The Carolina Central.
There has been much talk, here and elsewhere, for some months past, relative to the Richmond & Danville R. R. purchasing or leasing the Carolina Central. The rumors have crept into print at other points, but have not been published here. The latest was in the Statesville Landmark, which reached us last Monday. We find the following in the Charlotte Observer, which is the very latest:
It has been rumored on the streets here for several days that negotiations were pending between the authorities of the Richmond and Danville syndicate, and the management of the Carolina Central Railroad, for the lease of the latter by the former, and all sorts of stories were current. It was known here that President Murchison, of the Carolina Central, was in New York with his attorney, and that he was prepared to listen to proposals. A private dispatch was received here yesterday to the effect that all negotiations had been broken off, and that, for the present, there would be no change in the management of the Carolina Central.
Some Corrections
Our attention has been called to the fact that, in the diary of the yellow fever here in 1862, as published in the Star, on Tuesday, there is a strange omission, no mention being made of Rev. Dr. Repton's ministrations here during the epidemic, while Father Murphy, Dr. Drane and Rev. Mr. Pritchard are all spoken of. The writer says, "Revs. Drane, Pritchard and Father Murphy are the only ministers of God here." In this he was mistaken. Dr. Repton was here during the entire epidemic and ministered nobly and faithfully to all who were in distress, relieving the sick, consoling the dying and burying the dead. He alone of the ministers who were here escaped unscathed and lived to see the health of the city once more restored and he alone, when Dr. Drane, Father Murphy and Mr. Pritchard were prostrated with the disease, remained to give a Christian burial to the dead. They were a noble quartette and well worthy the work in the vineyard. They all offered up freely their lives and but one was spared. They are all gone now but the influence of their bright example during the dark days of '62 should be cherished by us as a sacred legacy.
There is one other error made by the writer which we are moved to correct. He says that "every government office is closed and officers scattered, save the Commissary." On the contrary, the Quartermaster's offices were open every day during the prevalence of the fever. Maj. Jno. W. Cameron was then in charge with the late Capt. C. W. Styrone to assist him. The late Capt. I. B. Grainger was Chief Clerk and Capt. C. S. Ellis, now of Savannah, was Bookkeeper. Maj. Cameron would not allow his subordinates to remain in town over night, nor would he allow any duty to be neglected. The force of the department encamped on Wrightsville, where they passed the night, and where some of the book work was done, but every day two or more were in the city, spending from five to six hours in work at the office.

The receipts of cotton at this port to day foot up 1,191 bales.
Capt. Jim McGowan is in receipt, this afternoon, of a "cargo" of unusually fine New River oysters. See advertisement.
Nor. barque Normandy, McCarry, cleared at this port to day for Antwerp with 500 casks spirits and 3,300 bbls rosin, shipped by Messrs. Alex. Sprunt & Son.
A splendid breakfast on the table surrounded by a family of Coughs. They used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and that family now keeps it always on hand and recommends it. Price only 25 cents a bottle.
Mr. John Barnes, the same gentleman who showed us the big potato on Tuesday last, has a pig, five months old, of the Chester and Suffolk breed, which weighs 85 pounds. It was one of a litter of seventeen, and the mother weighs 850 lbs.
Fred Davis, a seaman, was before Justice Millis to-day charged with an assault and battery on the person of Charles Cummins. Judgment was suspended on the payment of costs.

A postal card with a pocket attached to enclose a stamp for a reply is the latest idea. The next great invention should be a postal card with a bay window annex, into which a man can crawl and travel anywhere in the country for one cent.
Chamber of Commerce.
The regular annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held to-day. The President, Mr. A. H. VanBokkelen, did not present a written report. He spoke at length on the river and harbor improvements and other matters of commercial interest.
The old officers were all reelected and the appointment of the committees was left to the President.
Mr. Henry Nutt, Chairman of the Committee on River and Harbor Improvements, submitted his resignation as such, which was reluctantly accepted by the Chamber.
On motion of Mr. B. G. Worth, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:
Resolved, That this Chamber desires to record its regret that Mr. Henry Nutt should consider it his duty to resign his position as Chairman of the Committee on River and Harbor Improvements, and reluctantly accept the same.
Resolved, That the Chamber takes advantage of this opportunity to acknowledge its appreciation of the valuable services rendered by Mr. Nutt in the responsible position which he has just vacated.
A copy of these resolutions was ordered transmitted to Mr. Nutt and on motion the meeting adjourned.

FROM AND AFTER WEDNESDAY, Nov. 3, 1881, the verbal repetition of orders given to Operators will be discontinued.
The Central Office Operator, instead of answering back through his transmitter, as heretofore, will in the future acknowledge the reception of your order and give notice that it has been executed by a single tap of the bell of the subscriber giving the order. Always hold your lever down until your bell taps in response to your order, and thus avoid having the operator ring in your ear. The Central Office Operator upon the ception of your order for disconnection, will give both bells one tap; this notifies both parties of the disconnection.

36 Market Street
TO SUBSCRIBERS WILMINGTON TELEPHONIC EXCHANGE.
FROM AND AFTER WEDNESDAY, Nov. 3, 1881, the verbal repetition of orders given to Operators will be discontinued.
The Central Office Operator, instead of answering back through his transmitter, as heretofore, will in the future acknowledge the reception of your order and give notice that it has been executed by a single tap of the bell of the subscriber giving the order. Always hold your lever down until your bell taps in response to your order, and thus avoid having the operator ring in your ear. The Central Office Operator upon the ception of your order for disconnection, will give both bells one tap; this notifies both parties of the disconnection.
J. C. WHITE,
nov 1 Manager.
