HER CASE WAS AN INTERESTING STUDY.
LITTLETON, N. C., Nov. 10, 1881.

Mrs. J. P. PEBSON.
Dear Madam:—I commenced last January to use your Bitters and Wash on our little daughter Annie, aged twelve years, for Scrofula, with a tendency to White Swelling, the physician said. At the time I commenced using your Remedy she was very much reduced in flesh, complexion sallow, appetite poor, limbs very much swollen, bones enlarged, with two frightful sores on her left leg near the ankle. After using the Remedy a week or two I could see a change, as I then thought, for the worse. The sores discharged copiously a yellow corruption, sometimes running in a stream to the floor in spite of the linens. But feeling encouraged by your letters I persevered and after using the Remedy a while longer her strength was greatly improved, her appetite good and complexion much improved. These symptoms encouraged me, but the flow of corruption continued for several months, and not until her general health was greatly improved did the sores begin to heal. First the swelling began to decrease below the knee, and continued gradually downward, and when it nearly reached the sores they began to heal. In the meantime the leg from the ankle half way to the knee became covered with running pimples, in fact the leg had become almost a solid sore. After this the sores healed rapidly. The worst one, on the inside of the leg, the other to the size of a five cent piece, and it has remained in that condition ever since, which has been several months ago. For a month or more it has not discharged at all, and looks sometimes now as if it was entirely well. As a Blood Purifier and Tonic I think it superior to anything I ever tried. If you could have seen my daughter when she commenced using your Remedy, and now, you would hardly believe her to be the same child. Last January nearly every one thought she would die. Then she was a living skeleton, now she is fat and rosy. Her case was an interesting study from the time she commenced your Remedy. I can most heartily and cheerfully recommend it to be what you claim for it. Wishing you every success with your undertaking, and with many thanks for the benefits we have received from your medicine, I am, very respectfully,
MRS. R. J. ALLEN.

March came in like a lion and must therefore go out as a lamb. We refer in the lionine part of this remark to the terrible blow of the early A. M. The day itself has been bright, balmy and pleasant.

A new agony is for young ladies to buy a thirty-six cent tambourine, paint a snowflake in one corner of it and a pond lily in another, and hang it upon the wall as a decoration. This signifies: "Art and music have joined hands; let 'em jingle."

Mr. J. W. Floyd, of Lumberton, a young lawyer of that town, has taken charge of the local columns of the Robesonian. We welcome him to the fold and trust that he may succeed abundantly in his efforts to cater to the new taste of the Robesonian's readers.

B. Abbott, of Newbern, Secretary. This is the second benefit paid in this State by this order and in each instance it was on the life of a resident of this city.

The Gale.

The gale which commenced at about 9 o'clock last night, and which continued through the night, accompanied by showers of rain, reached its maximum velocity at 7.15 o'clock this forenoon, when it blew from the Southwest at the rate of 34 miles per hour, and continued at that speed until 7.30 a. m. The showers of the night turned into a severe rain this morning, accompanied by peals of thunder and flashes of lightning. The amount of rainfall during the 24 hours was .41 of an inch. The gale blew with a velocity of 35 miles per hour for a short time at Smithville this morning although there is no damage reported from that immediate locality. It, however, took the telegraph line with it in its course along the coast, and there is now no communication with the stations at Fort Macon or Sloop Point.

Good Words for Us.

Some one who signs himself "C." has written a communication to the Hickory Press, relative to our city and our people, which is such pleasant reading matter that we make no excuse for reproducing it here. There are some few errors, it is true, rather underestimating than otherwise our resources, which will suggest themselves to the intelligent reader at a glance. We give the letter in its entirety:

Years ago I met a friend in Richmond, who expressed a desire to visit our section of North Carolina, but had been obliged to abandon the pleasure, because his only leisure was the latter part of the summer, when it was too sickly in N. C. to venture a trip there. His whole knowledge of our State was obtained in passing over the Wilmington & Weldon R. R. We of the West know almost nothing of the East. I am free to confess that I know almost nothing of the city of Wilmington, with its population of 20,000, its cotton compresses, where some six hundred bales are compressed into perhaps one-fourth the ordinary size in a day, its cotton mill, running over 5,000 spindles and 136 looms, making up the finer grades of goods, or print cloths, the power employed in the cotton factory being a large Corliss engine. Then they have a large rice mill, flouring mills, pearl hominy and grits mill, some six or seven saw mills, only one of which I have visited. It has all the modern improvements and is the most perfectly arranged of any mill I have seen. One or more tobacco factories, and four or five door, sash and blind factories. The trade, too, with our own and foreign ports is very large in cotton (one house shipping this season more than 20,000 bales to foreign ports) very large in rosin, spirits of turpentine and tar. If you would pass along their wharves and see the tens of thousands of barrels you would not think it strange that we should be called the "Tar Heel State."

The different religious denominations are very well represented, if the numerous large and handsome church buildings are an index, the Baptist, Methodist, Episcopal and Presbyterian each with two or three churches, others with one or more.
A heavy trade is done here in bacon and corn, larger I suppose than at any other place in the State. Two steam ships arrive and depart each week, besides the shipping to foreign ports and coastwise. Of the citizens of Wilmington I must say I never in my life have met a more cordial, kind and hospitable people. Can anything be done to get the East and West better acquainted?

The Two Chambers.

A joint meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Produce Exchange was held at the Exchange at 11 o'clock this forenoon to receive the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The meeting having been called to order, with Mr. VanBokkelen in the chair, and Mr. C. H. Robinson acting as Secretary, the Committee, through Mr. Wm. Calder, submitted the following, which were adopted:

Your committee appointed to prepare a memorial and resolutions appropriate to the death of our late fellow member, D. R. Murchison, Esq., respectfully submit the following:
Seldom is a community called upon to mourn the sudden loss of one more prominently and actively associated with its widest material interests, more important to their development, or more capable of conducting with success operations tending to advance its commercial importance, develop its resources, and enlarge its influence.

In such relations did David R. Murchison stand to the City of Wilmington, and as such his death is a public calamity, nearly touching every citizen, and justifying unusual expressions of regret at his untimely removal.

We leave to others the recital of his private virtues and recall only that he was a valuable and generous citizen, the originator and director of many enterprises, and a merchant in the widest sense of the word. Honorable and prompt, he possessed judgment, forecast and nerve in an unusual degree, which, combined with great steadfastness of purpose and unflinching industry enabled him to conduct to a successful termination transactions largely conducive to the prosperity and prominence of our port.

As first President of our Produce Exchange he did much to formulate and establish those rules of trade under which the business of our markets have for years been smoothly and amicably transacted.
He was a man of affairs, a dealer with events, a promoter of industries. In the prime of life, at the zenith of his career, and in the full flush of success, to all outward appearance he had reached the goal of his ambition, and might reasonably have looked forward to many years of earthly usefulness and prosperity. But alas! the energy that had achieved success had all so exhausted the body, and we may well say he has fallen a martyr to those business obligations which, once assumed and faithfully fulfilled, are so inexorable to the conscientious merchant.

While bowing in submission to the Will that permits such inscrutable dispensations, it is Resolved, That in the untimely death of David R. Murchison our city and State lose a most useful and valued citizen, whose body a prominent and honored member, and our commercial community one whose place it will be well nigh impossible to fill.

Resolved, 2d, That the Chairman of this meeting shall appoint a committee of members to meet the remains and escort them to their temporary resting place; that during the hours of the last obsequies these rooms be closed and business suspended; and that the members of our respective Chambers attend the funeral in a body.

Resolved, further, That our heartfelt sympathies are with the sorrowing friends of the deceased, to whom a copy of these resolutions, suitably engrossed, shall be forwarded by the Secretary; and that a blank page on the record book of each body be inscribed with his name and the date of his birth and death.

A motion made by Mr. J. H. Currie, and amended by Col. Roger Moore, was to the effect that the members of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Produce Exchange meet at the Exchange to-morrow, at 2 o'clock, and attend the funeral in a body, and that the merchants of Wilmington generally are invited to join with them.
The meeting then adjourned.

Some heathen, as we think; read a Mahometan proverb, "God has bestowed the good things of this world to relieve our necessities, not to reward our virtues; these will be rewarded in another world." We know of no greater necessity to be relieved than a stubborn cold, and we know of no better relief than Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Ember Days.

Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of this week are Ember days. Flesh meat is prohibited on those days in the Catholic Church, an observance which is also in vogue among many Episcopalians. The name is derived by some from a German word signifying "abstinence," though others derive it from a Saxon word meaning "a circuit." Ember days occur four times a year, namely, in the week after the first Sunday in Lent, after Whit Sunday, after the 14th of September, and after the 13th of December.

The receipts of cotton at this port to-day foot up 90 bales.

Good split-oak wood was retailing from flats to day at 75 cents per load.

A card from Dr. Satchwell will be found on the fourth page of this issue.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. J. W. Strauss is very ill at his residence in this city, on Second, between Hanover and Brunswick streets, and that fears are entertained for him by his family and friends.

The News and Observer notes the presence in that city, in attendance on the Supreme Court, of Messrs Martin, Ricard and Latimer, of this city.

The King.

The receipts of cotton at this port for the month of February, just closed, foot up 8,690 bales, as against 7,098 bales in 1881, an increase of 1,592 bales. The total receipts to date foot up 125,511 bales, against 108,680 bales to March 1st, 1881, an increase this year of 16,831 bales.

Mr Wallace is Better.

We are happy to learn that the condition of Mr. S. D. Wallace, Cashier of the Bank of New Hanover, who has been quite sick for a number of days past, has materially improved, and that he is much better to-day than he has been at any time during his sickness. His physician now thinks that under ordinarily favorable circumstances Mr. Wallace will be able to be out in a few days.
