Announcement.

On or about the 20th inst., the DAILY REVIEW will be published in the morning, instead of the afternoon, as heretofore.

This course has been taken at the earnest solicitation of many friends, and in the belief that success is attainable. Full telegraphic reports of the news and of the markets, as furnished by the Associated Press, will be published in each issue, the Editorial department will be in careful and experienced hands, and especial care will be taken in preparing home markets as well as those received by telegraph. The local columns will receive the most careful attention and it will be the constant endeavor of the Publisher and the Editors to make every department of the paper as perfect as the means at their disposal will admit.

The name of the paper will in no way be changed, but it will appear in an entirely new dress throughout, the material having already been ordered. It has been thought best to reduce the price to $4 a year, $1 for three months, or 35 cents for one month, payment strictly at the end of each month. These very low rates will place the paper within the reach of every one.

Mr. Walker Meares will assume charge of the city subscription lists; and will, within the next few days, beginning with Monday next, call upon all of our citizens who are not now subscribers to the DAILY REVIEW.

THE WILMINGTON JOURNAL.

The changes spoken of above, which are to go into effect on or about the 16th inst., will also affect the WILMINGTON JOURNAL, which will thereafter be reduced in price from $2 to $1 per annum, with a slight reduction in size, but with a decided improvement in other respects. These new terms will be strictly cash. If payment is delayed six months $1.50 a year will be charged and if not paid before the end of the year $2 will be charged.

Personal.

Rev. Thos. W. Brown, formerly of this city, but for a number of years past a resident of New York, is expected to arrive to-night on a short visit to his relatives in this city. Rev. Mr. Brown is a son of the late Thos. W. Brown, and has but recently been ordained as a deacon in the Episcopal Church.

A remedy resting on the basis of intrinsic worth demands the confidence of all. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is known and used most satisfactorily throughout the land, as is attested by its great sales. Your druggist keeps it.

More Moonshiners.

From all we can learn there is a regular organized band of burglars in this city which bids fair to out-do the moonshiners in their palmy days. The gang has been at work for the past two weeks on the outskirts of the city and have stolen a very large number of chickens, etc. Mr. Taylor, at the National Cemetery, has been visited two or three times by these midnight marauders and has not only lost all his fancy breed chickens but the last one of a lot of common chickens which he bought to somewhat supply the places of the first which were stolen from him. Other persons in his neighborhood have suffered in a like manner.

Spiritualists and scientists confounded by Miss Mary Heller, the wonderful second sight lady.

Willis' Constellation of Novelties.

The entertainment given by Col. T. E. Willis, in the Tienken building, on Front street, is well worth the price of admission. In fact, we do not well understand how so much show can be given for so little money. The first object to attract your attention is the lady glass blower. She handles the brittle substances with which she works dexterously and converts it into all shapes, making many pretty little articles. The fat boy is a wonder. Miss Heller, as second sight medium, is unsurpassed by any one in her profession that we have ever seen. Edison's talking phonograph never fails to delight and astonish an audience. Sig. Femini, with his troupe of trained house rats and mice gives a very pleasing little show. His white rats and mice are quite a curiosity.

"Rough on Rats."

Cleaves out rats, mice, roaches, flies, ants, bed-bugs, skunks, chipmunks, gophers. 15c. Druggists.

Burglary.

The residence of G. P. Rourke, on Brunswick, between Sixth and Seventh streets, was burglariously entered last night and robbed. The thief effected an entrance by prying up a window on the first floor of the house. From the pantry all of the household supplies were stolen, and the thief then turned his attention to the chambers of the house, and took from them all the clothing that he could find. Luckily for Rourke, the thief failed to find an old suit which had been cast aside and was all that they left him as a little memento of their visit.

Criminal Court.

The following cases were disposed of to-day:
State vs. Calvin Blount, A and B. Not guilty. Plea of former conviction sustained.
State vs. Buford Reed. Larceny. Continued.
State vs. Richard Gause. Assault. Continued.
State vs. Hilley Williams. Larceny. Guilty.
State vs. Bell & Fisher. Disorderly House. Guilty.
State vs. Tuckner Townsend. Larceny. Defendant discharged on account of his youth and previous confinement in jail.

The Court will wind up its duties for the present term on Monday. The Grand Jury were discharged on Thursday.

Alvin Joslin.

The sale of reserved seats for Mr. Chas. L. Davis's rendition of the character of Alvin Joslin at the Opera House on Monday evening commenced yesterday morning. The diagram is pretty well marked up. We think that those who have bought seats will have no cause to regret their action. Hear what the Free Press says about Mr. Davis:

The audience which greeted the second appearance in this city of the Charles L. Davis (Alvin Joslin) Combination, on Saturday evening, was one of the largest ever assembled in the opera house. Before the commencement of the performance every available position in the hall was occupied, and the scores who came late were unable to obtain admittance. The play is of an extremely ludicrous character, and judging from the continued buzz of merriment, was fully appreciated by those present. Mr. Davis, as the Yankee farmer abroad, was, of course, the centre of attraction, his droll sayings and general "make-up" the being of a most amusing character. The other members of the company sustained their parts well. Some of the scenery was entirely new—that of pier 20, East River, with the moon and stars above reflecting in the water, and New York City illuminated, in the distance, being very life-like.

The Kentucky fat baby 3½ years of age, weight 165 pounds, arrived and will exhibit to-night at the Tienken Building.

The Library.

Editor REVIEW:—Believing that your correspondent M., is desirous only of promoting the success and prosperity of the Wilmington Library Association, I will make a few remarks in reply to his communication, which may be useful to others taking an interest in the Library as well as to your correspondent.

The welfare and best interests of the young men of this city are undoubtedly objects of the highest aim and the deepest concern to the officers of this institution. Show the Directors of the Association in what manner these ends can be promoted, and they are with you.

With regard to improvements in the Library Hall, &c., &c., the Directors have in view securing premises of several apartments, one of which will be set apart for smokers, so that ladies and readers may not have any cause of complaint. It will be some months before this change can be effected. Meantime it is very desirable that at least two of the young members of the Literary Club—who also are members of the Library Association—be elected and added to the Directory, should the Directors at their first meeting so resolve.

Therefore let the young men understand that the present officers of the Institution have no desire to monopolize its government but would, on the contrary, welcome to that position younger men who could assume duties and carry out improvements that would commend themselves to the general Board of Directors.

In the meantime, and previous to the next meeting of the Board, let the subject occupy the attention of all interested in the Library and by all means let us do our endeavor to prevent the interest now fairly aroused from going to sleep again.

A Monster Catfish.

Mr. Wm. Wiggins caught a monster catfish on Thursday, opposite the city and in front of the guano warehouse, which is the largest we have ever heard of hereabouts. It weighed, Mr. Wiggins says, 42 pounds and measured 7 inches between the eyes. He sold it to some one on the steamer North State, who took it up the river.

Beautify your homes by using the N. Y. Enamel Paint, ready mixed and warranted. Sold only at JACOBI'S.

Easter.

The Lenten fasts closes to night and to-morrow will be Easter Day to be observed in commemoration of the Resurrection. As near as the calculation can be made with any certainty yesterday was really the anniversary of the Saviour's death and to-morrow will be that of His resurrection. The habiliments of sorrow and of fasting are now to be laid aside and the joy of the Resurrection will be shown in the glad vestures with which the Churches will be adorned, Easter flowers will be in profusion this year.

Sixteenth Annual Sociable.

The sixteenth annual sociable of the Hibernian Benevolent Association will be given at Germania Hall on Monday, the 10th inst. There will be music and dancing. Our good friends who know so well how to tempt the appetite, have not forgotten to make an abundant supply of nice delicacies for the well-being of the inner man. Those of our citizens who have heretofore attended one of the sociables need no word of encouragement from us to go again, but to those who have never had the pleasure of attending a Hibernian sociable, we would say, go, for you will enjoy it.

Thanks to Col. A. Pope, General Freight and Passenger Agent of the Associated Railways, for passes over his roads on the route to Elizabeth City, on the occasion of the meeting of the Press Association on the 26th inst.
