

THE DAILY REVIEW

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop'r WILMINGTON, N. C.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1881.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as Second Class Matter.

The aggregate of income liable to income tax in England has risen from $2,225,000,000 in 1870 to $2,890,000,000 in 1880.

Lady Frances Evelyn Bertie, daughter of Lord Abingdon, has joined the Church of Rome and entered the novitiate of a convent.

The late President's last request to Mr. Arthur is said to have been to appoint Col. Rockwell quartermaster-general of the army.

Senator Hill writes to an Atlanta friend that he is now free from pain and is encouraged by his doctors to hope for a permanent recovery.

The Beaufort, South Carolina, News says there is a failure this year in the Sea Island cotton crop of that section of from 30 to 40 per cent. in consequence of the storm of September.

W. T. Wilson, the recipient of the Blair letters, stated last Saturday that the article in the Richmond Whig, containing what purported to be a document signed by him admitting that the celebrated Blair letters were forgeries, is "a lie and a forgery."

Miss Ruth Ford, principal of Lucy Cobb Institute, at Athens, Ga., lately wrote Mr. George I. Souey, of New York, thanking him for his generous promise to give $5,000 for the erection of a chapel for its use if the citizens of Athens would give $4,000 more, and he has replied that he would like to make this change in his proposition: that if the citizens raise $4,000 he will give $10,000 toward building and fitting up the chapel.

The Griffin (Ga.) Star, speaking of a sample of cotton, says: "It came from a bale weighing four hundred and fifty pounds, raised in an adjoining county, to compete for the cotton premium of $1,100 offered by the International Exposition. It will very likely win the premium. Mr. George Jones was so carried away that he presented the owners with some nickel-plated ties for the bale, and gave a dollar for a pound of it to exhibit to the cotton dealers of Griffin."

Indiana is prohibited by its old constitution from having more than five judges in its Supreme Court, and as this number of judges was 1,500 cases in arrears last winter, the Legislature added five, "commissioners," who hear cases and make up reports on them for the Supreme Court. In general the Supreme Court accepts the decision made by the commissioner, and in case of a difference of opinion the five judges and the five commissioners go into conference and decide the matter by joint votes.

The New York Daily Commercial Bulletin illustrates the course of modern trade as follows: As a striking illustration of the present anomalous condition of the export trade, consequent upon unhealthy speculation, a French commercial firm here informs us that a correspondent of theirs in Havre is shipping back to them a consignment of flour which had been forwarded from here. The flour will sell at a higher price in this market, even with all the out and back charges added. Comment is unnecessary.

It is asserted that there will be a large falling off in the Malaga raisin crop, and that a syndicate has obtained control of three-fourths of the raisin product of California. Assuming this to be true, the San Francisco newspapers are urging the grape growers to convert all of the grape crop that yet remains ungathered into raisins. The demand for Muscats and Tokays, however, for table use in the East, has been so great that the best vineyards have already been stripped. Muscats are worth $30 a ton in San Francisco, and Tokays of a good quality bring $50 a ton.

Messrs. Wise and Riddleberger met at "the cannon's mouth" early on Saturday morning, near Richmond. Result, a terrible waste of powder—four rounds, and nobody hurt—a hand-shaking, and an "amicable adjustment." The "code" has been satisfied, however, and nobody should complain. Capt. Wise denounced Riddleberger as "a liar and a slanderer," and then took out his little pistol to prove it, while Riddleberger pulled his pistol to prove that he was neither. It is supposed that, according to the "code," both of these points were satisfactorily settled. Wise proved that Riddleberger was, and Riddleberger proved that he wasn't. That is about the way the thing stands now, according to the "code."

Contrary to the expectations generally entertained at the outset, the Senate continues in session. They are to take a recess to day, however, for the purpose of attending the Yorktown Centennial after which they will return to Washington.

There is no use disguising the fact that there is great danger of a corner in peanuts. Taking the most sanguine view of the matter possible, the disagreeable fact remains that there is going to be a deficiency of over 1,000,000 bushels of this nutritious and toothsome article of commerce. Just what effect this will have upon the boys and the rural circus-goers time alone can tell. At all events, there'll be a rise in peanuts.

The late Dean Stanley was not very acute either of taste or smell, so that all he ate was much the same to him if it was only tender. Thomas Hughes first met the Dean when a lad at a Rugby breakfast, where he and six others were plentifully regaled. Mr. Hughes gives many pleasant glimpses of Arthur Stanley, as he liked to be called, in the November Harper. A full-page portrait of the late Dean will adorn the same number.

An application has been made at the State department in Harrisburg, Pa., for a charter for the Pneumatic Railroad Company of Philadelphia, the object of which is the construction of an underground railway through the central sections of the city, to be operated on the pneumatic principle. The application states that $9,000 for every mile of the road (about five miles) has been subscribed, and that it is intended in good faith to construct and operate the road.

Bet a Confederate bond, says the Nashville American, that this bond business figures as a Republican spook in the next canvass. We do not know what the Confederate bonds are wanted for, or how many fools are still living, and it would be rather far-fetched to suspect the Republicans of preparing such an issue; but we stand by our proposition to bet an entire bond that the question appears and does duty in the next canvass as a ghost for the scaring of timid blockheads.

Ireland is still unhappy. She is shaken with agitation from centre to circumference. The Land League will not accept the land act and the agitation is continued. Numerous arrests have been made instead of allays the excitement. There are 5,000 troops in Dublin but there does not appear to be any danger of a popular outbreak. England might find it cheaper in the long run to let Ireland go, rather than hold on so tenaciously to an unwilling portion of her great empire. As it is, the problem of how best to keep it has been in agitation for hundreds of years and may continue to be a fruitful source of trouble for other hundreds of years yet to come.

Liquid or Dry. Some people prefer to purchase medicines in the dry state so that they can see for themselves that they are purely vegetable. Others have not the time or desire to prepare the medicine, and wish it all ready to use. To accommodate each class the proprietors of Kidney-Wort now offer that well known remedy in both Liquid and Dry forms. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Truth.

One of the Rev. T. L. Shipman's inexhaustible fund of anecdotes of ministerial life is about a brother preacher who used to invariably pray that "the gospel might be dispensed with throughout the world."

We have received a basket of fine grapes from our friend W, for which he will accept our compliments, some of which are nearly two inches in diameter.—Iona Editor.

"Riches have wings," says the maxim old. Have you noticed what they fly to? They generally fly to the best soil. To where more riches lie.—Wit and Wisdom.

Over in Marblehead the men turned out and stoned a dog because he barked at a team, and our correspondent says "the dog was not mad at all." If a Lynn dog had been stoned in that way he would have been hopping mad.—Lynn Bee.

A Down East editor said he was in a boat when the wind blew hard, but he was not at all alarmed, because he had his life insured; "he never had anything happen to him by which he could make any money."
