

The Daily Review.

JOSH. T. JAMES, Editor & Prop. WILMINGTON, N. C. Entered at the Postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., as second-class matter. EVENING. FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1882.

A French millionaire, in order to encourage population, has left annual prizes of $1,200, $800 and $600 to the mothers of the largest families in Paris, with preference to the poorest in case of equality.

It is now said that Alex. H. Stephens will not retire from public life at the termination of his present Congressional term, as has been announced, but that he will run, as an independent candidate, for Governor of Georgia.

The death is announced at London, in her ninety-second year, of Miss Lilly, who attended the Queen as nurse at the births of her Majesty's nine children, and was greatly respected and esteemed. The Queen sent a wreath to be placed on her grave in Highgate Cemetery.

That very important adjunct to New York life, the coaching club, has taken its annual trip into the country, and returned without the loss of a man, woman or beast. The New York Herald devotes nearly two columns to the exploits of this set of useless Fitznoodles, and to our mind the reading is as insipid as the men who can find no better way to dispose of their time.

The board of directors of the National Rifle Association of America has issued an appeal to the public for funds with which to successfully carry out the proposed great international military rifle match at Creedmoor, in September 1882, between the national guards of America and the volunteers of Great Britain, and to send an American national guard rifle team to Wimbledon in 1883 for the purpose of a return match.

Mississippi has found her Mahone in the person of Mr. Chalmers, whose claim to a seat in the present Congress was decided adversely a few days since and the seat given to the contestant, Mr. Chalmers has returned to his district (the famous shoeing district) and issued a circular announcing himself an independent candidate for Congress, and inviting the disaffected of either party to rally to his standard. It is reported that Chalmers was in close consultation with Secretary of the Navy Chandler a number of times just previous to his departure from Washington, and the circumstance warrants the impression that the influence of the government will be used in his behalf.

There are many surmises as to what may be Mr. Blaine's course in the future. There is hardly a doubt but he would command almost any position in the gift of Maine, as he is immensely popular in that State. It cannot be expected he will content himself to retire from the political arena, where he has achieved such triumphs and where he has come so near disgraceful defeats. There is that in his composition which finds life and sustenance in the wrangles and perplexities of political affairs, and it is not expected that he will follow in the footsteps of his great enemy, Conkling, who has become now merely a tradition in the political history of the country.

TRIUMPH OF FAITHFUL WOMEN.

Fifty years ago, on the 14th ultimo, says the Macon Telegraph, an order of the Sisters of Charity workers and educators established themselves in the city of Boston, Mass. Though their mission was one of peace, quiet work and good deeds, the animosity of the mob was soon aroused. Many of the elder readers of the papers can recall the fearful accounts of the burning of the convent by night, when the Sisters and the girls under their charge were compelled to fly in the fierce light of their burning home, from the insults and violence of a mob of cowardly and brutal men.

Time has brought one of its revenges. The patient Sisters have had their hour of triumph at last. Boston and New England are no longer controlled by the spirit which murdered Indians, burned witches and persecuted women in the name of religion.

On the night of the 14th ult., five thousand of the better people of Boston attended the reception of the Sisters of Charity in honor of their semi-centennial. Among those who were on the stage, and made speeches on the occasion, were Governor Long and Mayor Green, of Boston.

People of all faiths, all creeds, and all denominations joined in the demonstration, and the fires that brightened the happy scene gave forth only a friendly and cheerful glow. Mr. Webster once told his people that they must learn to conquer their prejudices. They seem to have set about the task, and to have made at least one grand step towards its accomplishment.

The Superintendent of the Reading, Pa., Passenger Railway Co., Mr. John A. Rigg, narrates the following experience: One of our horses was sprained in such a manner as to be useless. We had tried different preparations without any results. The use of St. Jacobs Oil effected a complete cure, and I can recommend it as a truly wonderful compound.

MOONSHINE.

An Italian glass manufacturer is making a great success with ladies' glass bonnets and hats. Thank heaven we will now have something transparent.—Rome Sentinel.

The wife of a United States Senator says that her bill for flowers during the season is $2,000. As a Senator's salary is only $6,000, this leaves the old man very little for whiskey.—Boston Post.

"I'm now going to tell you a true story," said Col. Bragger, "and truth, you know, is always stranger than fiction." "Yes, the kind that you put in your true stories beats fiction blind," marked a bystander.

Disgusting? Yes, it was! The fox hunters had run the fox about out of breath and would undoubtedly have caught him, if a farmer's boy ahead of them in a field, hadn't thrown a rock and slain the fox. And the lad couldn't understand why they were disgusted with him. He thought they chased the fox because they wanted it, and that he was doing them a favor in heading off the beast. But it taught him a lesson to mind his own business, which will do him good hereafter.—Boston Post.

SHORTS.

Wall street is so dull that the members of the Stock Exchange average about $10 per day. The correct pronunciation of the English proper name of the murdered Cavendish is, Candish. The American Tract Society issued during the past year 292,000 volumes; received, $79,221; expended $74,097. When stockings with digits the fashion become, 'Twill put a young lady in dudge, Who puts on her boot and finds that she's put Two toes into one of the digits.

Dispatches to the Times-Democrat from Camden, Ark., on the Ouchita river, report one of the heaviest overflows known to the oldest settlers. The river is forty-five feet above low water mark, and rising at the rate of two inches an hour. Plantations are under water and crops ruined. Stock for several miles east of Camden are drowned, and mills, fences and houses are washed away. All railroad bridges on the Louisiana branch of the Iron Mountains are destroyed. Telegraph wires are down and the town is completely cut off from communication with the world. The losses are very large. The rainfall was the heaviest ever known in that section.

David Davis takes great comfort in reading paragraphs like this: "Balzac was so stout that it was a day's exercise to walk around him; the riot act would not disperse him, and he was encircled with bandages as if a hoghead. Rossini was a veritable Jumbo, since for six years he never saw his knees; ordinarily he was called by the small boys a hippopotamus in pantaloons. Jules Janin, the prince of critics, broke every sofa he sat upon; his chin and his cheeks protruded beyond his beard and his whiskers. Lablache was charged three fares whenever he travelled, and it was in a horse-box elegantly fitted up with all the comforts of home, plus an opening outside, that he voyaged before his death."

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN Station D, New York City. dead wdm.

A Remedy.

Some of our northern Republicans exchanges are bitterly complaining of the scarcity of negro Congressmen. We can tell them how to remedy the deficiency. Let them advise the Republicans in Republican districts in the Northern States to nominate negro candidates for Congress and elect them. There are thousands of negroes in the north only waiting for the chance.—Since the Republican party came into power, with the statement that it lived and breathed for the benefit of the negro, nine of this race have been members of the House and one has been a Senator. This record is damaging enough to Republican professions. If they really liked to see negroes in Congress, they could send fifteen or twenty from northern States to every Congress.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Rescued from Death

William J. Coughlin of Somerville Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of the lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and I was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. William Hall's Balsam for the lungs. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better and to-day I feel better than for three years past. "I write this hoping every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will take William Hall's Balsam, and be convinced that Consumption can be cured. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness.
