

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 3, 5 p. m.

The horseshoers of New York are on a strike. They say the iron is hot and that's what's the matter. The bosses sing "shoe fly."

Mr. Cox, of New York, springs to his indignant feet whenever anybody talks about an appropriation for any purpose outside of New York State; he thinks it robbing the Empire to enrich the Republic. Somebody ought to Box that Cox.

The Augusta Chronicle says: "The regular Democrats had no trouble in clearing out the Independent movement in North Carolina. Georgia will do still better." You will do better. We didn't clear out the Independents in North Carolina for the simple reason that there are none here to clear out. They called themselves Independents but they were merely Republicans in disguise. You'll find it pretty much the same way too, in Georgia, we opine.

Among the orators at the junior exhibition at Yale College this year were a nephew of Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, and Mr. Leonard, the son of a New York abolitionist. Mr. Johnston's piece was an eloquent, highly rhetorical and truly Southern defence of his people. Mr. Leonard chose for his subject "William Lloyd Garrison," his oration being a review of the same question from a Northern standpoint and a vindication of the anti-slavery movement.

A RECORD OF HATE.

The pitiful action of the Republicans in the U. S. Senate, on the bill removing the disqualification of ex-Confederates for appointment in the army, will go forth to the world as simply the expression of malignity and hate, and not of patriotism. The war closed seventeen years ago, and yet the men of the South, who acted as men must act who honor their own convictions, are debarred their rights with as much rigor and at the same time with as much injustice, as was accorded the royalists during the Cromwell Protectorate. The people of this country boast of their liberty of thought, their freedom of conscience and the latitude which all men may claim for their own opinions and yet Spain, a monarchy, and a country far behind our own in many essentials to enlightenment, has set an example which the bloody-minded patriots in Congress, who never scented a battle except afar off—very far off—would do well to imitate. At the close of the Carlisle war a full pardon and a free immunity from any of the consequences of their acts, were extended to all those who had supported Don Carlos, who would come in and submit themselves to the established government. In this country, this free, enlightened America, this submission was made seventeen years ago, and yet the sons of the soil, the free-born men who fought for their own, are debarred from the enjoyment of the privileges for which their forefathers fought and perhaps died, in the first great rebellion, when the colonies were wrested from the grasp of the British government. It would be well to bear in mind that David Davis, the man whom Democrats in the South have lauded, and whose name was even mentioned by some of them for the Presidency, voted with the Republicans in this measure.

THE ATTEMPTED BLOW-UP.

The latest startling sensation in New York is the attempt made last Saturday on the lives of W. H. Vanderbilt and Cyrus W. Field, by means of explosive packages, sent through the mails. A meagre account of which has reached our readers through the telegraphic reports. The circumstances of the case, as related to the New York reporters by Postmaster Pearson, are as follows: The New York papers of Sunday bring the particulars of the dastardly attempt made by some miscreants on the lives of William H. Vanderbilt and Cyrus W. Field by sending them explosive packages through the mails. The circumstances of the case, as related by Postmaster Pearson, are as follows: Two missives came into the office about half-past 4 o'clock in the afternoon. One was brought in by a collector a few minutes afterwards. The last one was addressed to William H. Vanderbilt, 459 Fifth Avenue. The first one was addressed to Cyrus W. Field, Lexington Avenue and Thirty-third Street. The packages were placed in a mail bag along with other mail matter for the up-town district, put in a mail wagon and taken to the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad station at the head of Chatham Street and then deposited on the front platform of one of the cars. The train started up-town, and before reaching the station at Ninth Street and Third Avenue an explosion was heard from the mail-bag, and fire and smoke were observed to issue from it. When the train stopped at the station the burning bag was hastily transferred to the platform, as the railroad people were afraid to transfer it any further on the train. It was taken down stairs, placed on a wagon and taken to the postoffice station at Twenty-ninth Street and Third Avenue. Superintendent Mosher, who is in charge there, dispatched a messenger in haste for Postmaster Pearson, and when that official arrived the half-burned mail-bag and contents were examined. The package addressed to Cyrus W. Field was plunged into a bucket of water for fear that it might explode, and when thoroughly soaked it was examined carefully. It was found to consist of a pasteboard box covered with gaudy flowers and pictures, and had a small drawer in it from which depended a string for the purpose of drawing it open and causing the explosion. Inside of the box was found a tin canister containing about half a pound of powder and a glass jar containing a white powder and a liquid believed to be some kind of explosive, but what it was none of the postoffice officials could say. It will be sent to a chemist for analysis. On the packages were ten five cent stamps. It was Mr. Vanderbilt's package which exploded. The contents of the mail bag were pretty well scorched by the explosion. The postoffice officials are making a vigorous effort to trace the packages.

Lieutenant-Commander Gorringer has written a most interesting account of the removal of the Egyptian monolith from Cairo to New York. The obelisk travelled 5,380 miles by sea, 11,520 feet by land, was lowered 39 feet and lifted 230. The entire cost of removal, borne by Mr. Vanderbilt, was $103,732. And this is the strangest part: Lieutenant-Commander Gorringer got exactly $1,156 for his services. It will be remembered that Lieutenant-Commander Gorringer did not get his scientific education from the Government. He was the son of an English clergyman in the West Indies, enlisted in the navy during the war, became a warrant officer, and by sheer capacity and pluck has made his present distinguished place in the American navy.

If it is headache of any kind that troubles you, you need never have another attack. Send $2.50 to Dr. C. W. Benson, Baltimore, Md., and he will send you by return mail 6 boxes of his Celery and Chamomile pills, and they will permanently cure you. Of druggists, 50 cents a box.

MOONSHINE.

A young Oil City lady recently visited New York, and when she returned home related how she stopped at a "palatable hotel and went up and down in a cultivator." Her parents should cultivate her. Like the generality of kings and conquerors, Frederick the Great had a philosophic indifference to the death of others. In one of his battles, a battalion of veterans having taken to their heels, he galloped after them, bawling out, "Why do you run away, you old blackguards! Do you want to live forever?" A lady writer finds fault with the manners of the King of Sweden because his Majesty scratched his royal head with his fork at dinner. Some people are entirely too fastidious. Would the lady have had his Majesty scratch his head with the leg of a chair?—Sumner's Journal.

"Well, now, Joe," said Governor Vance, "do you really believe in this election by God that you speak of?" "Deed, I do, Massa Vance," said the negro seriously, with a shake of the head. "Well, do you think I am elected to be saved?" "Seasily knowed, Massa Vance; but I nubber heard of any one being 'lected that wasn't a canderdate."—Pittsburg Post.

"These printing presses," said a Boston newspaper proprietor to his California visitor whom he was showing about the establishment, "were made in this country by R. Hoe & Co." "Don't say so!" was the astonished reply; "well, the blasted Chinamen haven't got on so far as that with us in Frisco; how long since this Ah Ho & Co have been in the States?"—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

THE INDIANS

Paying the Penalty of Blood—More Sinned Against than Sinning.
[By Telegraph to Daily Review.]
SANTA FE, N. M., May 3.—The following dispatch was received here last night at midnight:
A column of Mexican troops to-day, under command of Col. Garcia, met the Indians of whom Col. Forsyth is in pursuit and killed 78 and took 33 prisoners. The courier bringing in this information arrived on foot, being pushed so hard by the Indians that he had to abandon his horse and barely escaped with his life. He reports about 100 Indians between Deming and Fresnorajans.
