

SONG.
The spirit of the summer time!
Bring back the roses to the dell;
Bring back the swallows from the distant hill;
The honeybee from downy dells,
Bring back the friendship of the sun;
Bring back the evening daisies and the lily;
Bring back the merry daffodils,
And peeping stars bid lovers wait.

For a great many years the sole purpose and aim of the republican press has been to aid and elevate the unfortunate colored man and his race.

Hope For Bald Heads.
To the Editor of the New York Sun:
Three years ago the top of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand. On the recommendation of a friend I used the following simple preparation, and now have a good head of hair. It is a pint of water add a little more salt than the water will dissolve. In other words, make a very strong brine. At night, before retiring, rub the bald part briskly with a tingling sensation is apparent, taking care not to make the head smart. When the head is perfectly dry there will appear a thin coating of salt. In the morning wash the head carefully with pure water, cold, soap, and a plentiful quantity of some mild oil. I used olive oil. I have never seen a bald head where this remedy has been applied to hair that is falling out but there was not an immediate strengthening of the growth. With some bald heads it has failed.

How Literature Pays
Milton received $5 for "Paradise Lost"; Pope $40,000 for his translation of Homer; Edgar Allan Poe $10 for "The Raven"; Dr. Holland $12,000 for "Wittier Sweet"; $3,000 for "Kathia"; and $5,000 for the "Mistress of the Manor"; Mr. Bonner, of the Ledger, paid Tennyson $5,000 for a sin in poem; Angus A. Evans, Willon, author of "Edith", has made $100,000 in eight years out of novels; Walter Scott made $250,000 out of his; Bret Harte received $10,000 for "Gabriel Conroy"; Dickens $15,000 for his copy-right on "Barnaby Rudge"; for six months Stanley has already received $50,000 for his "Fruith the Dark Continent"; Shakespeare $25 for "Hamlet"; "Boccaccio" $50,000 for "The Shaughraun";

Interesting Discoveries.
Twenty-six of the mummies discovered near Thebes have been identified by the scientific research conducted by their own satisfaction, and the London Saturday Review says that it would not be easy to exaggerate the importance of the find. These are principally the remains of royal families, ranging through four dynasties from 2000 to 1700 B. C. It is stated that the mummy of the Pharaoh of Israel is among them, in a perfect state of preservation, and the mummy of Thothmes III, in whose reign the obelisk that stands in Central Park was first erected. Lotus flowers that look as if they had been plucked a few minutes ago are found lying in the wrappings of kings who were dead centuries before the Pharaoh of Israel was born, and the passage of nearly 4,000 years has not dimmed the beauty of the color of the inscriptions and papyrus, which are as bright and fresh as if the artist had touched them but yesterday. The inscriptions and papyrus when fully read will, in all probability, throw a flood of light upon what is now a dark place to Egyptologists—the great middle period of Egyptian history, which includes the captivity and exodus of the Jews.

In April last, twenty-four members of Arlington's minstrels were taking Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. It made them happy.

The Crops of the Country.
This is evidently an off year for crops in this country. There is no general failure in the yield of cereals, fruit, cotton or tobacco, but there is a failure in some regions of the country while there is an abundance of production in other localities. This may be a wise economy of nature, but the wisdom is not apparent to the individuals who happened to be in the list of those whose lands are unproductive. Taking the country as a whole probably the money value of the crops will be larger than it was last year, because the smaller surplus enhances the market prices, and as regards our foreign trade, if we receive as much money for a small or quantity of produce, we will not be the loser. But for general prosperity at home it would be much better if there was more uniformity in the yield of agricultural productions. The high prices which seem likely to prevail for the necessities and comforts of life, to say nothing of the luxuries, will materially increase the cost of living and this eventually must result in higher wages to operatives, so that the production of manufactures will be more expensive and higher prices will prevail all around. The state of things is not favorable to extending our foreign exports of such articles of manufacture as come in competition with those of other nations. The transportation business, in which there is more capital invested than in any other industry of the country outside of agriculture, will be less fully employed, to the detriment of dividends.

and probably for a year to come, for although the crops are comparatively light, there is a surplus over what is required for domestic consumption of nearly all articles of domestic produce which we export, and probably a large surplus as the foreign markets will require when they have to take supplies at an increased cost.

We kill our rulers when we remove from the human system whatever disorganizes the nerves. Dr. Benbow's Celery and Chamomile Pills relieve from subjection to the power of headache, sleeplessness and dyspepsia. They contain no opium or hurtful drug.
