The forestry laws of Kansas have been fruitful of permanent results. It is asserted that there have been planted in the State 93,000 acres of trees. About 6,000 acres of these are black walnut, and will make handsome returns in eight or nine years.

The exports of domestic produce from New York during the past week were unusually light, the total being $4,940,319, against $7,059,549 same week last year. The shipment of petroleum, provisions, breadstuffs and cotton were all below the usual average. Since January 1 the total is $158,555,097, against $192,613,986 for the corresponding period of 1881.

The assessed valuations of real estate in New York for 1882 show an increase of $59,349,679, whilst there is a decrease of $10,940,317 in personal estate, making a net increase of $47,529,362. The Board of Estate and Apportionment has authorized the raising of $29,112,831.56 for the support of the city government for 1882. From this sum, however, must be deducted $2,000,000, the estimated amount of revenue of the general fund.

It is now a settled fact that the prohibition amendment to the Iowa constitution has been adopted, and hereafter it shall be a part of the organic law of that State that "no person shall manufacture for sale, sell, or keep for sale as a beverage any intoxicating liquors whatever, including ale, wine and beer." If any citizen of Iowa desires in future to partake of alcoholic stimulants, he will have to order his supplies outside the limits of the commonwealth. Iowa is a Republican State.

We republish to-day the Platform of the Democratic party, as enunciated and unanimously adopted at the recent State Convention at Raleigh. We shall probably keep it standing for a few more days, as it is such an able, patriotic and comprehensive paper that we wish every one to read it. It is, we consider, one of the ablest documents ever put before the people by the Democrats of North Carolina. There is not a plank but is sound to the core, and our two (too too) Liberal friends, in this city might read it with much more profit than pleasure, as it rings the death-knell of their ambitions.

The number of bankruptcies for the first six months of 1882 is given at 3,649. In the first six months of 1881 the number was 3,284, which shows an increase of 365. But when the increase in the number of business operations is taken into consideration, these figures need cause no uneasiness. In the last half of the six months of 1882 there has been a considerable reduction in the number of bankruptcies, as well as in the amount involved. There were 2,146 bankruptcies in the first three months of 1882 and only 1,503 in the last, while the amount of obligations fell from $29,000,000 to $23,000,000 in the same time.

North Carolina secures $250,000 additional for the improvement of its rivers and harbors. Our members have been unusually successful in obtaining government appropriations.—Morning Star.

The natural inference, in reading the above, would be that the entire North Carolina delegation in Congress are to be credited with the additional $250,000 secured for the river and harbor improvements, and yet such would not by any means be the case. There is but one man who has done this thing for North Carolina, and that is Senator Ransom. The additional $250,000 was agreed upon in the Senate Commerce Committee, of which Gen. Ransom is a member, and of which he was Chairman in the preceding Congress, and it is therefore plain that it is to his individual exertions alone that this increased appropriation is due.

THE WAY OF IT.

Mr. Speaker Keifer is undoubtedly a patriot in his own peculiar way, but his way may be a matter of some question among those who are in the least inclined to be captious. In his appointment of the Standing Committees of the House there was a manifestation of his way, which was singular, to say the least. Very captious persons would be apt to say that it was a preconceived plan, and nothing else. For instance: The first three names on the Naval Committee are Benjamin W. Harris, George M. Robeson and Alfred C. Harmer. There is another committee, known as the Committee on Naval Expenditures, and it is the business of this latter to see that the former does not spend too much of the people's money. It is in fact a Board of Audit on the Naval Committee. The first three names on the committee are George M. Robeson, Benjamin W. Harris and Alfred C. Harmer. There you have it. George M. Robeson, Benjamin W. Harris and Alfred C. Harmer are appointed a committee to see to it that Benjamin W. Harris, George M. Robeson and Alfred C. Harmer do not steal the people's money. It must, of course, have been purely accidental that Speaker Keifer should have appointed Robeson, Harris and Harmer to watch Harris, Robeson and Harmer, but it is the fact, nevertheless.

Perhaps this is as it should be. Robeson, Harris and Harmer know so well the utter disregard of Harris, Robeson and Harmer in the expenditure of the public money that they can act as a very efficient and effective check and prevent any extravagance and waste, while Harris, Robeson and Harmer, knowing that the Argus eyes of Robeson, Harris and Harmer are upon them will hardly dare to be too lavish with the people's money.

Another singular feature about this "grand combination safeguard," is that Robeson is Chairman of the sub-committee on Naval Appropriations. And still another is, that some years ago, when the last-named gentleman was Secretary of the Navy, a committee of the House investigated his department, and a majority report of that committee severely denounced his method of conducting our National affairs, and even hinted that it was altogether too nautical to be honest. A minority report, however, was made, which made him a regular "honest old tar," who had reflected honor upon himself and the country by his manner of conducting the affairs of the navy. This minority report was signed by Benjamin W. Harris and Alfred C. Harmer.

It is fair to presume that Speaker Keifer knew nothing of all these facts; or, knowing them, had allowed them to slip from his memory. Yet there are some who will contend that Robeson, who made a Speaker of Keifer in order to subserve his own interests, also made the committees for the same purpose, and that Keifer was only too willing, in consideration of his personal advancement, and for other reasons, to do as Robeson & Co. dictated.

The News and Observer, commenting on the Democratic State Convention which was in session in that city last week, says:

The convention, so to speak, has left a good taste in the mouths of the delegates and others who were in attendance. It had a most capital flavor. It cheered if it did not inebriate. Seriously it was the best convention we have ever known. All was harmony, kind feeling, pleasure. There was not a jar. The commingling of the delegates from the various parts of the State and the consequent interchange of views resulted in inspiring the utmost confidence and imparting to us all a realization of the actual strength of the Democratic party in North Carolina. Whatever anxiety was felt by some of the more cautious delegates who had heard "rumors of war," and all that, from other sections than their own, was dispelled and the assurance that there was no chance of any falling off in our customary majority caused a good feeling all around. On comparing notes we ascertained that there would be healthy gains in all sections, except, alone, in the middle Piedmont section of the Mott district. In that locality, we must expect, unless the Democrats work with unusual vigor, there will be a small falling off. But if our people shall exert themselves they can whip Dr. Mott and his coadjutors out, cure the supposed defection, and roll up our usual majorities.

A clergyman who had just married a couple felt indignant when the bridegroom gave him a fee of only half a dollar, smiled grimly, and said: "Never mind. You'll have to pay a lawyer $100 for undoing what I have done."

Ladies and sickly girls requiring a non-alcoholic, gentle stimulant, will find Brown's Iron Bitters beneficial.

PERSONAL.

Capt. J. B. Eads is in Paris. Wilkie Collins is writing another novel. Ex-Senator Roscoe Conkling is announced to speak at the Minnesota State fair in September.

Millias's head of the little Princess Marie, Duchess of Edinburgh's child, is thought to be the loveliest contribution to the English Royal Academy this year. On one of his late birthdays Isaac Holden, of the British House of Commons, who, since he was seventy, has built himself a palace costing $500,000, gave a feast, on which occasion each of his daughters found a check for a quarter of a million dollars under her napkin.

A Colorado constable had a warrant for the arrest of a circus man for an alleged assault, but the circus man took himself to the lion's cage, and safely ensconced therein taunted the constable and invited him in. The constable withdrew with the warrant unexecuted.

The Auditor of the Treasury for the Post Office Department has compiled his adjustment of the accounts of postmaster for the quarter ending March 31, 1882. The sales of stamps, stamped envelopes, and postal cards for the quarter amounted to $10,487,329.44. This amount represents an increase of $350,878.08 over those of the quarter ended December 31, 1882, and of $1,434,368.83 (or 15.81 per cent.) over the sales for the quarter ended March 31, 1881.

Were Mr. George Brinkley still alive, and contemplating the ultimate sale at auction of his matchless collection of rare American books, a recent item in the English papers would interest him keenly. What is known as the "Indian Primer and Milk for Babies," a tiny volume published in Boston by Mr. B. Green in 1720, has been sold at a well-known auction-room for $250.

Lieutenant Charles W. Chipp, who was lost in the Jeanette's second cruise, was one of the officers who took a gallant part in the assault and capture of the Korean pirate forts in Northern China in 1871. He was second in command of the party under Lieutenant Hugh W. McKee, and when the latter was killed on the parapet Lieutenant Chipp carried the works over McKee's dead body.

A fashion item says: To be in style "young ladies should wear nothing but coral car-drops." This airy costume might answer down East or even at Laramie; but our cool bracing climate will demand a little more. The dear girls would catch their death of cold in such a light costume.

Two haggard shades, in robes of mist. For long years than each can tell. Joined by a yarn grey, wrist with wrist. Have roamed the courts of hell. Their blank eyes know each other not; Their cold hearts hate this union drear— Yet one poor ghost was Lancelot And one was Guinevere!

FOREIGN NEWS.

(By Cable to Daily Review.) LONDON, July 8—Night.—A dispatch to the Times from Paris, says a formal invitation of the powers to the Porte, asking it to intervene in Egypt, will be delivered on Monday, and a reply is asked for by Wednesday. If the Porte refuses or seems afraid to accept, 25,000 men, with 10,000 in reserve, will be concentrated by the intervening powers. The army will land at Aboukir, and will be divided into two parts. One will march on Alexandria and be supported by the fleet, which will open fire as soon as the army is landed, and the other portion will cross the dry lake of Aboukir to Kafé Deyver, and seize the railway at Damaahaur, Arabi Pacha's only means of retreat, and will thus force him either to fight or yield.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Oh, My Back!

That's a common expression and has a world of meaning. How much suffering is summed up in it.

The singular thing about it, that pain in the back is occasioned by so many things. May be caused by kidney disease, liver complaint, consumption, cold, rheumatism, dyspepsia, overwork, nervous debility, &c.

Whatever the cause, don't neglect it. Something is wrong and needs prompt attention. No medicine has yet been discovered that will so quickly and surely cure such diseases as BROWN'S IRON BITTERS, and it does this by commencing at the foundation, and making the blood pure and rich.

Logansport, Ind. Dec. 1, 1880. For a long time I have been a sufferer from stomach and kidney disease. My appetite was very poor and the very small amount I did eat disagreed with me. I was annoyed very much from non-retention of urine. I tried many remedies with no success, until I used Brown's Iron Bitters. Since I used my stomach does not bother me any. My appetite is simply immense. My kidney trouble is no more, and my general health is such, that I feel like a new man. After the use of Brown's Iron Bitters for one month, I have gained twenty pounds in weight. O. B. SARGENT.

Leading physicians and clergymen use and recommend BROWN'S IRON BITTERS. It has cured others suffering as you are, and it will cure you.
