"JUST IMAGINE HOW I FELT."
 BRUNSWICK, Co., Va.,
 November 5th, 1881.
 MRS. JOE PERSON,
 Franklinton, N. C.

DEAR MADAM:—It is with pleasure I that write to tell you that your valuable Remedy has entirely cured me of my most fearful looking and painful sore on my ankle. It came more like a ring worm. I pointed it with Tinct. Iodine, until it became a very painful and bad looking place. Then I commenced to try everything I could think or hear of, until it became so very painful I could scarcely walk, when I went to the best doctor in the country for advice. He told me he could cure me if I would take my bed and there remain for four or five weeks, and if I did not do so pretty soon, it could not be cured at all, as the bone would become diseased, and my foot would have to be taken off. Just imagine how I felt, to be told there was no cure for the sore but to lose my foot, or give up all business—either of these Remedies would have ruined me. Mind you this was the advice of one of the best doctors in the State of North Carolina, and this conversation took place last February. I continued to burn with caustic, as he advised until September, but derived no benefit from his treatment. I was advised then by a friend to try your Remedy, (Bitters and Wash) took the first dose the 17th of September, and I am now a well man, the sore is perfectly cured, and I can now walk as far, dance as much and jump as high as any man you know. Put me back to the 1st of September, let me know as much as I now do of the virtue of your Remedy, and I would not hesitate to pay ten dollars a bottle for it, if I could not get it for less. I think more of it than any medicine in the world. It is not only the best Remedy to purify the blood and cure all skin diseases, but I believe it will cure all kinds of blood diseases, and I know it will cure a love for strong drink. I hope you will have this published, as there are many sufferers who could be cured, if they could know of and get your Remedy. I am truly and respectfully,
JOS. R. MASON,
 South Gaston, N. C.

Everything is neat and new and clean, and Mr. Schutte assures us that it will be kept so. There is a bar attached, but it is separate and distinct from the restaurant, and is not approached through this latter. Mr. Schutte has made arrangements for the entertainment of ladies as well as gentlemen.

Falls Creek (Mich.) Daily Journal.
 It shall always always have my highest recommendation, says our fellow townsman Mr. Theodore Wakelee, when spoken to concerning St. Jacobs Oil. I had been suffering with rheumatism, and obtained the greatest relief from the use of St. Jacobs Oil. It has also been used in my family for some time, and has never been found to fail in giving prompt relief.

Local Immigration.
 We understand that a meeting of the members of the Immigrants' Friend Society was held yesterday afternoon in this city at which measures were adopted looking to active proceedings on the part of the Society. These gentlemen have associated themselves together with no ideas of a speculation in view. They simply desire to encourage emigration to this section. This is the sole object with which the Society has been formed. The benefit to be derived will be general and from an increase of population and the settlement of the waste lands in this section. To start the Society in active work some funds will be necessary, as there are many preliminary expenses to be met, and with this object in view a committee from the Society will call on our citizens and solicit their aid. The gentlemen of this Society, as is well known, are from among the very best of our people.

The Water Works.

For several years many of our citizens have been discussing the project of water works, as each year our wells become more and more contaminated by the infiltration of impurities through our sandy soil, but all the projects seem to have died a natural death, until about a year ago Mr. J. A. Cloud, of the enterprising firm of Sanitary Engineers and Contractors of J. A. Cloud & Co., 18 Wall street, New York, took the matter in hand, and after considerable labor and time, finally formed a company of some of our most influential citizens, which made a contract with the city for the use of water for fire purposes. The work of getting together the large amount of material required was at once commenced, but the winter being so severe much time and delay was expected. The first vessel loaded with pipe lay frozen solid in the ice; another vessel load was sent to take its place, which arrived here March 27th, 1881.

PIPE LAYING.
 On April 13th Mr. Cloud arrived with two car loads of men, tools and stock, and next day commenced the work of laying the mains and planting the fire hydrants and valves, which work continued until seven miles of pipe were laid, when work was suspended by an order from the Board of Health.

The mains range in size from 4 to 12 inches and the valves are so arranged that each section of the plant can be shut off, street by street, on each side of Market street and still the balance of the town get water. The contractors have so arranged the piping system that there is no (what is called) dead ends—that is to say, no place where the water remains stagnant, their system being so arranged that the water is always in motion in the pipes. Their mains are now laid on Front, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth streets, Market, Church and Red Cross, and entirely down each of the other streets from Front to Water—and the Company have ordered some two miles more of pipe for extensions on Market, Sixth and Seventh streets and wherever else water may be required for private consumption or fire purposes. On all the streets running parallel with Market, the Water Company propose to run small wrought iron pipe of size sufficient to supply all demands so that when all of the extensions are made each street will be piped.

THE IMPROVEMENT AT MILTON—THE STANDARD PIPE

is a structure made of boiler iron resting on a brick and cement foundation 6 feet through, 30 feet square at base and battered to 25 feet at top on which the bottom curb of the tank rests. The first two sheets are 9-16 inch thick and each sheet thereafter decreases by 1.32 of an inch to the top; the iron in it weighs something over 80 tons and takes 32,000 rivets to hold it together. It has been painted with two coats of cement, water proof paint inside and out. The bottom is concave so as to admit of its being easily flushed or cleaned out when occasion requires.

THE GROUNDS, which embrace about two acres of the bluff at that old historical spot, Hilton have been enclosed by a neat and substantial picket fence, whitewashed, and the grounds neatly graded and terraced on its western face or slope, and a carriage drive with easy curves and grades leads down to the foot of the pumping station, from which a bulkhead has been built and filled in along the entire river front to the woods beyond, through which a road was cut leading out into the old Fairy road, near Parsley's mill, and as Fourth street is now sawdusted out to the water works, this makes one of the most pleasant drives in or around the city.

THE ENGINEER'S HOUSE is a little four-roomed cottage situated on the bluff near the driveway entrance to the grounds and looks so neat and cozy, surrounded by the old stately oaks of a century's growth, festooned with moss, that one almost envies the engineer that will occupy it.

THE PUMPING STATION is a substantial brick structure 59 feet long by 24 feet wide and 20 feet high tin roofed, with galvanized iron cornice and a handsome octagon ventilator on top and roof over the boiler room. The building is tastefully painted inside and out, and reflects much credit upon our fellow townsman, Capt. R. S. Radcliffe, who was the sub-contractor under the contractors, J. A. Cloud & Co. The boiler room has a substantial floor of the best Philadelphia brick. The engine room is separated from the boiler room by an 8 inch brick wall, with a door opposite each pump, so as to give easy access to the other room. The pumps, three in number, stand on separate foundations of solid masonry, the large or compound pump near the east door, and the high pressure pump opposite the west door, while the "Baby" stands near the dividing wall, between the doors leading to the boiler room, and for the many duties it has to perform is a marvel of mechanical skill. It can be made to fill one or both boilers, fill the suction mains, fill the pump chambers, wet down the ashes in the ash boxes, sprinkle the terrace and roadway, put out fires in or around the building, and many other duties too numerous to mention. The machinery was built by H. R. Worthington, of New York City, and is of the most improved pattern. The large engines are guaranteed to easily pump 1,500,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours. The boilers are made of the best C. C. iron; the sheets over the fire box are steel. The boilers are of the kind known as return tubular, sixteen feet long, one being forty-two inches in diameter and the other forty-two inches in diameter, set in substantial brick work, with a three inch air space between the inner walls of fire brick and the outer walls of hard brick. The stack is of heavy iron, 3 1/2 feet in diameter and 70 feet high, and the draft to it is regulated by dampers 2 1/2 feet square which take two 100 lb weights to balance them.

The works having been tested, as was reported in our issues of Thursday and Friday, and every thing being found satisfactory, water will be permanently turned on in a few days when our citizens will both no longer with the "lost bucket" in the well, a leaky pump valve that requires priming every time you want a drink of water, to say nothing of the impurities we imbibe with every mouthful of such water, whereas that furnished by the Water Company, being filtered and then settled and coming originally from the cedar swamps, away inland, cannot but be superior to any other, except it may be the filtered rain water in some of our cisterns; we say some of our cisterns, because there are but a very few that are constructed as they should be.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure

The Carolina Central. The Charlotte Home and Democrat says that it is understood that the purchasers of the Carolina Central will extend the road to Rutherfordton at an early day and also probably to Spartanburg. From what we have been able to learn here we think that our contemporary is misinformed, as we have distinctly understood that the road would not just now seek a Western connection. We think it more probable that they will make for Augusta. The Home and Democrat also felicitates itself as follows:
 The sale of the Carolina Central Railway gives Charlotte another through freight and passenger line to Baltimore, New York and Boston independent of Richmond & Danville combination.

Charlotte is greatly benefited by the sale and new arrangements, inasmuch as it gives her a competing freight line North.

It is difficult to understand where the "another through freight and passenger line," comes in. Charlotte has had this through connection for some time past, as we know that a close connection has been made at Hamlet and that sleepers have been run through from that city to Raleigh and return. As for "a competing freight line North" that is a delusion. The Seaboard route is a part of the Associated Railways System and there can therefore be no competition in freight for the benefit of the Charlotte merchants as long as this arrangement remains in force and we have no reason to believe that it is to be abandoned soon.

The Cape Fear.

The steamer Bladen is the only Fayetteville boat here to day. She left Fayetteville at 1 o'clock on Thursday. The water in the river had then fallen off about four inches, and was still falling, leaving about 27 inches on the shoals. The Bladen left here this afternoon on the return trip.

Severely Pounded.

Rev. E. A. Yates, D. D., pastor of the Front Street M. E. Church, was pounded by some of his friends last night. They called upon him en masse, and touched his table with good things, and left him a nice, new overcoat better off than he was before they came. Dr. Yates has a fine congregation of worshippers, and they are all outspoken in admiration and esteem for their pastor.

Seven interments in Pine Forest Cemetery this week, five adults and two children.
