Nothing doing in Magisterial circles to-day.
The receipts of cotton at this port today foot up 495 bales.
Steamboat men continue to report good boating water in the river, whereof they are glad.
The meanest woman on record is the one who boiled codfish in a fire-proof safe to keep her neighbors from getting a smell.
Crude turpentine, during the last three days, has been higher than it has been known at any time within the past ten years.
Crushed carrots and frightened mouse are the newest shades. The young lady who discovered the latter tint mixed her color while standing in the highest chair in the room.
One boy is a boy; two boys are half a boy and three boys are no boy at all.—[Ben. Franklin] It is different with girls, Benjamin. One girl is a girl; two girls are more than a girl, and three girls are an entire circus.
Two white tramps (the streets are full of them) applied at the guard house for lodgings, and were taken in and locked up. This morning they were brought before the Mayor, who upon their promise to leave the city forthwith, allowed them to go, and they went.
We have heard both Democrats and Republicans say that there is nothing better for a Cough than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup; this old reliable remedy never fails to cure a Cough or Cold at once, and may be obtained at any drug store for 25 cents a bottle.
Talk about mean men, and we'll tell you that the meanest, stingiest man we ever heard of lived "Down East." He was so mean and stingy that he carried an old bung hole to a cooper to have a cask put around it. He said, "It was a good bung hole and he didn't want to have it wasted." Next!
A Chance for Investment.
As may be seen by reference to our advertising columns, the bar, fixtures, wines and liquors of the late R. F. EYDEN will be sold at auction to-morrow, the 27th inst. The property will also be rented for the year commencing February 1st, 1882, and is a very desirable stand, being near the business centre of the city.
This is to certify, that after suffering the most excruciating pain for two years from chronic rheumatism, and using immense quantities of liniments, oils and physicians' recipes, St. Jacobs Oil was recommended to me by a friend. I used it for a few weeks and have not suffered with rheumatism from that time until the present—nearly six months. I now consider myself entirely cured, thanks to St. Jacobs Oil.

The Collector.

There is another Richmond in the field. It is said that Bishop Hood, of the A. M. E. Church in this State, would like to be Collector of Customs at this port. He is tired of preaching and thinks that he could do better at something else. The race then will be between Capt. Pennypacker, Bishop Hood and Mr. Canada. We are betting on Pennypacker.

The First Shad.

We referred yesterday very briefly to the fact of the arrival of the first pair of shad of the season, and their purchase by Mr. F. A. Schutte, for his cafe on Front street. It is a remarkable fact that shad were in the market a month earlier last season than they were this year, although not in large quantities. Mr. Schutte, as a caterer who is bound to give his patrons all the luxuries of the earliest markets, has been on the lookout for a month past for that first pair of shad of the season, which he succeeded yesterday in capturing with a silver hook.

Fresh, the American.

For the first time in this city, says the Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun, Gunter's farcical play of "Fresh, the American," was presented last night to a house filled almost to its capacity, and Mr. John T. Raymond's performance was most heartily approved. There is no literary merit of any consequence in the play, but it proves an excellent vehicle for Mr. Raymond to portray an exaggerated type of the keen-eyed, shrewd, wide-awake, generous American, who, when he says he can do anything, can do it. Thus it was that he appeared last evening and scored a "hit," if we are to judge by the continual flow of laughter and applause during the entire performance. The play possesses the advantage of bringing Mr. Raymond frequently on the stage, and he is always received with manifestations of pleasant delight by the audience.

Hot Water for Plants.

It has long been known that the roots of plants encased in earth would stand water so hot as to be quite uncomfortable to the hand. M. Wilmemoz, in the Journal of the Society of Practical Horticulture, of the Rhone, France, relates that plants in pots may be treated with hot water when out of health, the usual remedy for which has been repotting. He says when ill health ensues from acid substances contained or generated in the soil, and this is absorbed by the roots, it acts as a poison. The small roots are withered and cease their action, consequently the upper and younger shoots of the plant turn yellow, and the spots with which the leaves are covered indicate their morbid state. In such cases the usual remedy is to transplant into fresh soil, clean the pots carefully, secure good drainage, and often with the best results. But the experience of several years has proved, with him, the unfailing efficacy of the simpler treatment which consists in watering abundantly with hot water at a temperature of about 145 degrees F., having previously stirred the soil of the pots so far as might be done without injury to the roots. Water is then given until it runs freely from the pots. In his experiments the water first came out clean, afterward it was sensibly tinged with brown, and gave an appreciable acid reaction. After this thorough washing, the pots were kept warm. Next day the leaves of ficus elastica so treated ceased to droop, the spread of black spots on their leaves was arrested, and three days afterward, instead of dying, the plants had recovered their normal look of health. Very soon they made new roots, immediately followed by vigorous growth.

Across the Continent.

The bill posters are adorning the boards with the show bills of Oliver Doud Byron's company, who are to appear here on February 2nd, in "Across the Continent." We have heard the company and the play highly praised, and we hope they may have a full house, and that the performance may not be cut, as plays sometimes are.

Sunday School Association.

Mr. Jas. T. Lineback, chairman of the executive committee of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association, has just issued the following, which is of interest to the Sunday school organizations throughout the State: "The executive committee of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association having received official notice that Mr. B. F. Jacobs, chairman of the International Sunday School executive committee, and Mr. E. Payson Porter, statistical secretary, with perhaps others of their committee, will visit North Carolina on the 24th and 26th of February, 1882, at some convenient centre, to meet the Sunday school workers of the State, desire hereby to give notice that on the days mentioned there will be held in Raleigh N. C., a special meeting of the North Carolina State Sunday School Association. Not only are organized counties earnestly requested to attend, but every county in the State may and should have some representatives; indeed, any earnest Sunday school worker will be made welcome, and will be recognized as a member of the convention. A local committee has been appointed in Raleigh which will make all necessary arrangements for holding the convention. From this committee other announcements may be expected.

Sentiments of a Democrat.

MR. EDITOR:—We read in the REVIEW, with some degree of surprise, not to say regret, the announcement that our honored "soldier friend," Maj. C. M. Stedman, had resolved not to be a candidate for Congressional honors in this district. We regret it because he is no politician, and in allowing his name to go before the last Congressional Convention he but yielded to the wish of a large majority of the industrial classes, of whom he is one, and with whom he is in full sympathy. We regret it because it was abundantly demonstrated in the primary meetings, and conventions of the several counties of this Congressional district, as well as at Fayetteville, that he was the choice of a large majority of the Democratic voters, and that his nomination was defeated by such a combination of the manipulators as has too often defeated the will of the people, and which is nigh unto destroying the Democratic party of our District and State. After his defeat, at Fayetteville, with his characteristic zeal, he came promptly forward to the support of the nominee, devoting his valuable time, abundant means and fruitful talents in a manner which could but challenge the admiration of such of his opponents as could appreciate the chivalry of one with whom they differed. The determination of Maj. Stedman not to be a candidate is unfortunate, for he is now, as at Fayetteville, the choice of a large majority of our people. We hope, however, that sound policy, guided by principle, may take the spirit of crination and re-creation so common with our party in the past, and that the strongest and best man may be brought forward in the next campaign. DEMOCRAT.
