October, unless counsel on both sides of appeals from that district shall agree to argue an appeal on the first two days, in which case the court will hear any appeal thus agreed upon.

The several districts will be called in the following order: First week, first district; second and third weeks, second district; fourth week, third district; fifth week, fourth district sixth week, fifth district; seventh week sixth district; eighth week, seventh dis' trict; ninth week, eighth district; tenth. eek, ninth district.

We were glad to receive a call to-day from an old acquaintance, Mr. Joseph Denck, who has just arrived here for a few weeks stay. Mr. Denck has been very ill since we saw him last, having been stricken with a very severe attack of typhoid fever in Columbia. It was reported here at one time that the attack had had a fatal termination, a report which we were unqualifiedly glad to find was false.

Sunday School Convention:

The fourth annual meeting of the North Carolina Sunday School Association will be held this year in the Moravian church, at Salem, N. C., and con tinue two days, September 1 and 2. All persons actively engaged or interested in the Sunday school work are considered delegates. Among these expected are President Battle, of the University of North Carolina; Mr. E. Payson Porter, Philadelphia, Pa., Statistical Secretary of the International Sunday School Asse ciation; Rev. L. C. Vuss, Newbern, N C.; Gen. Rebert Vance, Asheville, N O., and Maj. Who Can Explain?

Mr. H. B. Register writes us of some curious developments in connection with the digging out of his well, at White ville Depot, yesterday. As the water had failed, in consequence of the long dry spell, he put some hands at work to dig it deeper. At the depth of 20 feet they came upon a bed of coals, which proved to be one foot deep; then they struck a lot of timber, which was very soft and decayed, and which was about 21 feet in depth, and after that they struck a bed of rotting vegetation, mixed with pine straw and pine burs, which appeared as though they might have drifted together during a long ago watery period, and finally, at a depth of 30 feet, they came upon a piece of timber, apparently hard and solid and of a species of wood which does not grow anywhere in this section and which ne one who has seen it as yet can classify. The bark is thin and fine and the wood is yery near light yellow color. Who can explain these things? We suggest that Mr. Register send a piece of this wood to the Agricultural Museum at Raleigh.

Yes, sir, it is all that it is claimed be, said Capt. Jack McLean, of Norfelk. Va. I have tried it, and have advised and witnessed its trial on others. I tell you its effects are simply wonderful. I had been suffering a great deal for over a month with very severe pains, contracted from a cold. I first experienced the pain in my side and from its peculiar nature, I thought that it might be the premonition of paralysis. My friends were fearful; but after it shifted about, shootwas rheumatism, and I sought remedies of different kinds, without effect, until I chanced to see the advertisement of St. Jacobs Oil, and read of its woaderful cures, when I resolved to give it a trial. Securing a bottle of the Oil, I applied it to the parts affected, and that night I had the first good night's rest that I had since the commencement of my attack. I gave two other applications and became perfectly cured-not suffering from rheumatism since and that has been two months age.

Again Postponed.

The case of the four seamen committed to jail by Justice McQuigg, day-be fore-yesterday, upon the charge of larceny, and which was continued from yes terdsy until this morning, at 10 o'clock, was again continued this morning, owing to the nare diness of the prosecution to proceed to trial.

Since the above was in type the case was on trial, defendants discharged and the prosecutors required to pay the costs-in the Exrly Moratog.

Early risers this morning tell us that the view in the Bastern heavens, just previous to daybreak, was beautiful in the extreme. The atmosphere was nousually clear, every star seeming to shine with an added lustre. The moon and Venus, the morning star, rose not very far apart and added much to the spectacle. Venus shone almost as brightly as the moon, and appeared nearly twice as large, owing in great part perhaps to the purity of the atmosphere, as our in formant had ever before seen it. Such a sight is worth turning out of bed before day to witness.

We Recollect Him.

We find in a recent issue of the Phila delphia Record an account of the arrest of Col. Lewis J. Shearman, along with a man named Williams, on the charge of uttering counterfeit money. Shearman will be remembered by many of our readers as being a resident of this city for some years previous to the war, during which time he was one of the proprietors of the Globe Saloon, in Granite Row, on South Front street. Previous to his arrest as a counterfeiter he had been engaged in several nefarious transactions at the North for one of which he was arrested and sent to the Penitentiary for five years. It was while in prison that he became acquainted with his counterfeit confederate, Williams.

The Record publishes a lengthy account of Shearman's life which in some particulars only, so far as relates to his residence here, are correct. It is a sort of dime novel history. He appeared in Wilmington when a young man and remained here for thirteen years, (we condense from the Record), where he amassed considerable property. At the out break of the war he was sent for to go to Richmond when it was proposed to him to join a secret organization to fire on Fort Sumter and so precipitate a war. This he declined to do and was fired upon and wounded and then escaped North where by some means he became Lieutenant-Colonel of a regiment in the Sixth Army Corps. Soon after securing this position he was selected as a spy to be sent South. His peculiar qualifications for this position according to the Record were "the address of a gentleman, the coolness and self-possession of a stage villain at a weekly salary, and a cheek that would shatter the hoof of an army mule." Shearman first went to Richmand where he managed to ingratiate himself with Hon. Judah P. Benjamin, the Confederate Secretary of State, and from him obtained a passport under the name of John A. Taylor, who was the father of Col. John D. Taylor of this city, and a prominent citizen of Wilmington He paraded the streets of Richmond with a pocketful of blank passports, probably and great abundance of Swamp Muck on the stolen, which he used in sending his agents off North. He came to Wilmington to see about his "property," and was here arrested and held in jail for three weeks, when he was released and suc ceeded in securing a survey of the harbor and approaches to the bar and fortifications on the river. He was again ar rested and escaped again by bribing one of the officers of the jail. The next ing through my body in a most infernal. | night he was at sea in an open boat. He ly tormenting manner, I knew that it was caught in a storm and carried out sixty miles, where he was picked up by the Federal gunboat Monticelo. He soon after sent his maps to freshing beverage for Summer; not intoxi Generals Grant and Butler by whom cating. he was highly complimented. The maps were prepared by the Coast Survey and each bore the imprint, "Prepared from information furnished by L. J Shearman." The Record goes on to tell us that at the close of the war Shearman again returned to the South Swithin C. Shortlidge.,' when a movement was made to elect him Mayor of Wilmington, an honor which he flatly refused. He tried to regain his Said (1880): "I cheerfully consent to the "property" but failed. He then return. ed to Washington and was for a time in the Secret Service as a detective. It is not surprising to learn after all this that he should bring up in a penitentiary.

Alarm of Fire.

The alarm of fire this afternoon, about l o'clock, proceeded from the house corner of Third and Walnut streets, occupied in the upper story by Charl s Mal. lett, Sr., colored, and family, and on the first floor by Mr. William Ottersen, as a grocery store. The cause of the fire is attributed to a spark from the chimney which caught the shingle roof and blazed up right smartly for a while. By the speedy efforts, however, of a few persons near at hand, the flames were soon ex tinguished with a few buckets of water that were passed up to those persons who had climbed to the roof. The fire de partment turned out promptly but their assistance was not needed.
