WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 .- Hope, which fled from the White House yesterday at noon, returned a few hours later and has found a strong place there since, incre ing as the hours pass, until this evening it was almost confidence. The noon bulletin reported the President to be in an alarming condition. No one would have been surprised if the final bulletin was issued at any moment stating that the President had passed away. There seemed to be no other result. About 2 o'clock a change took place, which was first indicated by a remark by the President that he felt better. From then until noon he has improved. The news of the improvement reached the outside very soon and in an hour faces looked more cheerful. The evening bulletin was encouraging as was also every word that came from the sick room during the night. The President was fully conscious during the entire day which had not been the case for the ten days that had preceded it. As the faces of those about him brightened up he became bright and theered every one by his talking. WAITING FOR THE BULLETINS.

This morning the best bulletin which had been issued for ten days was issued. With it came the information that he was taking nourishment with a relish. I he noon bulletin was of an encouraging character. The opening of another of the small abscesses in the right side of the face, which was made during the morning, was attended with but little rain, and good results immediately fol loved. Everything that came from the sick room to-day was of an encouraging character. Around the gates a crowd was gathered during the entire day, in creasing at 7 o'clock, when the evening bulletin came out, to at least four hun ared. Similar crowds gathered in front of Thompson's drug store, on Fifth street where the bulletins are regularly posted. Lafayette Park, and indeed the entire avenue from Fifteenth to Seventeenth street, was thronged with people waitidg for the good news which they felt sure would come. It came at last, and was satisfactory in every particular. The frequency of the pulse (110) under other circumstances would not have been regarded as satisfactory, but it was so much less than what it had been for the past three or four evenings that it was hailed with delight. The crowd lingered -but a short time, nearly every one de parting for other parts of the city, bearing the good news to others. Both Drs. Agnew and Hamilton, of the consulting surgeons, were present at each of the consultations and examination to day, Dr agnew having arrived yesterday afternoon. Dr. Hamilton left for New York to night. Mr. T. B. Rudolph, a brother of Mrs. Garfield, arrived yesterday afternoon from Mentor, having been telegraphed for. WHAT MRS. EDSON SAYS.

Dr. Susan Edson, who has never been without hopes, except possibly for a few minutes on Friday morning, when asked about the way the President spent the day, said, "Splendid. He takes a sufficient nourishment, and is now on the road to recovery, though still in a critical condition." Dr. Edson told the Sun correspondent on Thursday night last that she thought "the President would have two or three bad days, but after that there would be a vast improvement." The days came, and were possibly as bad, as they could be. The vast improvement, too, has come, and the only ques tion now is whether it will continue. Three of the physicians have expressed themselves that it will, while the others say "it looks that way."

DR. BOYNTON TAKES HEART AGAIN. Dr. Boyn on was very hopeful in speak. ing of the case to-day to the Sun correspondent. He said there were all the signs of blood poisoning, but if the Presi dent could take all the nourishment that would be given him the blood would soon become strengthened so that it could expel the poisonous matter. It was this condition of the blood, he said, which played such havoc with the President's stomach two weeks since.

ANOTHER COMPLICATION. With all the bright hopes expressed by the surgeons, and the great satisfaction expressed at the change in the alarming symptoms of Friday night and yesterday morning; it seems that some unea. fact there is an overwhelming array of testisiness is manifested in regard to the respiration. Dr. Reyburn expressed some anxiety about the right lung saying that it exhibited a dull feeling, which was not natural. Te-night it is the talk among the local physicans, who keep fully informed about the slightest change in the symptoms, that the surgeous are apprehensive oi an abscess in one of the lungs, and are watching the respiration with such anxiety. Inquiry made tonight of Dr. Bliss at the White House fails to confirm the report, and it was said in answer to a question that the story had very little foundation, and that the surgeons had not as yet seen any positive indication of any trouble from the lungs. It was possible that an abscess might form there, but not at all probable.

Terrific Gale at Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 28 .- Throughout yesterday and last night the easterly gale along this coast blew with furious force, and the scene within the harbor was grand and terrible. Thos. C. Les esne, aged 23, a son of Chancellor Leses ne, was swept from the battery sea-wall by the wind and drowned. Three other deaths resulting from the gale, those of two colored men and a colored woman, are so far reported. The damage to property in the eastern part of the city is widespread, but not of a very serious character, consisting mainly of the destruction of tin roofs, chimneys, fencings, signs and trees, and the tearing up of the planking of the wharves. The damage is roughly estimated at $100,000. At Sullivan's Island, the seaside suburb of Charleston, several cottages were swept away and much other damage done, amounting in all to about $40,000, but no lives were lost. The shipping in port had ample time to prepare for the gale and sustained no damage. The steamers of the planking of the wharves. The damage is roughly estimated at $100,000. At Calvert, for Baltimore, which were to have sailed yesterday, remained here. The steamer G. W. Clyde arrived from New York this afternoon, having encountered the hurricane off Care Fear without damage. The 'steamers Cleopatra, from Baltimore, and Equator, from Philadelphia, are off the bar.

The route was very carefully surveyed by the County Surveyor of Jones last Fall for a turnpike, and the line located. Capt. E. R. Page and other citizens cut the way through to the railroad an air line. The distance is found to be eight miles, through a perfectly level country, requiring scarcely any grading and very little culvert work or bridging, and for a railroad is perhaps the cheapest of eight miles that could be located anywhere in this section of country. The traffic over this line would be heavy. It would draw immense quantities of freight from Onslow county that now finds its way to hear that $3 25 is bid for Soft and $2 65 for Wilmington, and in both Jones and Ohs- | Virgin, with sales of 100 bbls at these figlow serve some of the richest agricultural | ures. sections in North Carolina, stimulate increased productions, and the general entgrowth of very fertile regions which have long suffered for want of transportation facilities.
