LOCAL NEWS.

Masonboro Turnpike.
The friends of the Masonboro Turnpike met in the Bank of New Hanover last evening, and discussed the matter of completing the road. No definite action was taken, and the meeting adjourned until Friday evening, to meet at the same place and hour.

Accidentally Shot.
On yesterday a man named Vincent, who was a passenger on the steamer Ware, was accidentally shot in the arm by a companion who was examining a pistol. Mr. Vincent received a slight flesh wound in the arm. The wound was dressed upon his arrival in this city.

Handsome.
Mr. John Maunder has just completed at his marble yard one of the handsomest monuments we have ever seen. The design is new and very pretty. Wilmington should feel proud of the enterprises of the city. Mr. Maunder's work cannot be surpassed anywhere in the country. The handsome new monument is to be shipped to Onslow county.

"Betty and the Baby."
We have received from Messrs. Lee & Walker, 1,113 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, a song and chorus with the above title. Of course every one knows to whom the subject belongs. It is an easy, pretty and singable song, which will be popular and pleasant for awhile or until every boy in the street can whistle it. The words are by George Cooper and the music by J. R. Sweeney. Price 25 cents.

Freshwater Perch, Trout and Black-fish hooks and lines. A full assortment and lowest prices at JACOB'S.

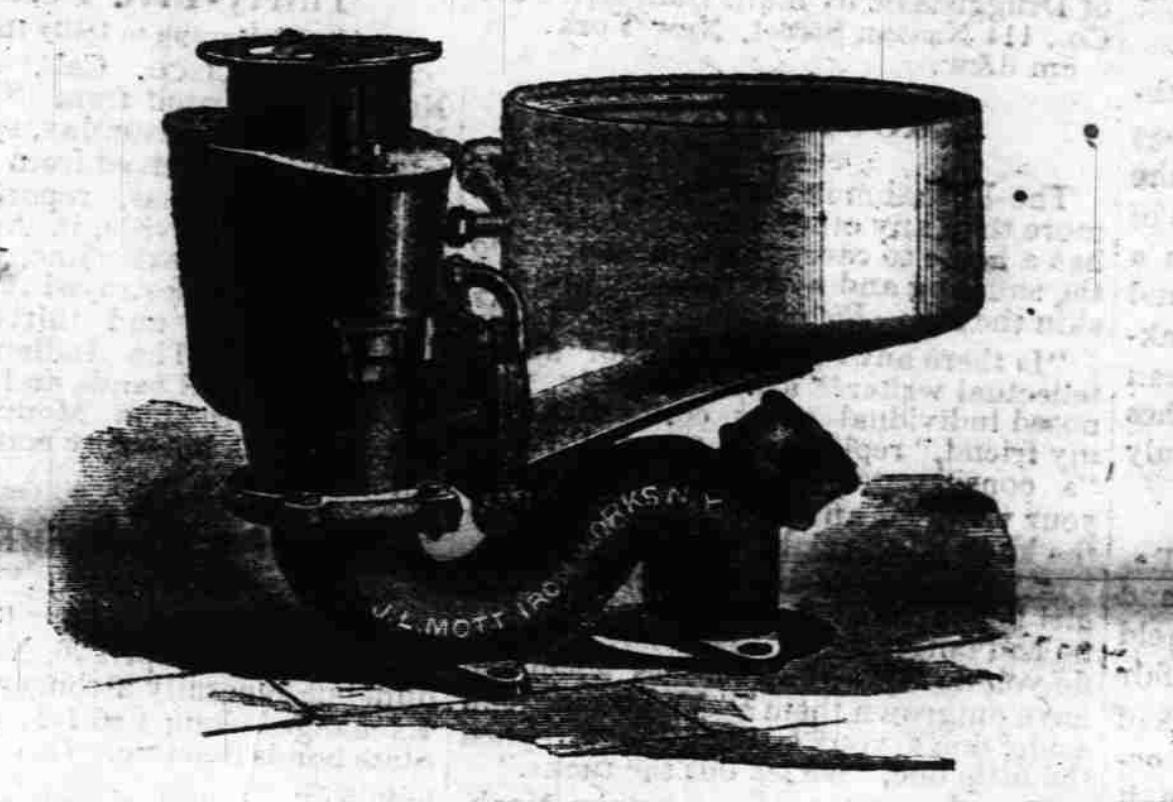

Confirmation.
The rite of confirmation was confirmed with appropriate services at St. Mark's (colored) Episcopal church on Tuesday evening, the 25th inst., Rt. Rev. Bishop Lyman officiating. There were twelve candidates, five of whom were males and seven females. All the Episcopal clergymen, save Rev. Mr. Morrelle, who was detained at home on account of infirmities, were present, and the services were extremely interesting. The house was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the music for the occasion was exceptionally fine.

Wedding Bells.
The beautiful synagogue on the corner of Fourth and Market Sts. was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock, by the many friends of the bride and groom, to witness the marriage ceremony of Mr. J. I. Macks and Miss Adelaide Greenwald. The interior of the building was tastefully dressed with evergreens and the altar was handsomely decorated with flowers. From the upright chandeliers on either side of the altar was an arch, made of red and white roses, from the centre of which was suspended a wedding bell, made of beautiful white flowers, resembling much in shape the wedding bell. Handsome vases and beautiful and delicate flowers were tastefully placed about and on the altar. A few minutes after the appointed hour for the ceremony, the organ burst forth the joyful peals of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and the bridal party entered and marched slowly up the aisle in the following order:
The ushers, Messrs. E. Strouse, Saml. Bear, L. Blumenthal and Jos. B. Aaron; next came the waiters, Miss Louise Rosenthal and Mr. Jacob Greenwald; Miss Jennie Weill and Mr. Isaac Bear; Miss Amelia Macks, Baltimore, and Mr. Fred Franks, of Washington, D.C.; Miss Miriam Greenwald and Mr. Leopold Brunhild; the niece and nephew of the bride, bearing baskets of beautiful flowers; and then the bride and the groom. Arriving in front of the altar the waiters separated, the ladies filing to the right and the gentlemen to the left, thus bringing the first waiters to the side of the contracting couple who stood under the wedding bell. The Rev. Dr. Mendelssohn made a few well timed and appropriate remarks bearing on the solemn contract which was about to be made.
At the conclusion of the reverend gentleman's remarks the impressive marriage ceremony of their religion was read and the blessing of Jehovah invoked. The bride wore diamond ornaments and was handsomely dressed; her dress being made of white satin and damasce on traine, profusely trimmed with white Spanish lace, Marie Antoinette style. The bridesmaids were tastefully and appropriately dressed and the gentlemen wore the regulaton black. The bridal party presented a very handsome appearance as they stood around the altar.
From the Temple the bridal party drove direct to Germania Hall where a reception was held. This was announced for 7 o'clock and soon after the rooms were filled.
The large hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers and at the western end five long tables were spread with a tempting repast for the guests. The bridal couple, with their attendants, took position at the eastern extremity of the hall, under a beautiful floral bell which had been arranged for them, and there received the guests of the evening. At 8 o'clock, to the sounds of some exquisite music rendered by the harpers, the guests, some three hundred in number, took their seats at the long tables.
A delightful collation and a generous flow of sparkling champagne was followed by a short address from Rev. Dr. Mendelssohn, who stated that as the newly-wedded couple would leave on the Southern train there was no time left for speech-making, but, instead, he would read to the company a number of telegrams received by the bride and groom from various parts of the country, from friends who were unable to be present. There were some forty of these in all and from all parts of the country, from Maine to California.
At the conclusion of the reading the bridal couple arose from the table and were followed by all others. The musicians attuned themselves to the exigencies of the moment and the hall was soon alive with an attractive panorama of beautiful, active life. Mr. and Mrs. Macks then left on the Southern train for a visit of a few weeks to Florida and the young folks were left in possession of the hall and the music.
The reception at the hall was an elegant affair in every respect, and was as successful as it was elegant, and the whole-soul hospitality shown by those who were the hosts and managers for the evening, to the guests whom they entertained, will not soon be forgotten. Let us thank, individually, certain gentlemen whose courtesies served to make the occasion a memorable one to us.
It is worth remembering that nobody enjoys the nicest surroundings if in bad health. There are miserable people about to-day with one foot in the grave, when a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic would do them more good than all the doctors and medicines they have ever tried. See adv.

The General Conference.
The Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which is held every four years, will this year be held at Nashville, Tennessee, beginning May 2. The North Carolina Conference is entitled to 12 delegates, 6 clerical and 6 lay. The following are the clerical delegates: Revs. N. H. D. Wilson, Baxter Craven, L. S. Burkhead, W. S. Black, E. A. Yates, H. T. Hudson. The lay delegates are W. M. Robbins, R. T. Gray, N. M. Lawrance, Julian S. Carr, W. C. Doub and Dr. T. M. Jones. The General Conference will be very important, as four or five Bishops are to be chosen. The names of several members of the North Carolina Conference are prominently mentioned in connection with the vacant positions, and it is thought probable that one of them will be chosen. It is likely that several gentlemen in this city will attend.

Only a Few Words.
We will get straight after awhile. There has been an enormous amount of work to be done, invisible to an outsider, but plainly visible to those familiar with the mechanical work of a newspaper. Our force has been weak in point of numbers, although powerful in ability and zeal, and it has also been depleted by sickness. But we will have more help in a few days and we hope in a day or two to complete the organization of the work and be able to do further justice to our many patrons.
We have met with much encouragement on all sides in our venture. Our subscription list increases rapidly, both in town and country, and the signs of a still further very large increase are manifest everywhere. At the present ratio it will not be long, we think, before we can show the very largest circulation ever attained by any daily newspaper published or circulated in North Carolina.

It is hard to surmise what was the object in setting the flat adrift.

Rather Old but Still Good.
That was rather a good one perpetrated by a gentleman in the Auditor's office at the W. & W. depot yesterday afternoon. Some one remarked in his hearing that he sorely missed now the visits of the REVIEW in the afternoon but he replied "yes it is mist at night but it is dew in the morning." Rather old but very good that.

Anniversaries.
Yesterday, April 26th, was the sixty-third anniversary of American Old Fellowship and the ninth anniversary of Orion Lodge of this city. The occasion was duly celebrated last evening in joint meeting by Orion and Cape Fear Lodges with ritualistic ceremonies.
