"JUST IMAGINE HOW I FELT."

BRUNSWICK, CO., VA.,
November 5th, 1881.

Mrs. JOE PEBSON,

Franklin, N. C.

DEAR MADAM:—It is with pleasure that I write to tell you that your valuable Remedy has entirely cured me of a most fearful looking and painful sore on my ankle. It came more than twelve months ago, very much like a ring worm. I painted it with Tinct. Iodine, until it became a very painful and bad looking place. Then I commenced to try everything I could think or hear of, until it became so very painful I could scarcely walk, when I went to the best doctor in the country for advice. He told me he could cure me if I would take my bed and there remain for four or five weeks, and if I did not do so pretty soon, it could not be cured at all, as the bone would become diseased, and my foot would have to be taken off. Just imagine how I felt, to be told there was no cure for the sore but to lose my foot, or give up all business—either of these Remedies would have ruined me. Mind you this was the advice of one of the best doctors in the State of North Carolina and this conversation took place last February. I continued to burn with caustic, as he advised until September, but derived no benefit from his treatment. I was advised then by a friend to try your Remedy, (Bitters and Wash) took the first dose the 17th of September, and I am now a well man, the sore is perfectly cured, and I can now walk as far, dance as much and jump as high as any man you know. Put me back to the 1st of September, let me know as much as I now do of the virtue of your Remedy, and I would not hesitate to pay ten dollars a bottle for it, if I could not get it for less. I think more of it than any medicine in the world. It is not only the best Remedy to purify the blood and cure all kinds of blood diseases, and I know it will cure a love for strong drink. I hope you will have this published, as there are many sufferers who could be cured, if they could know of and get your Remedy I am truly and respectfully,
JOS. R. MASON,
South Gaston, N. C.

The ladies who sometime since were unable to go out, having taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, are quite recovered, and have gone on their way rejoicing.

At the earnest solicitation of numerous citizens, Bishop Keane will lecture this evening in St. Thomas' Church, on "The Bible, the New Revision and the Catholic Church." The public are invited to attend and the seats are all free.

Death of Mr. Eyden.

We are sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Rudolph F. Eyden, which occurred suddenly in this city last evening. Mr. Eyden was stricken with apoplexy at about 6 o'clock and died at 12, without having had one ray of consciousness during that interval. He was a native of Hanover, in Germany, and came to this city about the year 1858, having been about 46 or 48 years of age at the time of his death. He was a large hearted, generous man, and his untimely death will be mourned the most by those who knew him best.

Confederate Picket Fare.

Picket duty at Fredericksburg, Va., during the harsh winter of 1862-'63, was very severe and trying. Fires, except such as proceeded from small arms or caissons and which were hardly agreeable, were of course forbidden; sharp shooting was frequent along the line, and the rations served out did not make up an attractive bill of fare. A private of the 54th North Carolina, returning from a tour of duty, complained bitterly of the commissariat to his Colonel, saying that he had had nothing to eat.
"How is that?" said Col. M. "Your rations were sent to you every night."
"Yes, Colonel," replied the man, "but you know, we didn't have no fire, and all we got to eat was raw beef and hit not cooked."

The Rainfall.

Mr. Daniel McDuffie, who lives near Point Caswell, in Pender county, furnishes us with the amount of rainfall at his place for each month during the years 1880 and 1881. The amount was kept by him personally with an instrument which he keeps especially for the purpose, and without being as positively accurate as the instruments prepared by the government for such purposes, may be taken as very nearly correct. The figures are interesting as showing how nearly equal the rainfall was distributed during the two years. In 1880 it amounted to 41½ inches, and in 1881 it amounted to 41½ inches; a difference of ½ inch in the two years. The least rain during any one month was in May, 1880, when there was but ½ inch. In October, 1881, there was but ¾ of an inch. The largest amount reported is in August, 1881, when 7 inches fell. The next largest was in July and September, 1881, when 6½ inches fell each month.

Early in the season.

On this 17th day of January, the new grass is springing up in favorable localities in the Eastern section of the city, and in the yards daffodils and jonquils are putting forth their new leaves and buds, and in one instance, at least, there is a jonquil in bloom. This is something very remarkable for the time of year; but if the present warm weather continues for a few days longer, it will not be surprising if the earlier blossoms are in bloom quite generally, especially in sunny localities.

No man knows what a ministering angel his wife is until he comes home one day, suffering with a dreadful cold and she happens to have a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the house.

More Water.

From a gentleman doing business at Lisbon, Sampson county, on the head waters of Black river, we learn that there has not been a freshet in that stream or its upper tributaries, the Six Runs, and other branches, since last April of sufficient volume to enable the people to raft their timber, turpentine and other products of that section. This is a very unusual occurrence and one which gives great inconvenience to many who, living remote from railroad facilities, are compelled to await the "moving of the waters," in order to reach our market. Could plenty of water be had at all seasons of the year, thousands of tons of timber and naval stores would reach our city from that productive section of Sampson county, while it is now only shipped in small quantities by flat loads.

Death of Dr. C. T. Murphy.

It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Dr. C. T. Murphy, one of the most prominent citizens of Sampson county. He died at his residence in Clinton, on Sunday night, the 16th inst., aged about 60 years, his death having resulted from cancer of the face, from which he had long been a sufferer.

Dr. Murphy was one of the representative men of this section and had more than once represented his county in the Legislature. He was at one time prominently mentioned for the representation in Congress for this district. He was a gentleman of excellent attainments, of a large charity, and in every position of life he fulfilled his duties with a fidelity and conscientiousness, which in these latter days is as rare as it is admirable.

Freshwater Perch, Trout and Black fish Hooks and Lines. A full assortment and lowest prices at JACOBI'S.

The New Horse Disease.

A few isolated cases of pinkeye, the new horse disease, are said to have appeared in this city. This disease assumes its worst form only in damp and murky weather, so that for the benefit of horse owners, the continuance of a cool, dry spell is very desirable. Some of the primary symptoms of the disease are those of fever, rigors, dullness, succeeded by a swelling of the eyelids discharged of tears from the eyes, pain in the limbs and tumefaction, more particularly around the articulations. The pain in limbs is manifested by restlessness, shifting of the feet and irritability; the succeeding swellings are superficial, involving the subcutaneous areolar tissue; and their occurrences give relief to the pain. At first they are limited, but soon extend upward and downward, embracing the greater extent of the limb or limbs affected. The pulse is hard in this disease and the impulse strong; the temperature of the body is increased to 103 or 104 degrees, and when blood is withdrawn it coagulates firmly and manifests the presence of an increased quantity of fibrin. The color of the conjunctiva is altered to a pink, hence the term pinkeye.

The Sick.

We are sorry to learn that there was no improvement manifested to-day in Judge French's condition.

Capt D. R. Murchison, who has been quite sick at his residence in this city for a week past, is, we are glad to learn, much better to-day.

Swedish barque Eulalia, Bergstrom, cleared at this port to-day for Liverpool with 600 casks spirits and 3,780 barrels rosin shipped by Messrs Alex. Sprunt & Son.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 749 bales.

Last Night's Reception.

The large school room on Fifth, between Ann and Orange streets, was brilliantly lighted last evening for the purpose of giving a public reception to the newly installed Bishop Northrop, and give him an introduction to the people among whom he is called to labor, and a large throng was in attendance to become personally acquainted with him and to bid him welcome. Bishop Northrop, accompanied by Most Rev. Archbishop Gibbons, Right Rev. Bishop Keane, Very Rev. M. S. Gross and other clergymen who had taken part in the installation services, arrived at about 8 o'clock, and after all were seated, Col. B. R. Moore, who had been selected by the congregation to deliver the address of welcome, arose and addressed Bishop Northrop and in a speech teeming with earnestness, beauty and eloquence bade him a heartfelt welcome to Wilmington. The speech was conceived in the happiest vein and was a fitting, appropriate and finished effort, giving the Bishop a bird's eye view of the people with whom he is to live and work. It was heartily and deservedly applauded by the audience.

Bishop Northrop responded in an appropriate and felicitous manner to the address of welcome, and at the same time in a friendly, homelike charge to the people. He was listened to with profound attention, and it was plainly manifest that he had at once won the affections of the congregation.

Archbishop Gibbons and Bishop Keane, being called upon respectively, made short, but well-timed and well-conceived addresses, after which the people flocked about their new Bishop and informal greetings took place between them. After a pleasant and profitable interchange of sentiment the meeting closed, a fitting finale to an event long to be remembered by the Catholics of North Carolina.

The Grand Lodge of the order of Knights of Pythias for North Carolina will meet in Goldsboro on the 14th of February next.

Washington, (Ind.) Gazette.
Artemus Ward and the "Michigan Regiment."

In a Louisville, Ky., hotel one day, Artemus Ward was introduced to a colonel who had commanded a Mississippi Regiment in the war. Artemus in his way "that was childlike and bland," said: "What Michigan Regiment did you command, Colonel?" Then it was that the "Colonel" spun like a top and swore like a sailor until pacified sufficiently to hear an explanation. Artemus with surprise observed, that he "was always getting things mixed about the war." It is always unfortunate to get things mixed, but never more so, than when one is sick. Then it is that the right thing in the right place is wanted more than at any other time in life, or under any other circumstances. It is a pleasure for us to note in this connection, the experience of our esteemed fellow citizen, Col. Samuel H. Taylor, who as is well known does not get things mixed. In a recent communication he writes: "I do hereby certify that I suffered very much from Rheumatism and Neuralgia during the Fall of 1879, and tried many remedies with little if any good results. I heard of St. Jacobs Oil, and concluded to try it; more as an experiment than with any hope of good results. I can with great pleasure commend it to others, for the reason that I know it cured me." Col. Taylor, by the way, was at one time Postmaster at Cumberland, Maryland.
